U.S. Virtually Bans Trade With Czechs

Concessions Are Cancelled By President

"Squeeze" Put On Communist Nation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The government today virtually suspended trade between the United States and Communist Czechoslovakia.

The Treasury and State Departments invoked technicalities which experts predicted would block about 90 per cent of Czech imports to this country.

This was the latest in a series of steps whittling down commercial relations between the two countries as political differences increased.

Export controls already have cut American exports to Czechoslovakia below 20 per cent of normal—to less than $100,000 monthly.

Today's move will cost the Prague government about $2,160,000 a month of the dollars it has been trying to earn through foreign trade.

The State Department announced it would suspend the granting of required invoices for Czech imports. The Treasury said it would tighten its vigilance to prevent the entry of Czech goods without the invoices.

Oatis Case Not Mentioned

In announcing this move, neither department mentioned the case of William N. Oatis, imprisoned Associated Press correspondent.

But his conviction on what the State Department has called trumped up espionage charges has climaxed deteriorating Washington-Prague relations. Congress demanded suspension of all trade in a resolution. President Truman said Oatis' release would be a good way of starting to improve relations.

Earlier today Mr. Truman ordered the cancellation on Nov. 1 of all trade concessions granted to Czechoslavakia. This followed a congressional directive to eliminate special tariff rates and other privileges for all Communist areas.

This has been done for Bulgaria, Romania and 13 other Red-controlled states. Notice of impending cancellation has gone to Russia, Poland and Hungary.

In Czechoslovakia's case, the suspension of trade concessions would be secondary to the new State-Treasury move. But it would mean higher prices for the 10 per cent or so of Czech imports not affected by invoice restrictions.

How "Squeeze" Will Work

Here's how the State-Treasury "squeeze" will work:

Czech goods shipped to the United States need certified invoices from the U. S. Embassy at Prague. This is normally a routine step.

Even when an invoice is not available, officials said, the practice has been to permit importation of the goods into the U. S. when importers explain they were unable to secure the necessary papers for practical reasons. This has been done in cases where there is no attempt at fraud, upon payment of a $10 penalty fee.

But today the State Department said that issuance of the invoices

Conferees Open Talks On New Tax Measures

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—House and Senate conferees held their first exploratory talks today on the new tax bill but reached no decisions.

They ended the session still $1,800,000,000 apart on the amount of new taxes to be levied, and widely divided on just how to get the money.

Members reported they "barely got into" the first sections of the bill which deal with proposed individual income tax increases.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee was elected chairman of the conference.

Six Sailors Killed During Destroyer Gunnery Practice

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Six Navy men were killed and 15 were injured in antiaircraft gun firing in Cuba yesterday, the Navy announced today.

The accident occurred aboard the destroyer Gatling in exercises in Guantanamo Bay.

A Navy announcement said the Gatling was conducting firing practice when a shell from one five-inch gun hit the barrel of another. Shell fragments caused the deaths and injuries. An investigation is underway, the Navy added. All next of kin of the dead and injured have been notified.

Loyalty Board's Chairman Says Jessup Cleared

Denies Statement By Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — Chairman Hiram Bingham of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board disclosed tonight that the board has found "no reasonable doubt" as to the loyalty of Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup.

At the same time, however, he denied a statement by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that Bingham had told him that if the loyalty board had had the authority "to turn him (Jessup) down as a bad security risk, it would have done so."

The developments came as McCarthy completed day-long testimony challenging President Truman's nomination of Jessup as a delegate to the United Nations.

McCarthy Hurls Charges

Among other things, McCarthy charged that Jessup once "hired Communist writers, accepted Communist money and followed the Communist line."

The State Department's loyalty board ruled some time ago that it found no reasonable doubt of Jessup's loyalty. A government employe can be suspended or fired in cases where reasonable doubt is found.

The State Department's panel sent its findings in the Jessup case on to Bingham's review board for further study.

At the close of today's session, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) put into the record a letter from Bingham dated Sept. 28. Addressed to Sparkman, it said:

Jessup To Testify

"With reference to your letter of September 24 requesting information as to the status of Philip C. Jessup, a panel of the loyalty review board has now put its seal of approval on the action of the loyalty board of the State Department in finding that there is no reasonable doubt of his loyalty."

McCarthy said he had tried to reach Bingham to get permission to quote Bingham as saying the review board would have ruled Jessup a "bad security risk" if it had the power to do so.

Jessup is scheduled to take the witness chair tomorrow morning to reply to McCarthy. He said he will "make a full answer" to all of McCarthy's charges.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2 (AP) — A daughter was born today to Tyrone Power and his beautous wife, Linda Christian.

Conferees Cut Special Fund For Air Power

Agree On Defense Bill Of $57 Billion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee agreed tonight on a $57,200,000,000 defense money bill after cutting a special $5,000,000,000 emergency fund for air power to $1,000,000,000.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), who won Senate approval of the extra $5,000,000,000 for air power, told reporters Senate spokesmen agreed to the slash because top defense leaders had failed to provide detailed plans for the expanded air power.

Rep. Mahon (D-Tex), leader of House conferees, said the $1,000,000,000 would provide ample funds for expanding air power between now and January when Congress again will be in session.

One matter still was in dispute as the conferees worked extra hours tonight to reach a compromise on all other matters.

Vets' Release Still Issue

This was a House-passed directive calling for release of all veterans with one year's World War II service who had been called back to duty involuntarily since the Korean war started and had served 12 months.

The Senate, on strong pleas from the Pentagon, knocked out this House directive and House conferees agreed to seek a separate vote there on the issue.

O'Mahoney assured a reporter that funds for developing and production of the "fantastic new weapons" that President Truman and congressmen have been talking about "are still in the bill."

As it passed the House the bill carried a little more than $56,000,000,000. The Senate Appropriations Committee upped this to more than $61,000,000,000 but the Senate cut it back to about $59,500,000,000.

The compromise is about $1,200,000,000 above the House total and about $3,300,000,000 below the Senate total.

Other Actions By Conferees

Other actions by the conferees:

Modified a House provision that attempted to halt retired pay for all military personnel who voluntarily retired before serving periods required by law. This would have applied to both commissioned officers and enlisted men and the Senate knocked it out. The conference limited it to commissioned officers and allowed civilian heads of the Army, Navy and Air Force to grand exemption for hardship

Byrnes Predicts Southern Revolt If Truman Runs

GATLINBURG, Tenn., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina said today any southern revolt in the presidential election next year will depend on who is nominated by the Democrats in their national convention next July.

He said flatly he will oppose President Truman if he seeks another term. He called on Democrats to nominate either Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia or Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia.

Byrnes gave his views to a news conference during a break in the 43rd annual governors' conference here in which political talk has overshadowed discussions of state problems.

They were particularly significant because Byrnes has been mentioned as the possible leader of an independent southern movement in case Truman again wins the Democratic nomination.

Byrnes is reported to be quietly sounding out sentiment among other southern governors as to the possibility of united southern action next year.

His conference came after the nation's governors had a stormy session with Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing in which both Republicans and Democrats displayed angry impatience with some of the Federal controls in the public welfare field.

With Byrnes taking a leading role, the governors voted unanimous approval of a move to give states the power and authority to publish lists of relief rolls without having their Federal grants withdrawn.

Federal law now imposes secrecy on these relief lists. The Senate has voted to lift the ban but the measure still is pending in the House.

Senate Passes $7,483,400,000 Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Senate today approved a vast one-year outlay of $7,483,400,000 in foreign military and economic aid, raising its earlier figure by $197,150,000.

The vote was 56 to 21.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the money will meet the needs of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in building up a European defense force to guard against Soviet aggression.

The administration, through Secretary of State Acheson, has served notice that the money is only the first installment of a three-year program estimated to cost American taxpayers around $25,000,000,000.

The bill gives the White House the final authority to coordinate the program and to allocate funds to beneficiary countries.

The measure abolishes the Economic Cooperation Administration and sets up a new mutual security agency. Its $22,500-a-year director, under the President, would have full power to settle disputes arising between various agencies handling the money.

The Defense Department would determine military needs of beneficiary countries, and the State Department would administer the program for aid to underdeveloped areas.

The White House control and divided administration were put in as a response to Republican complaints that the State Department was attempting to hold sway over the military on the arms phases of the program.

Thirty-seven Democrats and 19 Republicans voted for the bill on final passage. Three Democrats and 18 Republicans voted no.

As the next step, the House is expected to act on the bill tomorrow. Then it goes to the White House for President Truman's signature.

Blonde, 20, Denied Frozen Suckers, Divorces Mate, 72

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 2 (AP)—A 20-year-old blonde who sued her 72-year-old husband for divorce because he cut off her supply of frozen suckers got her divorce today.

And the $400 alimony she was awarded by a judge isn't going for more frozen suckers.

Part of it, Geneva Mae Pollum said, will buy clippings of stories of her divorce trial printed in newspapers throughout the country.

"I'll buy some clothes with whatever I have left after buying a scrap book and the clippings," Geneva added.

Regional Armies For U. N. Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—A suggestion was formally advanced today that regional defense forces, such as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European Army, should be called upon to fight under a U. N. banner in case of an attack.

The suggestion came from a subcommittee of the General Assembly's Collective Measures Committee, which has been studying the whole field of political, economic and military measures that might be used against a future aggressor.

The Eisenhower army is being organized under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, whose members decided it was necessary to build a regional defense force after an East-West deadlock prevented the formation of a permanent U. N. Army.

So far this is the only regional military force of this type.

7 Killed As Ships Collide

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 2 (AP) — Two British navy seamen were killed and five others are missing and presumed lost in a collision of the destroyer Grenville and the Italian freighter Alceo in a fog off the coast last night.

Military Chiefs Agree On Big Air Force Expansion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) informed the Senate today that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have agreed to increase American air power by about 50 per cent.

He said the military leaders already have issued orders to expand the air force "from 95 to about 140 groups," and to devote much of the expansion to tactical air power, which is used in support of ground troops. "The exact figure is a secret, but I believe this to be the general ration," Lodge said.

The Massachusetts senator, a long-time advocate of increased air power, reported "this great increment in American strength" will probably be completed in 1954.

Proportional Theory Discarded

Lodge also told the Senate that the joint chiefs, commanders of the Army, Navy and Air Force, have approved the activation of three more divisions for the Army and one more division for the Marine Corps—"all of which I have long believed were badly needed."

He said the joint chiefs had discarded "the old idea that no single service could be increased without increasing the others in proportion." The proportional theory, he added, always seemed to him to be "an artificial and rather wooden idea."

A Tactical Air Command was created only last month in the Air Force reorganization program. Lodge said he thought the increased emphasis on air support for ground troops would remedy "one of our gravest weaknesses."

Air Force Has 87 Wings

Currently the Air Force is at a strength of 87 wings and is building toward 95.

(The term "wing" is now used generally by the Air Force in preference to "group." A wing is one group of aircraft and air crews with all its extra personnel and equipment for support and maintenance of the group in action. In warplanes, a wing ranges from 30 heavy bombers to 75 fighters. A fighter wing may have as many as 2,700 men.)

UMW Welfare Fund Reports Big Balance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) —The United Mine Workers welfare fund today reported a balance of almost one hundred million dollars after distributing more than a quarter billion dollars to miners and their families since 1946.

The fund's trustees released an audit as of the end of the fiscal year June 30—just five years after the first contract calling for a welfare royalty on each ton of coal.

At first the royalty was five cents a ton, under terms of the agreement between the UMW chief, John L. Lewis, and then Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, ending the long strike of 1946. The amount was boosted to ten cents when the government-operated mines were returned to private owners in July 1947, to 20 cents in 1948 and 30 cents in 1950.

Downcast British Oilmen Prepare To Surrender Abadan To Iranians

ABADAN, Iran, Oct. 2 (AP)—Downcast British oilmen made their last preparations tonight to take their leave and surrender to the Iranians a vast oil empire built up through half a century.

The evacuation, beginning at 9 a. m. tomorrow (12:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time), is a black day for the British who are ending the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's lucrative development of one of the richest oil areas on the globe.

It is a triumph for those Iranians who had worked for this day since last March, when Iran nationalized the nation's tremendous oil resources. But it could prove a hollow triumph, and worse than defeat, if these Iranians are unable to operate their own industry.

The fellings of the British were expressed by Refinery Boss K. B. Ross, who has been here 18 years.

"I'm leaving a life's work behind," he said. "There is a lot of British in this place."

He expressed the hope that eventually there would be some agreement "so we can came back." I know if we come back it can't be on the same footing, but Iran and Britain can cooperate to run this place," he said.

Iranians can't quite believe that their dreams of kicking the British out are being realized. They credit President Truman with easing tension by his advice to the British not to use force.

Iranian sources said there were about 12,000 troops around Abadan who would have resisted any British landing attempt.

Robinson Paces Brooklyn To 10-0 Win Over Giants

Newcombe To Face Sal Maglie In Finale

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (INS)—Like a punchy heavyweight coming off the canvas and connecting with a series of haymakers, the Dodgers today blasted the Giants 10-0, making necessary a rubber game in the slightly hysterical playoff for the National League pennant.

The Dodgers today bore little resemblance to the beat-up and dispirited gang which blew a 13½ game lead in the final weeks of the pennant race and barely survived to win a place in the playoff to find a team to meet the champion New York Yankees beginning Thursday.

The men of Charles Dressen, brilliantly paced by Jackie Robinson, belted four home runs, made quick capital out of the Giants' five errors, and were wonderfully benefited by a surprisingly fine six-hit pitching job turned in by young Clem Labine.

Giants Stranded

Labine, pitching with a courage and confidence in sharp contrast to his brief acquaintanceship with major league ball, stranded 11 Giants—eight of them in the first four innings. When a gun had to be silenced, he silenced it with a hook like the big dipper.

So the whole season's play and the desperate appendage all comes down to tomorrow's momentous contest at the Polo Grounds, when Don Newcombe, the massive negro righthander who won 20 for his team this year, does battle with Sal Maglie, rough-hewn Giant who won 23.

Giants Overconfident

The Giants were overconfident and, when that was knocked out of them, jittery. Their bumbling in the field was slightly traceable to the sopping the field received during a shower that caused a 41-minute delay in the sixth inning. But it was bumbling nevertheless, and the club never looked like the inspired collection which had won 38 out of 45, including eight straight and seven out of eight over the Dodgers until today.

The big one tomorrow pits two throwers who have had their respective opposition eating out of their large damp paws this season. Newcombe has won five and lost two, when confronted by Giants. Maglie's record against Brooklyn is five and one.

Bureau Of Mines Director Resigns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—President Truman has announced the resignation of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

Kennecott Copper Corp. announced yesterday in New York that Boyd would join its executive staff. His resignation will take effect Oct. 16.

The White House later made public an exchange of letters in which Boyd said he was leaving his post with "deep regret" to return to private life.

Mr. Truman told Boyd in the letter made public today:

"I appreciate the contribution which you have made during a decade of service, both in the Army and in the Department of the Interior."

Boyd's original appointment as Bureau of Mines director was fought unsuccessfully by John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers.

Import Of Big Attack Veiled In Censorship

Bombardment One Of War's Heaviest

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Wednesday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Massed Allied artillery last night began one of the biggest bombardments of the Korean war against hill-entrenched Reds less than 15 miles away from the site of the suspended truce talks in Western Korea.

The import of the barrage by several hundred guns, and what it possibly presaged, was veiled in censorship.

Shells began pounding Reds on hills and ridgelines from Korangpo northeastward. (The remainder of the sentence pinpointing the attack was censored.)

Korangpo is 28 miles northwest of Seoul, a mile south of parallel 38 and 12 miles almost due east of Kaesong, site of the suspended Korean truce talks.

Attack Follows U. N. Warning

The attack in the vital western sector came at a time when the Allies had served warning on the Reds that if they wanted war instead of armistice, the Eighth Army was prepared to give it in good measure.

The shells of the massed guns fell on the Reds last night at a time the Chinese and North Korean Reds usually begin their night probes and counterattacks.

Hour on hour, the guns roared on, stabbing the inky darkness with bright blasts.

On the opposite end of the war front, in Eastern Korea, the Allies suffered a jolting reverse. South Korean troops who had spent three bloody weeks attacking a key height were driven off of it Tuesday, only a day after finally capturing it.

The peak was lost northwest of "Heartbreak Ridge." It was one of the highest in the area.

Six MIGs Shot Down

In the air, U. S. Sabre jets shot down six Russian-type MIGs Tuesday, the Fifth Air Force reported.

Tying the record for enemy jets destroyed in a single day, Fifth Air Force pilots also probably destroyed one MIG and damaged another in two furious engagements. The Air Force said all Allied planes returned to bases.

The two dog fights involved 193 planes.

On the ground, fiercely resisting Chinese Communists again stalled an Allied ridgeline drive in Western Korea. Red mortars and artillery shells fell for more than four hours on U. N. positions at the rate of 100 shells an hour.

Reds Hint At Refusal To Move Truce Talks

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Efforts to end the Korean war by negotiation hung in delicate balance today.

The Communist radio hinted the Reds would refuse to agree to the Allied proposal to move the talks to neutral ground.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, talked confidently of the Allies fighting the

Curley Withdraws From Boston Race

BOSTON, Oct. 2 (INS)—Former Mayor James M. Curley tonight announced he was withdrawing from Boston's mayoralty race and leaving the way clear for the reelection of Incumbent John B. Hynes.

The 70-odd year old veteran political figure, who has suffered from diabetes for the past several years, made known his decision at his Jamaica Plain home.

The decision must have been sudden because Curley, after winning nomination on Sept. 25, announced he intended to wage a bitter fight against Hynes for the mayor's post.

Waves Created In Bathtub "Wash Away" Extra Pounds

PARIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—French beauticians say they have a new, quick method of reducing — by seabathing in the bathtub.

The sea-bath, with motor-driven waves at the rate of two per second to beat off extra pounds painlessly, was a star attraction today at the opening of the salon of woman and beauty at the Palais du Glace, sponsored by Paris hairdressers.

All the ladies' deepest beauty secrets were out, as an audience, at least half male, crowded round stalls exhibiting bust developers, rubber massage rollers, chicken-embryo preparations to remove wrinkles, and the basic elements of powder, rouge and lipstick.

Less grim were feminine frivolities displayed in other stands. A stall featuring disembodied hands wearing luminous nail polish was beside a stand in which disembodied legs revolved, wearing jewel-studded and velvet-embroidered nylons.

The sea bath has French medical approval and is said to "wash away" as much as 35 pounds in a few weeks of 20-minute daily baths. It is a tank which fits into a bathtub, and makes nearly as much noise as genuine surf.

Third New Kensington, Pa., Banker Arrested By FBI

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Oct. 2 (AP)—FBI agents arrested a third banker in this small Western Pennsylvania community on a charge of embezzlement.

The arrest is the second at the First National Bank of New Kensington and the seventh in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia within a year. It brings the total bank defalcations to nearly $3,000,000.

Latest to be arrested is Otto R. Grotefend, 51-year-old teller at the First National Bank of New Kensington.

He is charged with embezzling $16,000 from the bank.

Special FBI Agent Fred Hallford, in charge of the Pittsburgh office, said the arrest is an outgrowth of the investigation of the alleged embezzlement of $550,000 by William P. Smeltzer, an assistant cashier at the bank.

Hallford said Grotefend signed a statement accepting full responsibility for the shortage. Grotefend, the FBI said, used the bank funds to play slot machines.

The FBI agent quoted Grotefend as saying the shortage is in no way connected with the defalcation charge against Smeltzer.

Conferees Cut Special Fund For Air Power

Agree On Defense Bill Of $57 Billion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee agreed tonight on a $57,200,000,000 defense money bill after cutting a special $5,000,000,000 emergency fund for air power to $1,000,000,000.

One matter still was in dispute as the conferees worked extra hours tonight to reach a compromise on all other matters.

Vets' Release Still Issue

This was a House-passed directive calling for release of all veterans with one year's World War II service who had been called back to duty involuntarily since the Korean war, started and had served 12 months.

The Senate, on strong pleas from the Pentagon, knocked out this House directive and House conferees agreed to seek a separate vote there on the issue.

O'Mahoney assured a reporter that funds for developing and production of the "fantastic new weapons" that President Truman and congressmen have been talking about "are still in the bill."

As it passed the House the bill carried a little more than $56,000,000,000. The Senate Appropriations Committee upped this to more than $61,000,000,000 but the Senate cut it back to about $59,500,000,000.

The compromise is about $1,200,000,000 above the House total and about $3,300,000,000 below the Senate total.

Other Actions By Conferees

Other actions by the conferees:

Modified a House provision that attempted to halt retired pay for all military personnel who voluntarily retired before serving periods required by law. This would have applied to both commissioned officers and enlisted men and the Senate knocked it out. The conference limited it to commissioned officers and allowed civilian heads of the Army, Navy and Air Force to grand exemption for hardship

Byrnes Predicts Southern Revolt If Truman Runs

GATLINBURG, Tenn., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina said today any southern revolt in the presidential election next year will depend on who is nominated by the Democrats in their national convention next July.

He said flatly he will oppose President Truman if he seeks another term. He called on Democrats to nominate either Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia or Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia.

Byrnes gave his views to a news conference during a break in the 43rd annual governors' conference here in which political talk has overshadowed discussions of state problems.

They were particularly significant because Byrnes has been mentioned as the possible leader of an independent southern movement in case Truman again wins the Democratic nomination.

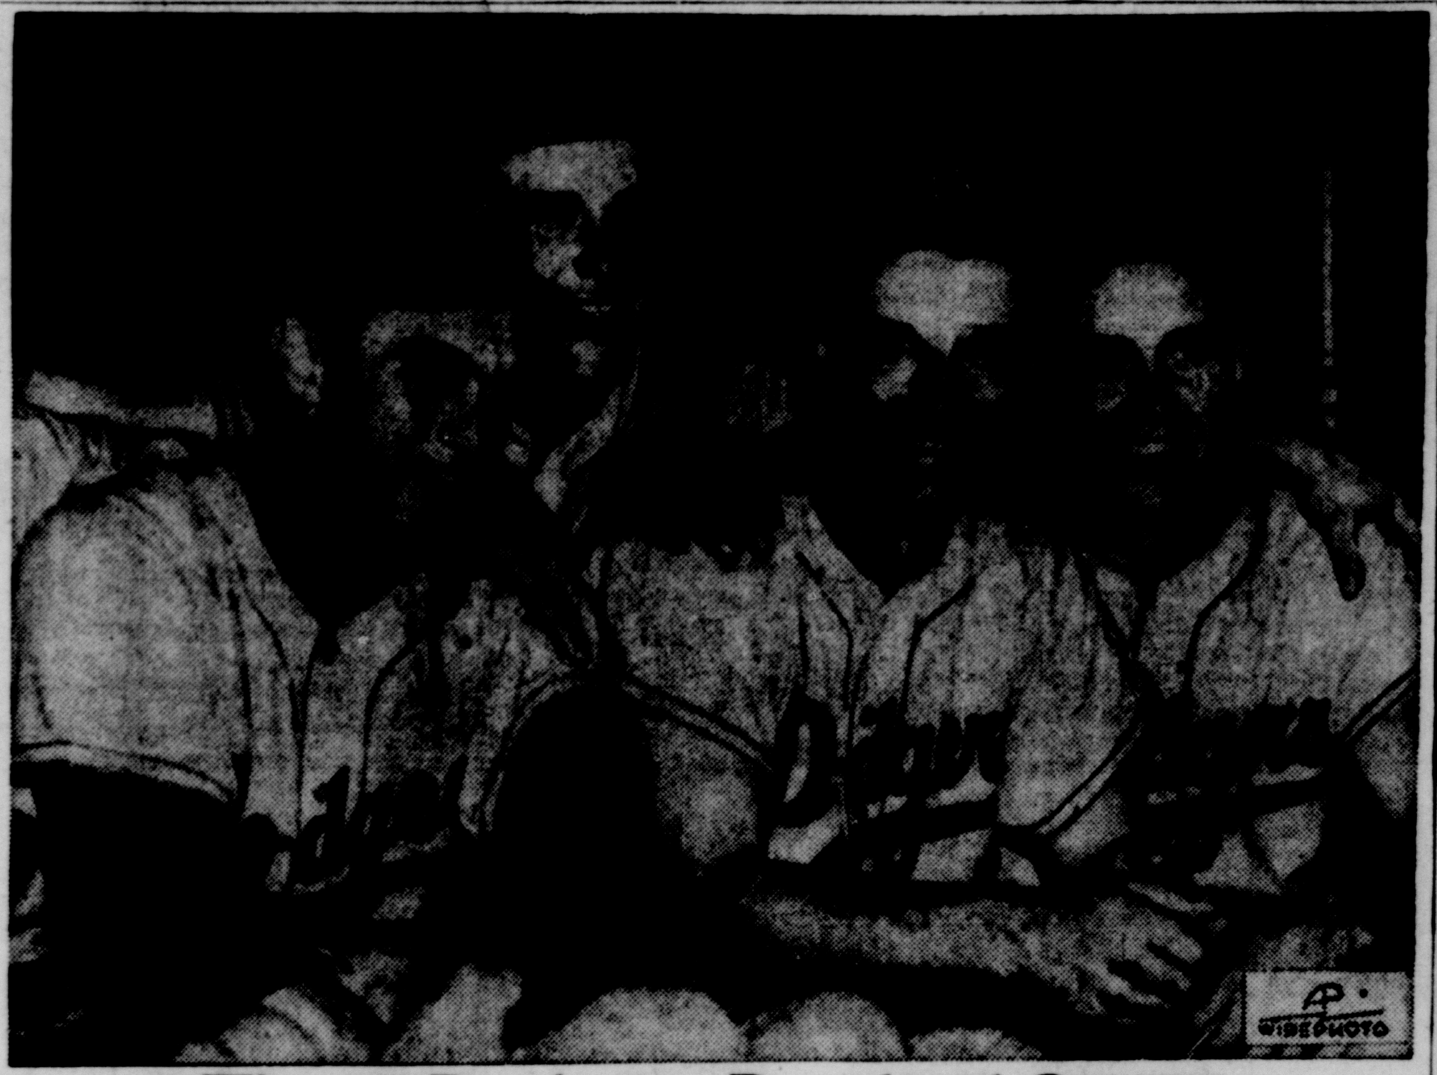
Byrnes is reported to be quietly sounding out sentiment among other southern governors as to the possibility of united southern action next year.

His conference came after the nation's governors had a stormy session with Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing in which both Republicans and Democrats displayed angry impatience with some of the Federal controls in the public welfare field.

With Byrnes taking a leading role, the governors voted unanimous approval of a move to give states the power and authority to publish lists of relief rolls without having their Federal grants withdrawn.

Federal law now imposes secrecy on these relief lists. The Senate has voted to lift the ban but the measure still is pending in the House.

Dodgers Square N. L. Playoff



These Dodgers Bombed Giants

Heroes of the Brooklyn Dodgers' victory yesterday over the New York Giants display big grins following the Flatbushers' 10-0 triumph, which evened the National League playoff series at a game apiece. At left is Clem Labine, who pitched six-hit ball. Other happy Dodgers are Rube Walker (rear), Andy Pafko and Gil Hodges (right), all of whom homered. The teams meet in the rubber game today.

Senate Passes $7,483,400,000 Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Senate today approved a vast one-year outlay of $7,483,400,000 in foreign military and economic aid, raising its earlier figure by $197,150,000.

The vote was 56 to 21.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the money will meet the needs of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in building up a European defense force to guard against Soviet aggression.

The administration, through Secretary of State Acheson, has served notice that the money is only the first installment of a three-year program estimated to cost American taxpayers around $25,000,000,000.

The bill gives the White House the final authority to coordinate the program and to allocate funds to beneficiary countries.

The measure abolishes the Economic Cooperation Administration and sets up a new mutual security agency. Its $22,500-a-year director, under the President, would have full power to settle disputes arising between various agencies handling the money.

The Defense Department would determine military needs of beneficiary countries, and the State Department would administer the program for aid to underdeveloped areas.

The White House control and divided administration were put in as a response to Republican complaints that the State Department was attempting to hold sway over the military on the arms phases of the program.

Thirty-seven Democrats and 19 Republicans voted for the bill on final passage. Three Democrats and 18 Republicans voted no.

As the next step, the House is expected to act on the bill tomorrow. Then it goes to the White House for President Truman's signature.

Blonde, 20, Denied Frozen Suckers, Divorces Mate, 72

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 2 (AP)—A 20-year-old blonde who sued her 72-year-old husband for divorce because he cut off her supply of frozen suckers got her divorce today.

And the $400 alimony she was awarded by a judge isn't going for more frozen suckers.

Part of it, Geneva Mae Pollum said, will buy clippings of stories of her divorce trial printed in newspapers throughout the country.

"I'll buy some clothes with whatever I have left after buying a scrap book and the clippings," Geneva added.

Regional Armies For U. N. Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—A suggestion was formally advanced today that regional defense forces, such as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European Army, should be called upon to fight under a U. N. banner in case of an attack.

The suggestion came from a subcommittee of the General Assembly's Collective Measures Committee, which has been studying the whole field of political, economic and military measures that might be used against a future aggressor.

The Eisenhower army is being organized under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, whose members decided it was necessary to build a regional defense force after an East-West deadlock prevented the formation of a permanent U. N. Army.

So far this is the only regional military force of this type.

7 Killed As Ships Collide

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 2 (AP) — Two British navy seamen were killed and five others are missing and presumed lost in a collision of the destroyer Grenville and the Italian freighter Alceo in a fog off the coast last night.

Military Chiefs Agree On Big Air Force Expansion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) informed the Senate today that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have agreed to increase American air power by about 50 per cent.

He said the military leaders already have issued orders to expand the air force "from 95 to about 140 groups," and to devote much of the expansion to tactical air power, which is used in support of ground troops. "The exact figure is a secret, but I believe this to be the general ration," Lodge said.

The Massachusetts senator, a long-time advocate of increased air power, reported "this great increment in American strength" will probably be completed in 1954.

Proportional Theory Discarded

Lodge also told the Senate that the joint chiefs, commanders of the Army, Navy and Air Force, have approved the activation of three more divisions for the Army and one more division for the Marine Corps—"all of which I have long believed were badly needed."

He said the joint chiefs had discarded "the old idea that no single service could be increased without increasing the others in proportion." The proportional theory, he added, always seemed to him to be "an artificial and rather wooden idea."

A Tactical Air Command was created only last month in the Air Force reorganization program. Lodge said he thought the increased emphasis on air support for ground troops would remedy "one of our gravest weaknesses."

Air Force Has 87 Wings

Currently the Air Force is at a strength of 87 wings and is building toward 95.

(The term "wing" is now used generally by the Air Force in preference to "group." A wing is one group of aircraft and air crews with all its extra personnel and equipment for support and maintenance of the group in action. In warplanes, a wing ranges from 30 heavy bombers to 75 fighters. A fighter wing may have as many as 2,700 men.)

UMW Welfare Fund Reports Big Balance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) —The United Mine Workers welfare fund today reported a balance of almost one hundred million dollars after distributing more than a quarter billion dollars to miners and their families since 1946.

The fund's trustees released an audit as of the end of the fiscal year June 30—just five years after the first contract calling for a welfare royalty on each ton of coal.

At first the royalty was five cents a ton, under terms of the agreement between the UMW chief, John L. Lewis, and then Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, ending the long strike of 1946. The amount was boosted to ten cents when the government-operated mines were returned to private owners in July 1947, to 20 cents in 1948 and 30 cents in 1950.

Downcast British Oilmen Prepare To Surrender Abadan To Iranians

ABADAN, Iran, Oct. 2 (AP)—Downcast British oilmen made their last preparations tonight to take their leave and surrender to the Iranians a vast oil empire built up through half a century.

The evacuation, beginning at 9 a. m. tomorrow (12:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time), is a black day for the British who are ending the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's lucrative development of one of the richest oil areas on the globe.

It is a triumph for those Iranians who had worked for this day since last March, when Iran nationalized the nation's tremendous oil resources. But it could prove a hollow triumph, and worse than defeat, if these Iranians are unable to operate their own industry.

The fellings of the British were expressed by Refinery Boss K. B. Ross, who has been here 18 years.

"I'm leaving a life's work behind," he said. "There is a lot of British in this place."

He expressed the hope that eventually there would be some agreement "so we can came back." I know if we come back it can't be on the same footing, but Iran and Britain can cooperate to run this place," he said.

Iranians can't quite believe that their dreams of kicking the British out are being realized. They credit President Truman with easing tension by his advice to the British not to use force.

Iranian sources said there were about 12,000 troops around Abadan who would have resisted any British landing attempt.

Robinson Paces Brooklyn To 10-0 Win Over Giants

Newcombe To Face Sal Maglie In Finale

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (INS)—Like a punchy heavyweight coming off the canvas and connecting with a series of haymakers, the Dodgers today blasted the Giants 10-0, making necessary a rubber game in the slightly hysterical playoff for the National League pennant.

The Dodgers today bore little resemblance to the beat-up and dispirited gang which blew a 13½ game lead in the final weeks of the pennant race and barely survived to win a place in the playoff to find a team to meet the champion New York Yankees beginning Thursday.

The men of Charles Dressen, brilliantly paced by Jackie Robinson, belted four home runs, made quick capital out of the Giants' five errors, and were wonderfully benefited by a surprisingly fine six-hit pitching job turned in by young Clem Labine.

Giants Stranded

Labine, pitching with a courage and confidence in sharp contrast to his brief acquaintanceship with major league ball, stranded 11 Giants—eight of them in the first four innings. When a gun had to be silenced, he silenced it with a hook like the big dipper.

So the whole season's play and the desperate appendage all comes down to tomorrow's momentous contest at the Polo Grounds, when Don Newcombe, the massive negro righthander who won 20 for his team this year, does battle with Sal Maglie, rough-hewn Giant who won 23.

Giants Overconfident

The Giants were overconfident and, when that was knocked out of them, jittery. Their bumbling in the field was slightly traceable to the sopping the field received during a shower that caused a 41-minute delay in the sixth inning. But it was bumbling nevertheless, and the club never looked like the inspired collection which had won 38 out of 45, including eight straight and seven out of eight over the Dodgers until today.

The big one tomorrow pits two throwers who have had their respective opposition eating out of their large damp paws this season. Newcombe has won five and lost two, when confronted by Giants. Maglie's record against Brooklyn is five and one.

Bureau Of Mines Director Resigns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—President Truman has announced the resignation of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

Kennecott Copper Corp. announced yesterday in New York that Boyd would join its executive staff. His resignation will take effect Oct. 16.

The White House later made public an exchange of letters in which Boyd said he was leaving his post with "deep regret" to return to private life.

Mr. Truman told Boyd in the letter made public today:

"I appreciate the contribution which you have made during a decade of service, both in the Army and in the Department of the Interior."

Boyd's original appointment as Bureau of Mines director was fought unsuccessfully by John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers.

Import Of Big Attack Veiled In Censorship

Bombardment One Of War's Heaviest

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Wednesday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Massed Allied artillery last night began one of the biggest bombardments of the Korean war against hill-entrenched Reds less than 15 miles away from the site of the suspended truce talks in Western Korea.

The import of the barrage by several hundred guns, and what it possibly presaged, was veiled in censorship.

Shells began pounding Reds on hills and ridgelines from Korangpo northeastward. (The remainder of the sentence pinpointing the attack was censored.)

Korangpo is 28 miles northwest of Seoul, a mile south of parallel 38 and 12 miles almost due east of Kaesong, site of the suspended Korean truce talks.

Attack Follows U. N. Warning

The attack in the vital western sector came at a time when the Allies had served warning on the Reds that if they wanted war instead of armistice, the Eighth Army was prepared to give it in good measure.

The shells of the massed guns fell on the Reds last night at a time the Chinese and North Korean Reds usually begin their night probes and counterattacks.

Hour on hour, the guns roared on, stabbing the inky darkness with bright blasts.

On the opposite end of the war front, in Eastern Korea, the Allies suffered a jolting reverse. South Korean troops who had spent three bloody weeks attacking a key height were driven off of it Tuesday, only a day after finally capturing it.

The peak was lost northwest of "Heartbreak Ridge." It was one of the highest in the area.

Six MIGs Shot Down

In the air, U. S. Sabre jets shot down six Russian-type MIGs Tuesday, the Fifth Air Force reported.

Tying the record for enemy jets destroyed in a single day, Fifth Air Force pilots also probably destroyed one MIG and damaged another in two furious engagements. The Air Force said all Allied planes returned to bases.

The two dog fights involved 193 planes.

On the ground, fiercely resisting Chinese Communists again stalled an Allied ridgeline drive in Western Korea. Red mortars and artillery shells fell for more than four hours on U. N. positions at the rate of 100 shells an hour.

Reds Hint At Refusal To Move Truce Talks

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Efforts to end the Korean war by negotiation hung in delicate balance today.

The Communist radio hinted the Reds would refuse to agree to the Allied proposal to move the talks to neutral ground.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, talked confidently of the Allies fighting the

Curley Withdraws From Boston Race

BOSTON, Oct. 2 (INS)—Former Mayor James M. Curley tonight announced he was withdrawing from Boston's mayoralty race and leaving the way clear for the reelection of Incumbent John B. Hynes.

The 70-odd year old veteran political figure, who has suffered from diabetes for the past several years, made known his decision at his Jamaica Plain home.

The decision must have been sudden because Curley, after winning nomination on Sept. 25, announced he intended to wage a bitter fight against Hynes for the mayor's post.

Third New Kensington, Pa., Banker Arrested By FBI

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Oct. 2 (AP)—FBI agents arrested a third banker in this small Western Pennsylvania community on a charge of embezzlement.

The arrest is the second at the First National Bank of New Kensington and the seventh in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia within a year. It brings the total bank defalcations to nearly $3,000,000.

Latest to be arrested is Otto R. Grotefend, 51-year-old teller at the First National Bank of New Kensington.

He is charged with embezzling $16,000 from the bank.

Special FBI Agent Fred Hallford, in charge of the Pittsburgh office, said the arrest is an outgrowth of the investigation of the alleged embezzlement of $550,000 by William P. Smeltzer, an assistant cashier at the bank.

Hallford said Grotefend signed a statement accepting full responsibility for the shortage. Grotefend, the FBI said, used the bank funds to play slot machines.

The FBI agent quoted Grotefend as saying the shortage is in no way connected with the defalcation charge against Smeltzer.

The first New Kensington banker arrested was Ludwig R. Schlekat, who rose from clerk to president of the Parnassus National Bank.

Hitler Interpreter Tells Another Inside Story Of Second World War

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW YORK—(AP)—Hitler's interpreter says in a book to be published this week that sources in Franco Spain tipped off the Germans beforehand on the Roosevelt-Churchill conference of January, 1943, in Casablanca.

But the Germans, who might have air-raided the Allied leaders, did nothing about it because translators in Berlin took Casablanca to be literally "White House." That's Spanish for white house all right. But Casablanca and the White House the Germans thought about are thousands of miles apart.

Dr. Paul Schmidt, in the book called "Hitler's Interpreter" published by the MacMillan Company, calls this intelligence bobble a "dreadful howler" committed by the German Foreign Office languages service.

"Our Foreign Office spokesman x x x boasted to a press conference that we had certain knowledge that Roosevelt and Churchill were very soon to meet in Washington. It was an unpleasant surprise x x x when the conference took place a few days later in North Africa."

Schmidt, who professes to have been an unwilling but interested servant of high level Nazis, tells an inside story of Nazism that already has been gone over thoroughly in many respects. Some of his details are new to written history and appear to be authentic.

He was an old League of Nations hand and a master of languages, excepting the Russian, and served as interpreter and official reporter at many conferences. He sat in as an observer at Hitler's and Foreign Minister Ribbentrop's sessions with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that led to the wartime non-aggression pact, broken by Hitler's fateful thrust into Russia on June 22, 1941. And Schmidt was there when Ribbentrop gave the Soviet ambassador the bad news.

Schmidt says he resisted Nazi party membership until 1943. He saw war prisoners from both sides of the barbed wire and was a post-war interpreter-prisoner of the Allies and a witness for prosecution and defense at Nuernberg.

Schmidt regarded President Roosevelt's unconditional surrender statement at Casablanca as a blunder that stiffened the weakening German resistance and prolonged the war.

While much of the book is not new, except in detail, it throws some significant light on how Generalissimo Francisco Franco outsmarted Hitler to keep Spain out of fighting for the Axis.

Had Spain come into the war for Hitler, Spain now would be dealt with as a defeated enemy on Western-power terms; instead, Spain is being dealt with by the American mission now working to set up U. S. air and naval bases on the fringes of the Atlantic pact defenses.

Schmidt attended the 1940 meeting of Hitler and Franco at Hendaye at which Hitler proposed that the Germans would take Gibraltar from the British and hand it to Spain. He already had troops in Southern France practicing on a facsimile of "The Rock" and had a strategem figured out to take the real thing.

Franco wanted Gibraltar but not German troops. He fended off Hitler's idea by saying Spanish pride required that the rock must be taken by Spanish troops.

Schmidt says Franco droned along in a soft sing-song voice that got on Hitler's nerves; eventually Franco put his price so ridiculously high in guns and food that Hitler left Hendaye in disgust.

Thus, Franco was nothing more than a highly nationalistic and silent, spying partner of the Axis after the Germans and Italians had used his country to Franco's advantage for their tuneup for big war in the Spanish civil war.

HELD IN DEATH OF PRACTICAL JOKER

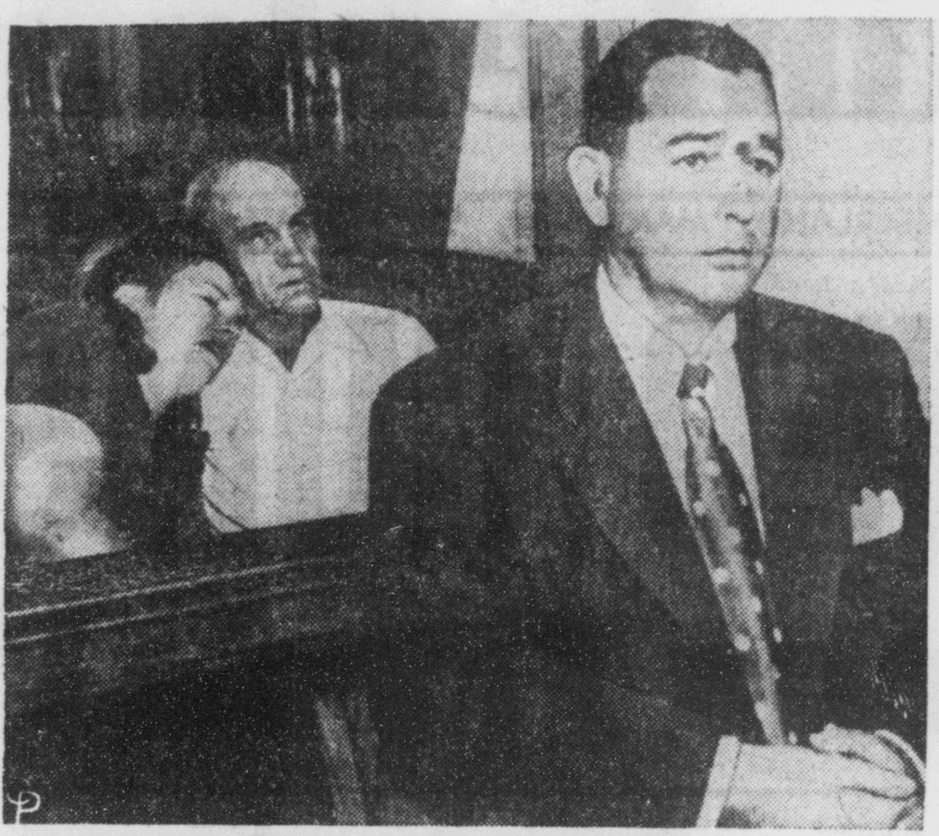

A MACHINIST, Frank Capizzi listens to testimony at the Los Angeles coroner's inquest into the death of Harry Salmons, a fellow-employee, who was shot to death after he played a series of practical jokes on Capizzi. Jurors were told how Salmons hid Capizzi's chair and tools, put grease on the handles of his machine and poured oil on his bench. The dead man's wife, Ethel, sits in rear, her head on the shoulder of her father, Scott Rarick. Soon after, the coroner's jury found Capizzi "criminally responsible" for Salmons' death. (International Soundphoto)

Lanza Sets Up Trust Fund For Pittsburgh Foundling

HOLLYWOOD, (INS)—A homeless waif in a Pittsburgh foundling home will receive a formal education because a movie fan sent a clipping to Singer Mario Lanza, the latest idol of the boby-soxers.

Lanza announced that he was setting up a trust fund for the three-weeks-old tot who was discovered on the doorstep of a suburban Pittsburgh apartment last Sept. 14. He was one-day old at the time.

The child was taken to Pittsburgh hospital where nurses promptly named him Mario after their screen heart throb.

When Lanza received the clipping, he immediately dispatched a $500 check to the Roselia Foundling Home where little Mario is now in residence.

Lanza, who has a pair of youngsters of his own, Colleen, 3, and Elissa, 1, said that money will continue to be sent to be put in a trust fund for the youngster's education.

The handsome screen singer declared:

"I feel that a formal education will at least give him the equipment with which to cope with life."

Lanza said he would not be able to get back right away to see his new "friend," but that as soon as he finishes a current picture commitment he will make a trip to Pittsburgh and get acquainted with "little Mario."

Registration Cards Must Be Completed

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery urged those persons being notified that their names have been removed from registration books to give full information on cards which are to be returned to his office.

Ullery said that in some cases a person who has moved from one precinct or ward to another may be carried on two sets of books under the old system. By listing the correct information on the cards which they are to return, this duplication is erased and the voter status clarified.

The notices were sent persons who are not recorded as balloting in the last five calendar years.

Meanwhile, many voters daily are taking advantage of the continuing registration program, Ullery said.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

Scientific Method of Control

CRAWLING insects are the most difficult to control, as they can be brought into any home from the market in a bag of potatoes or other groceries.

Science has just come forth with a new discovery that kills roaches, ants, waterbugs, and silverfish, and that stays effective for months. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH, and is a colorless, odorless, stainless coating that you can brush on any surface.

For Roaches

To kill roaches, brush NO-ROACH on baseboards, kitchen cabinets, near the sink, stove, icebox, etc. Insects that cross the coating become paralyzed and die.

For Ants

Brush this colorless coating across window sills, door sills, and table legs, and wherever they appear. Ants will not cross the coating, which is effective for months.

For waterbugs and silverfish, brush NO-ROACH wherever they appear.

Brush NO-ROACH just where you want it. No more messy powder sprinkling or all over spraying, when you start controlling crawling pests this modern NO-ROACH way.

Prices are 8 oz. for 89c

Lanza Sets Up Trust Fund For Pittsburgh Foundling

HOLLYWOOD, (INS)—A homeless waif in a Pittsburgh foundling home will receive a formal education because a movie fan sent a clipping to Singer Mario Lanza, the latest idol of the boby-soxers.

Lanza announced that he was setting up a trust fund for the three-weeks-old tot who was discovered on the doorstep of a suburban Pittsburgh apartment last Sept. 14. He was one-day old at the time.

The child was taken to Pittsburgh hospital where nurses promptly named him Mario after their screen heart throb.

When Lanza received the clipping, he immediately dispatched a $500 check to the Roselia Foundling Home where little Mario is now in residence.

Lanza, who has a pair of youngsters of his own, Colleen, 3, and Elissa, 1, said that money will continue to be sent to be put in a trust fund for the youngster's education.

The handsome screen singer declared:

"I feel that a formal education will at least give him the equipment with which to cope with life."

Lanza said he would not be able to get back right away to see his new "friend," but that as soon as he finishes a current picture commitment he will make a trip to Pittsburgh and get acquainted with "little Mario."

Free Press Spreads Light

"Your newspaper lights the way of freedom." That is the theme that has been chosen for the 1951 observance of National Newspaper Week, being marked throughout America this week.

The choice of a theme is a fine one, for the slogan has far-reaching implications.

First of all, it suggests that where there is no light there is darkness. In this case the darkness is ignorance, "a night," someone has said, "without moon or stars."

The National Newspaper Week theme presumes the right to pierce that darkness with the light of information and it presumes at the same time the right to keep that light burning in face of all odds.

For free man has a right to know. If there is a right to know, then there must be a right to tell.

The men who made this nation considered the right to tell so important that they wrote it into the No. 1 Amendment to our Constitution: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging freedom of speech and freedom of the press."

But the right to tell is more than a privilege; it is a duty.

Elijah Lovejoy, abolitionist editor at Alton, Ill., believed it his right to carry the lamp of the free press and he knew his duty to light it and keep it burning. Three times mobs destroyed his printing presses. While he was protecting his fourth press, Lovejoy was shot to death.

Don Melott, the Canton, Ohio, publisher, kept the spotlight of publicity focused on the racketeers in his community until they ambushed him and shot him at his own doorstep.

Racketeers, international or smalltime, know the power of the press. That is why they must control that power, why they must black out the light of public information if they are to attain and maintain a grip on the people.

That is why half the population of the world is under some form of censorship today.

That is why General George C. Marshal, former Secretary of Defense, said, "Americans should keep constantly in mind that no people have lost their liberties so long as their press remained free."

That is why in the interest of world understanding—and hence in the interest of peace—our nation seeks actively to spread throughout the world the freedom of the people to learn the truth.

A free press—a free people.

"Your newspaper lights the way of freedom."

The vital truth of that message is the one thing National Newspaper Week has to sell.

In Behalf Of Aged

A call on business to consider dropping 65 years as an arbitrary retirement age for a flexible policy based on the physical and mental ability of an individual has come out of the Second International Congress of Gerontologists just held in St. Louis. These experts in the scientific study of old age cited statistics to refute beliefs that older workers were more subject to accidents, more disposed to absenteeism and harder to get along with than younger workers.

Emphasized was the fact that while medical progress has increased the proportion of old people, modern civilization has decreased their opportunities for work. Shutting them off gainful employment on a chronological age basis was declared an economic fallacy, particularly at a time when the nation had need for greater manpower.

A report covering 17,800 workers ranging from 20 to 74 years stated the conclusion that "the only disadvantage of older workers is that their disabilities last longer when they are injured, but they are less likely to be absent and perhaps less likely to be injured than a younger worker."

As for the length of disability, it was found to be only slightly greater with age—3.2 days for workers over 60 as compared to 2.1 days for those between 31 and 60.

Weariness and loss of interest in life was rejected by the gerontologists as inevitable in old age—this state, it was declared, was the result of nothing more than food deficiency. A recent hospital study of 350 men and women past 60 revealed that the ailments of 65 per cent were due solely to unsatisfactory dietary habits. Primary requisites of diet for the aged were given as restriction in total calories, extra fortification with proteins, vitamins and minerals and a generous fluid intake.

Much other enlightening information of medical, psychological and economic character was presented to help correct many misconceptions about the aged, even among the aged themselves.

A Good Cigar

Complete with 30 bands, 60 queens and an address from Governor John Davis Lodge, the Capitol Building at Hartford, Conn., was the center of a celebration designed to revive waning cigar sales throughout the United States. Connecticut boasts a $55,000,000 per annum tobacco-growing industry. The area grows cigar wrapper tobacco. Filer comes from other regions.

It will be news to most people that cigar smoking is on the downgrade. The reasons are not evident, although the surmise might be hazarded that the speed of modern life does not encourage reflective smoking. Wives sometimes object to pipes; few mind the aroma of a good cigar.

The cigar is a ceremonious smoke. At the end of formal dinners, cigars are passed with a flourish. The dealer in even low-priced cigars holds out the box for the customer to select his choice. Smoking a cigar is serious business, to be conducted with discrimination. No one has ever been known to take a few puffs from a cigar and toss it aside.

When the cigar store Indian disappeared into antique shops and museums, American life lost a picturesque touch. Moreover, the cigar store had a rich and mingled fragrance suggesting a good dinner, a comfortable chair, a bazing fire and a perfecto. There will be lots of non-smokers who will wish Connecticut's tobacco sales well.

As for devotees of cigars, their poet laureate is still Rudyard Kipling, who wrote long ago: "And a woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

How To Keep Well

Newer Ulcer Remedies

There is no ideal ulcer remedy. Numerous drugs have been introduced, however, so that we now have products capable of attacking these lesions from various angles. The older medicines neutralize acids; the newer ones affect the acid secreting glands or form a protective coating over the surface of the lesion.

It is encouraging to note that most of the new compounds are based on sound scientific reasoning. This may be the handwriting on the wall, indicating that the problem is close to being solved. Much attention has been directed toward the neutralization of the stomach acid and pepsin. Even in the 19th century these secretions were blamed for ulcers. The noted French physician, Claude Bernard (1813-1878), realized that altho everyone has acid, only a few develop ulcers. He theorized that the lining of the normal stomach must contain a substance that protects it against being digested by its own acid and pepsin.

Among the latest products are several that block the transmission of nerve impulses to the stomach. By cutting off the stimulating influences, gastric secretion is reduced and the churning motion of the stomach is lessened. Banthine is one. Hexamethonium iodine (C6) is another, but it has not been tried sufficiently to warrant conclusions. It was given to 10 ulcer patients, however, and made the acid disappear completely in five and decreased it substantially in three. Tetraethyl ammonium chloride and dibutoline are other blocking agents belonging in this category.

The hormone, enterogastrone, was publicized several years ago as a real champion in the battle against ulcers but it has failed to live up to its reputation. A somewhat similar hormone, urogastrone, has shown more promise. This preparation is isolated from urine and depresses gastric secretion when given hypodermically. A related product, kutrol, comes from the urine of pregnant mares. There have been many favorable reports on this substance, such as the study on its administration to 16 patients who had not responded to the conventional ulcer management. Of the group, 15 reported relief within four to six weeks. In addition, the crater disappeared, as demonstrated by X-ray studies.

Sodium carboxymethylcellulose is another newcomer; it alkalizes without producing an acid rebound. Furthermore, the material is tenacious and forms a protective coating by adhering to the walls of the stomach. This antacid is a two for one drug because it is nonabsorbable and has a laxative action after traveling into the large intestine. However, despite this buildup, it has not made an impressive record. In one study, 61 per cent remained comfortable for a period of one year; the remainder had recurrences.

Even the plastics have invaded this field in the form of anion exchange resins. These insoluable substances still are in the throes of investigation. They have a neutralizing effect which has not proved superior to many of the medicines already on the market. There also is a growing tendency among scientists to use combinations of drugs—mixtures of old remedies with new names. Many have been devised in the hope of enhancing the efficacy of two drugs or offsetting an undesirable reaction of one by the opposing action of another. Good results often are obtained in this way.

SNAPPING JAW

M. D. writes: What causes your jawbone to snap when you yawn?

REPLY

Mine or yours? The snap usually stems from the ligaments and capsules surrounding the hinge of the jaw. If you refer to the popping sensation in the ears that accompanies a good yawn, this occurs when the Eustachian tubes open.

PECULIAR HERNIA

N. T. writes: What is the cause of a hiatus hernia?

REPLY

In this disorder, there is an opening in the diaphram, which allows part of the stomach to protrude into the chest. Strain, injury, or a developmental defect of the diaphragm or esophagus may be responsible.

FALLING DANDRUFF

N. H. writes: Is dandruff catching?

REPLY

No, except that the shoulders sometimes catch the flakes from the scalp.

LEG PAIN

J. O. writes: Is intermittent claudication the same as hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

No. Intermittent claudication results from poor circulation, of which arteriosclerosis is one of the two chief causes. The other is Buerger's disease. In both instances, the blood flow is sluggish and pain develops in the calf of the leg while walking.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Attorney O'Gara Staged One-Man Fight; Efforts To Probe Internal Revenue Irregularities Were Blocked; O'Gara Faced Possible Indictment

WASHINGTON — Most amazing inside fact about the recent clean-up of the San Francisco Internal Revenue office is that certain U. S. officials tried to indict the young man who first pushed this clean-up.

He is Charles O'Gara, assistant U. S. attorney in San Francisco, who for more than a year had tried to investigate and, if guilty, prosecute some of the income tax officials now suspended.

During all this period, it was no secret to high officials that income tax wire-pulling was suspected in Northern California. And not only did these officials turn a deaf ear about a house cleaning but they attempted to indict the man who tried to clean house.

The story is almost unbelievable and somewhat complicated. It goes back to August, 1950, when U. S. Judge J. Waties Waring of South Carolina, sitting temporarily in California, smelled something wrong regarding a narcotics case and suggested to young Assistant U. S. Attorney O'Gara that he investigate.

From that time—Aug. 5, 1950, until April 3, 1951—O'Gara tried to get a grand jury hearing of suspected Internal Revenue irregularities. All his efforts were blocked from above.

Meanwhile certain things going on inside the San Francisco Internal Revenue office obviously merited investigation, merely on the face of them. Here are some instances:

1. AN INTERNAL REVENUE EMPLOYES' FUND was collected from brewers, liquor dealers, bookies, prostitutes and delinquent taxpayers. One of the men involved in collecting this fund was John A. Malone, brother of William Malone, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee for San Francisco and most potent Democratic wheelhorse in Northern California.

2. JOHN MALONE, brother of the Democratic bigwig, operated an accounting and income tax office of his own, though he was also assistant chief of the income tax division. Malone has now been suspended.

3. PAUL V. DOYLE, chief office deputy of the San Francisco Internal Revenue office, also operated an accounting firm and gave income tax advice on the side. He too has now been suspended.

4. JOHN BOLAND, chief field deputy, maintained a deputy collector, Jack Crowley, as his chauffeur, was a close pal of Chief Collector, Smythe, Doyle and Malone. Last week he was suspended.

5. IGNATIUS BERESFORD, chief assistant in the Wage and Excise Division, also operated an income tax service in off hours. He has now been suspended.

6.COLLECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE JAMES SMYTHE, now suspended for "incompetence," had admitted under cross-examination before the Kefauver Committee that he had been a delinquent taxpayer prior to his appointment to the job of collecting other peoples' taxes in 1945. However, Smythe had been the campaign manager for Democratic Sen. Sheridan Downey and deserved reward. Furthermore, Mrs. Smythe was one of Downey's secretaries.

The above facts were well known to U. S. Treasury officials in Washington, yet U. S. Assistant Attorney O'Gara was not able, for approximately one year, to proceed with any investigation.

Finally, a forthright grand jury, headed by Richard Seward, first of all indicted James M. MacInnes, an attorney in the narcotics case presided over by Judge Waring; and then called in Robert McMillan, chief assistant U. S. attorney, put him under subpoena and asked him, among other things, why the facts unearthed by the Kefauver Committee regarding Internal Revenue had not been followed up. Charles Davis, head of Internal Revenue's local intelligence unit, was also examined. Neither could give a satisfactory answer.

Consequently, the Seward runaway grand jury directed O'Gara to continue this probe before another federal grand jury headed by John Taylor. On May 16, O'Gara attempted to do so.

But suddenly U. S. Judge Lewis F. Goodman called the grand jury before him, instructed it that it had now power to proceed.

Local political observers believe it may or may not be significant that Judge Goodman was appointed on the recommendation of Senator downey, close friend of Collector James Emythe, whose office was being probed.

Following this, Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney McMillan took over a new grand jury probe of Internal Revenue matters, despite the fact that he had previously been called on the carpet by a runaway grand jury and quizzed regarding the government's failure to clean house.

Meanwhile young Mr. O'Gara, the idealistic assistant who had insisted on going into these tax matters, suddenly found himself under investigation. He was accused of intimidating a government witness.

He was so informed on June 4 by his boss, U. S. Attorney Chauncey Tramultolo. The FBI then called on O'Gara, informed him that on May 28 they had been ordered by top officials in the Justice Department in Washington to investigate him on a complaint by Louise Haller, a notary public, who testified in the MacInnes narcotics case.

A committee from the Seward grand jury which had indicted MacInnes immediately came to O'Gara's defense, said there was no question in their minds between O'Gara and Miss Haller as to who was telling the truth.

Nevertheless, the case against O'Gara was presented to the grand jury, and on July 3, U. S. Judge Edward P. Murphy instructed the grand jury to conclude its deliberations within the next 48 hours.

On July 5, as the 48 hours were about to expire, the jury asked U. S. Attorney Tramutolo whether he wanted O'Gara indicted. His reply, in effect, was "It's up to you."

O'Gara was not indicted. The grand jury was all too familiar with his attempts to clean up the San Francisco Internal Revenue office—attempts now belatedly but fully justified.

NOTE—Most important thing to remember about the San Francisco clean-up and other tax irregularities around the country is that federal tax collectors and judges owe their appointment to individual senators or local bosses. Thus, some of them tend to do not what is good for all the American people, but what is good for the men who appoint them.

NEW YORK— (INS) —The top matchmaker now functioning at Madison Square Garden is not Al Weill. Turns out to be Lillian Jenkins.

Diamond Lil, finest lady sports publicist since the field was opened to the stronger sex, has promoted more scraps than Weill, Mike Jacobs and the late Jimmy Johnston combined.

Lil is the doll who gives her blessing to the annual epidemic of matrimony which strikes the Garden every October when the rawhide lads and lassies come in from the lone prair-ee to commit the rodeo.

You can sing all you want about that lone prair-ee and the moon a'slanting o'er the desert and courtin' time around the old chuck wagon. Most of the authentic rodeo cowhands and the trim little gals who dress up the big show seem to get that hankering to settle down only when they hear the sweet thunder of the Eighth Avenue subway, which is underneath their corral, and inhale the heady fragrance of Times Square when the wind is blowing old newspapers into the gulch at dawn.

Lil's been in the matrimonial business, more or less, since 1939, and it all turns out to be the fault—if that's the word—of an old Yale blue named Reed Kilpatrick. Kilpatrick, who heads the Garden, decided that the babes who came east with the roded did not necessarily have to look like daguerreotypes of Annie Oakley or be as bird-brained as the average heroine in horse operas.

So she rigged out the prairie flowers in silks and embroidered blouses, pants that did not quite permit of breathing, and a kind of John (or Fred) Frederics' version of the 10-gallon Stetson. His electricians made them additionally irresistable with an ersatz moon.

Well, podner, there was this big hand Dan Taylor from Big Spring, Texas, who'd know little Annabelle Edwards back home for nigh on to ten years, man and boy. But he had never seen li'l old Annabelle looking near as purty as she looked in the rodeo, with all those new trimmin's. So he asked Lil Jenkins for her hand, and Lil was in business.

Since then she has been the Beatrice Fairfax of such hitchings as that of Toots Mansfield's union with Mary Nell Edwards, one of the classiest riders ever to stand the hair of New York's sadly jaded sports fans on end.

And Lil was there, too, when none other than Homer Pettigrew and Wag Blessing, two hands who seemed headed for eternal bacherlorhood in their native habitats, went plumb crazy about Ada Lee Perner and Faye Johnson—under the spell of that Consolidated Edison moon.

Lil more or less helped raise Mitzi Ann Lucas, beautiful daughter of two fine rodeo troupers. Mitzi Ann spent most of the first year of her life in a basket, backstage in the Garden, Around Fort Worth she was a real belle. But it wasn't until she met up with Lanham Riley at the Garden—and talked it over with Lil—that she decided to get married.

One of the reasons why there's a new crop of cow gals at each rodeo is that when they check in with Lil before going out on the tanbark she is now inclined to measure them for wedding gowns. She figures if they get this far away from lands which cowboy crooners constantly moo are rugged Gretna Greens, they've got to go.

The rodeo this year is better than ever, my kids report. But I keep wondering what we in this section of the country can do for the west in return. I still think it would be a good idea to start a movie company that would make easterns for western consumption. We'd have a Cadillac roundup, or rustle, and maybe a big gun scene, involving seltzer bottles at 30 paces, fought to a savage inconclusion at El Morocco.

The Economic Union

The more international conferences that are held, the more clearly an economic pattern presents itself which seems (and I use this verb advisedly) to tend toward a merging of the Western world into an economic union in which the United States will act as the supplier to those nations which are or seem to be in need.

It is an arrangement for the distribution of wealth on an international level. The obvious manifestation of this plan appeared in lend-lease, the Marshall Plan (ERP, ECA) and Point Four. In a manner, the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the Export-Import Bank and the RFC have played a part in the development, but even more so, the depression of the American dollar, making it constantly cheaper, is an instrument for levelling values.

The economic union has not in any way been so formalized that it would be necessary to present it to Congress or parliament for adoption. This would be unsound politically and could create such outraged antagonism as to defeat it altogether. Rather, step by step, acts have been implemented which achieve some movements in the direction desired by those who, in particular, see in the United States a basis for the restoration of British economy even under socialism.

There can be no question but that Great Britian's position is perilous. During this century, Great Britain's economy has depended upon banking, shipping, insurance and re-exports. The United States, Canada, India, Malaya, the Dutch East Indies and China played a great part in this business. Britain garnered liquid capital from many quarters in Europe and invested it in Asia, Africa, the United States and wherever in the world liquid capital was required. No other country has developed equal skill in banking, insurance or shipping, and the profits were good.

The essential cause for World War I was the German invasion of every field of British economic activity, including heavy machinery and textiles. After World War I, Japan entered these economic areas with startling success, particularly in shipping and textiles. The Japanese were astonishingly competent in China, Malaya, India and North Africa, with the result that a mounting antagonism developed between Great Britain and Japan. This was emphatically notable after the termination of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance in 1922.

World War II left Great Britain prostrate and dependent upon the United States. If any country can be said to have lost World War II, from the standpoint of costs, that country is Great Britain. The United States came to the rescue with lend-lease, with various devices worked out at Bretton Woods (1944), with the British loan of $3,750,000,000, with the Marshall Plan which became ECA, with Point Four that aids British-controlled or former British colonial areas, with European military aid which grew into the general term, NATO, with tariff controls favoring British exports to the United States, and with many other economic devices which have assisted the British.

The fact does stand that with all the aid that the United States has given Great Britain, at unbelievably great direct and indirect costs to the American people, the Socialist government of Great Britain is again in trouble and the likelihood is that Great Britain will not be able to meet its obligations to us under the loan agreement. In fact, the situation is becoming so tight that a general election is being held to achieve either a vote of confidence for the Socialists or to produce a government under Winston Churchill, who would then speak to this country in those accents which our people so love, but it will have to do with dollars.

To save Great Britain and what is left of the British Empire, many Americans believe that the solution is an economic union between the two countries. As far back as 1945 there was talk of this. Now that NATO is an actuality, the talk, in private still, is more vehement. One argument is that Europe is accustomed to British leadership, which must be maintained if Western Europe is to be useful in a war or in war-prevention against Russia. Europe is, it is said, unaccustomed to American methods and irked by the type of leadership the United States offers.

I do not know whether anyone in American public life will have the courage to propound this program to the American people, but as their economic activities are studied, it is becoming increasingly clear that this is the program and that we are being moved into such a union.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Again the problem of a decision in Korea has risen to haunt the government here. People in all parts of the country are writing to members of Congress about it. They want to know where all the "fantastic weapons" are that President Truman referred to several weeks ago. They want to know why they aren't being used.

For a while, as the cease-fire talks dawdled along, the nation had the impression that hostilities were not being pressed too hard by either side. The Defense Department here went so far as to emphasize that there were no UN casualties on one certain day. Certainly the losses for a few weeks seemed light to everybody—except, of course, to the "next of kin." Then came the bloody fighting at "Heartbreak Ridge." It started a new wave of criticism.

Public Attitude Stiffening

As long as there seemed to be hope for a peaceful settlement, the pressure on Congress to do something about the Korean situation was alleviated. Now, as it is evident that the Communists are playing tricks with the situation, the public attitude is stiffening and there are demands that something be done.

The administration has taken cognizance of the growing dissatisfaction. General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has gone to the Far East and he is accompanied by Charles Bohlen, counsellor of the Department of State. The trip is described officially as without significance other than to check up on what is happening. But whatever purpose the government has in mind by the trip would hardly be disclosed in any official announcement.

The statements by Generals Ridgway and Van Fleet have been issued in the last 48 hours in an attempt to give the public an idea of what is happening on the military front. The need for the offensive, even though of a limited nature, which has just been carried on is explained and an effort made to justify it. It is plain that the two statements are of a kind calculated to respond to criticism. If it is being assumed that the American aggressiveness in the fighting lately has been unnecessary, then the two statements tell why that's a wrong assumption.

But beneath the whole situation is the realization here that things cannot go on much longer the way they have. The first step is to inform the Reds that something very terrible is going to happen to them if they continue to dillydally with the cease-fire talks and keep on issuing propaganda messages about "violations" of the neutral zone. General Ridgway is now hinting at that very thing. Last March General MacArthur issued such a warning to the Communist armies and their leaders, that the UN might get tough, whereupon it was solemnly declared in news dispatches from European Allied countries and also in statements by administration officials that this was a move which never should have been made and that it might provoke Russian entrance into the war.

Expansion Is Likely

But now, after President Truman's recent speeches saying that force alone talks in international affairs when the enemy is ruthless and unprincipled, it does look as if expansion of the war in Korea is a likely step.

The Communist radio suspects that something is in the wind. It has declared that new amphibious landings by the UN forces are in prospect. It has said that the UN forces also are planning to use atomic weapons. Maybe that's a "fishing expedition"—an effort to find out what the allies are up to. But there are not many moves left. If the UN forces do have atomic weapons, they'll find public opinion in America demanding that they be used and the situation clarified. If they haven't any such weapons, then a step-up in the use of heavy artillery and conventional bombing are the alternatives.

In any case, the American people have not been prepared for an endless war and another winter for more than 300,000 American boys in and around Korea with no present sign that any other nation is going to help on the "rotation" plan by providing any substantial number of replacements. It is by far the most delicate problem before the government today, and a climax of some kind may be expected in the whole Korean picture before another month has passed.

Free Press Spreads Light

"Your newspaper lights the way of freedom." That is the theme that has been chosen for the 1951 observance of National Newspaper Week, being marked throughout America this week.

The choice of a theme is a fine one, for the slogan has far-reaching implications.

First of all, it suggests that where there is no light there is darkness. In this case the darkness is ignorance, "a night," someone has said, "without moon or stars."

The National Newspaper Week theme presumes the right to pierce that darkness with the light of information and it presumes at the same time the right to keep that light burning in face of all odds.

For free man has a right to know. If there is a right to know, then there must be a right to tell.

The men who made this nation considered the right to tell so important that they wrote it into the No. 1 Amendment to our Constitution: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging freedom of speech and freedom of the press."

But the right to tell is more than a privilege; it is a duty.

Elijah Lovejoy, abolitionist editor at Alton, Ill., believed it his right to carry the lamp of the free press and he knew his duty to light it and keep it burning. Three times mobs destroyed his printing presses. While he was protecting his fourth press, Lovejoy was shot to death.

Don Melott, the Canton, Ohio, publisher, kept the spotlight of publicity focused on the racketeers in his community until they ambushed him and shot him at his own doorstep.

Racketeers, international or smalltime, know the power of the press. That is why they must control that power, why they must black out the light of public information if they are to attain and maintain a grip on the people.

That is why half the population of the world is under some form of censorship today.

That is why General George C. Marshal, former Secretary of Defense, said, "Americans should keep constantly in mind that no people have lost their liberties so long as their press remained free."

That is why in the interest of world understanding—and hence in the interest of peace—our nation seeks actively to spread throughout the world the freedom of the people to learn the truth.

A free press—a free people.

"Your newspaper lights the way of freedom."

The vital truth of that message is the one thing National Newspaper Week has to sell.

In Behalf Of Aged

A call on business to consider dropping 65 years as an arbitrary retirement age for a flexible policy based on the physical and mental ability of an individual has come out of the Second International Congress of Gerontologists just held in St. Louis. These experts in the scientific study of old age cited statistics to refute beliefs that older workers were more subject to accidents, more disposed to absenteeism and harder to get along with than younger workers.

Emphasized was the fact that while medical progress has increased the proportion of old people, modern civilization has decreased their opportunities for work. Shutting them off gainful employment on a chronological age basis was declared an economic fallacy, particularly at a time when the nation had need for greater manpower.

A report covering 17,800 workers ranging from 20 to 74 years stated the conclusion that "the only disadvantage of older workers is that their disabilities last longer when they are injured, but they are less likely to be absent and perhaps less likely to be injured than a younger worker."

As for the length of disability, it was found to be only slightly greater with age—3.2 days for workers over 60 as compared to 2.1 days for those between 31 and 60.

Weariness and loss of interest in life was rejected by the gerontologists as inevitable in old age—this state, it was declared, was the result of nothing more than food deficiency. A recent hospital study of 350 men and women past 60 revealed that the ailments of 65 per cent were due solely to unsatisfactory dietary habits. Primary requisites of diet for the aged were given as restriction in total calories, extra fortification with proteins, vitamins and minerals and a generous fluid intake.

Much other enlightening information of medical, psychological and economic character was presented to help correct many misconceptions about the aged, even among the aged themselves.

A Good Cigar

Complete with 30 bands, 60 queens and an address from Governor John Davis Lodge, the Capitol Building at Hartford, Conn., was the center of a celebration designed to revive waning cigar sales throughout the United States. Connecticut boasts a $55,000,000 per annum tobacco-growing industry. The area grows cigar wrapper tobacco. Filer comes from other regions.

It will be news to most people that cigar smoking is on the downgrade. The reasons are not evident, although the surmise might be hazarded that the speed of modern life does not encourage reflective smoking. Wives sometimes object to pipes; few mind the aroma of a good cigar.

The cigar is a ceremonious smoke. At the end of formal dinners, cigars are passed with a flourish. The dealer in even low-priced cigars holds out the box for the customer to select his choice. Smoking a cigar is serious business, to be conducted with discrimination. No one has ever been known to take a few puffs from a cigar and toss it aside.

When the cigar store Indian disappeared into antique shops and museums, American life lost a picturesque touch. Moreover, the cigar store had a rich and mingled fragrance suggesting a good dinner, a comfortable chair, a bazing fire and a perfecto. There will be lots of non-smokers who will wish Connecticut's tobacco sales well.

As for devotees of cigars, their poet laureate is still Rudyard Kipling, who wrote long ago: "And a woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

Newer Ulcer Remedies

There is no ideal ulcer remedy. Numerous drugs have been introduced, however, so that we now have products capable of attacking these lesions from various angles. The older medicines neutralize acids; the newer ones affect the acid secreting glands or form a protective coating over the surface of the lesion.

It is encouraging to note that most of the new compounds are based on sound scientific reasoning. This may be the handwriting on the wall, indicating that the problem is close to being solved. Much attention has been directed toward the neutralization of the stomach acid and pepsin. Even in the 19th century these secretions were blamed for ulcers. The noted French physician, Claude Bernard (1813-1878), realized that altho everyone has acid, only a few develop ulcers. He theorized that the lining of the normal stomach must contain a substance that protects it against being digested by its own acid and pepsin.

Among the latest products are several that block the transmission of nerve impulses to the stomach. By cutting off the stimulating influences, gastric secretion is reduced and the churning motion of the stomach is lessened. Banthine is one. Hexamethonium iodine (C6) is another, but it has not been tried sufficiently to warrant conclusions. It was given to 10 ulcer patients, however, and made the acid disappear completely in five and decreased it substantially in three. Tetraethyl ammonium chloride and dibutoline are other blocking agents belonging in this category.

The hormone, enterogastrone, was publicized several years ago as a real champion in the battle against ulcers but it has failed to live up to its reputation. A somewhat similar hormone, urogastrone, has shown more promise. This preparation is isolated from urine and depresses gastric secretion when given hypodermically. A related product, kutrol, comes from the urine of pregnant mares. There have been many favorable reports on this substance, such as the study on its administration to 16 patients who had not responded to the conventional ulcer management. Of the group, 15 reported relief within four to six weeks. In addition, the crater disappeared, as demonstrated by X-ray studies.

Sodium carboxymethylcellulose is another newcomer; it alkalizes without producing an acid rebound. Furthermore, the material is tenacious and forms a protective coating by adhering to the walls of the stomach. This antacid is a two for one drug because it is nonabsorbable and has a laxative action after traveling into the large intestine. However, despite this buildup, it has not made an impressive record. In one study, 61 per cent remained comfortable for a period of one year; the remainder had recurrences.

Even the plastics have invaded this field in the form of anion exchange resins. These insoluable substances still are in the throes of investigation. They have a neutralizing effect which has not proved superior to many of the medicines already on the market. There also is a growing tendency among scientists to use combinations of drugs—mixtures of old remedies with new names. Many have been devised in the hope of enhancing the efficacy of two drugs or offsetting an undesirable reaction of one by the opposing action of another. Good results often are obtained in this way.

SNAPPING JAW

M. D. writes: What causes your jawbone to snap when you yawn?

Mine or yours? The snap usually stems from the ligaments and capsules surrounding the hinge of the jaw. If you refer to the popping sensation in the ears that accompanies a good yawn, this occurs when the Eustachian tubes open.

PECULIAR HERNIA

No. Intermittent claudication results from poor circulation, of which arteriosclerosis is one of the two chief causes. The other is Buerger's disease. In both instances, the blood flow is sluggish and pain develops in the calf of the leg while walking.

U. S. Attorney O'Gara Staged One-Man Fight; Efforts To Probe Internal Revenue Irregularities Were Blocked; O'Gara Faced Possible Indictment

WASHINGTON — Most amazing inside fact about the recent cleanup of the San Francisco Internal Revenue office is that certain U. S. officials tried to indict the young man who first pushed this clean-up.

He is Charles O'Gara, assistant U. S. attorney in San Francisco, who for more than a year had tried to investigate and, if guilty, prosecute some of the income tax officials now suspended.

During all this period, it was no secret to high officials that income tax wire-pulling was suspected in Northern California. And not only did these officials turn a deaf ear about a house cleaning but they attempted to indict the man who tried to clean house.

The story is almost unbelievable and somewhat complicated. It goes back to August, 1950, when U. S. Judge J. Waties Waring of South Carolina, sitting temporarily in California, smelled something wrong regarding a narcotics case and suggested to young Assistant U. S. Attorney O'Gara that he investigate.

From that time—Aug. 5, 1950, until April 3, 1951—O'Gara tried to get a grand jury hearing of suspected Internal Revenue irregularities. All his efforts were blocked from above.

Meanwhile certain things going on inside the San Francisco Internal Revenue office obviously merited investigation, merely on the face of them. Here are some instances:

1. AN INTERNAL REVENUE EMPLOYES' FUND was collected from brewers, liquor dealers, bookies, prostitutes and delinquent taxpayers. One of the men involved in collecting this fund was John A. Malone, brother of William Malone, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee for San Francisco and most potent Democratic wheelhorse in Northern California.

2. JOHN MALONE, brother of the Democratic bigwig, operated an accounting and income tax office of his own, though he was also assistant chief of the income tax division. Malone has now been suspended.

3. PAUL V. DOYLE, chief office deputy of the San Francisco Internal Revenue office, also operated an accounting firm and gave income tax advice on the side. He too has now been suspended.

4. JOHN BOLAND, chief field deputy, maintained a deputy collector, Jack Crowley, as his chauffeur, was a close pal of Chief Collector, Smythe, Doyle and Malone. Last week he was suspended.

5. IGNATIUS BERESFORD, chief assistant in the Wage and Excise Division, also operated an income tax service in off hours. He has now been suspended.

6.COLLECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE JAMES SMYTHE, now suspended for "incompetence," had admitted under cross-examination before the Kefauver Committee that he had been a delinquent taxpayer prior to his appointment to the job of collecting other peoples' taxes in 1945. However, Smythe had been the campaign manager for Democratic Sen. Sheridan Downey and deserved reward. Furthermore, Mrs. Smythe was one of Downey's secretaries.

The above facts were well known to U. S. Treasury officials in Washington, yet U. S. Assistant Attorney O'Gara was not able, for approximately one year, to proceed with any investigation.

Finally, a forthright grand jury, headed by Richard Seward, first of all indicted James M. MacInnes, an attorney in the narcotics case presided over by Judge Waring; and then called in Robert McMillan, chief assistant U. S. attorney, put him under subpoena and asked him, among other things, why the facts unearthed by the Kefauver Committee regarding Internal Revenue had not been followed up. Charles Davis, head of Internal Revenue's local intelligence unit, was also examined. Neither could give a satisfactory answer.

Consequently, the Seward runaway grand jury directed O'Gara to continue this probe before another federal grand jury headed by John Taylor. On May 16, O'Gara attempted to do so.

But suddenly U. S. Judge Lewis F. Goodman called the grand jury before him, instructed it that it had now power to proceed.

Local political observers believe it may or may not be significant that Judge Goodman was appointed on the recommendation of Senator downey, close friend of Collector James Emythe, whose office was being probed.

Following this, Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney McMillan took over a new grand jury probe of Internal Revenue matters, despite the fact that he had previously been called on the carpet by a runaway grand jury and quizzed regarding the government's failure to clean house.

Meanwhile young Mr. O'Gara, the idealistic assistant who had insisted on going into these tax matters, suddenly found himself under investigation. He was accused of intimidating a government witness.

He was so informed on June 4 by his boss, U. S. Attorney Chauncey Tramultolo. The FBI then called on O'Gara, informed him that on May 28 they had been ordered by top officials in the Justice Department in Washington to investigate him on a complaint by Louise Haller, a notary public, who testified in the MacInnes narcotics case.

A committee from the Seward grand jury which had indicted MacInnes immediately came to O'Gara's defense, said there was no question in their minds between O'Gara and Miss Haller as to who was telling the truth.

Nevertheless, the case against O'Gara was presented to the grand jury, and on July 3, U. S. Judge Edward P. Murphy instructed the grand jury to conclude its deliberations within the next 48 hours.

On July 5, as the 48 hours were about to expire, the jury asked U. S. Attorney Tramutolo whether he wanted O'Gara indicted. His reply, in effect, was "It's up to you."

O'Gara was not indicted. The grand jury was all too familiar with his attempts to clean up the San Francisco Internal Revenue office—attempts now belatedly but fully justified.

NOTE—Most important thing to remember about the San Francisco clean-up and other tax irregularities around the country is that federal tax collectors and judges owe their appointment to individual senators or local bosses. Thus, some of them tend to do not what is good for all the American people, but what is good for the men who appoint them.

Diamond Lil, finest lady sports publicist since the field was opened to the stronger sex, has promoted more scraps than Weill, Mike Jacobs and the late Jimmy Johnston combined.

The essential cause for World War I was the German invasion of every field of British economic activity, including heavy machinery and textiles. After World War I, Japan entered these economic areas with startling success, particularly in shipping and textiles. The Japanese were astonishingly competent in China, Malaya, India and North Africa, with the result that a mounting antagonism developed between Great Britain and Japan. This was emphatically notable after the termination of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance in 1922.

World War II left Great Britain prostrate and dependent upon the United States. If any country can be said to have lost World War II, from the standpoint of costs, that country is Great Britain. The United States came to the rescue with lend-lease, with various devices worked out at Bretton Woods (1944), with the British loan of $3,750,000,000, with the Marshall Plan which became ECA, with Point Four that aids British-controlled or former British colonial areas, with European military aid which grew into the general term, NATO, with tariff controls favoring British exports to the United States, and with many other economic devices which have assisted the British.

The fact does stand that with all the aid that the United States has given Great Britain, at unbelievably great direct and indirect costs to the American people, the Socialist government of Great Britain is again in trouble and the likelihood is that Great Britain will not be able to meet its obligations to us under the loan agreement. In fact, the situation is becoming so tight that a general election is being held to achieve either a vote of confidence for the Socialists or to produce a government under Winston Churchill, who would then speak to this country in those accents which our people so love, but it will have to do with dollars.

To save Great Britain and what is left of the British Empire, many Americans believe that the solution is an economic union between the two countries. As far back as 1945 there was talk of this. Now that NATO is an actuality, the talk, in private still, is more vehement. One argument is that Europe is accustomed to British leadership, which must be maintained if Western Europe is to be useful in a war or in war-prevention against Russia. Europe is, it is said, unaccustomed to American methods and irked by the type of leadership the United States offers.

I do not know whether anyone in American public life will have the courage to propound this program to the American people, but as their economic activities are studied, it is becoming increasingly clear that this is the program and that we are being moved into such a union.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Again the problem of a decision in Korea has risen to haunt the government here. People in all parts of the country are writing to members of Congress about it. They want to know where all the "fantastic weapons" are that President Truman referred to several weeks ago. They want to know why they aren't being used.

For a while, as the cease-fire talks dawdled along, the nation had the impression that hostilities were not being pressed too hard by either side. The Defense Department here went so far as to emphasize that there were no UN casualties on one certain day. Certainly the losses for a few weeks seemed light to everybody—except, of course, to the "next of kin." Then came the bloody fighting at "Heartbreak Ridge." It started a new wave of criticism.

Public Attitude Stiffening

As long as there seemed to be hope for a peaceful settlement, the pressure on Congress to do something about the Korean situation was alleviated. Now, as it is evident that the Communists are playing tricks with the situation, the public attitude is stiffening and there are demands that something be done.

The administration has taken cognizance of the growing dissatisfaction. General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has gone to the Far East and he is accompanied by Charles Bohlen, counsellor of the Department of State. The trip is described officially as without significance other than to check up on what is happening. But whatever purpose the government has in mind by the trip would hardly be disclosed in any official announcement.

The statements by Generals Ridgway and Van Fleet have been issued in the last 48 hours in an attempt to give the public an idea of what is happening on the military front. The need for the offensive, even though of a limited nature, which has just been carried on is explained and an effort made to justify it. It is plain that the two statements are of a kind calculated to respond to criticism. If it is being assumed that the American aggressiveness in the fighting lately has been unnecessary, then the two statements tell why that's a wrong assumption.

But beneath the whole situation is the realization here that things cannot go on much longer the way they have. The first step is to inform the Reds that something very terrible is going to happen to them if they continue to dillydally with the cease-fire talks and keep on issuing propaganda messages about "violations" of the neutral zone. General Ridgway is now hinting at that very thing. Last March General MacArthur issued such a warning to the Communist armies and their leaders, that the UN might get tough, whereupon it was solemnly declared in news dispatches from European Allied countries and also in statements by administration officials that this was a move which never should have been made and that it might provoke Russian entrance into the war.

Expansion Is Likely

But now, after President Truman's recent speeches saying that force alone talks in international affairs when the enemy is ruthless and unprincipled, it does look as if expansion of the war in Korea is a likely step.

The Communist radio suspects that something is in the wind. It has declared that new amphibious landings by the UN forces are in prospect. It has said that the UN forces also are planning to use atomic weapons. Maybe that's a "fishing expedition"—an effort to find out what the allies are up to. But there are not many moves left. If the UN forces do have atomic weapons, they'll find public opinion in America demanding that they be used and the situation clarified. If they haven't any such weapons, then a step-up in the use of heavy artillery and conventional bombing are the alternatives.

In any case, the American people have not been prepared for an endless war and another winter for more than 300,000 American boys in and around Korea with no present sign that any other nation is going to help on the "rotation" plan by providing any substantial number of replacements. It is by far the most delicate problem before the government today, and a climax of some kind may be expected in the whole Korean picture before another month has passed.

The Navy reduced Yoeman 3rd Class Hopping for grouching over Navy cooking. There's a lesson in his case. Never take your books to school with you.

Now Hopping is in worse than a cross-eyed man's latch key. He will be pointed out forever as a man without a country cousin.

They tell me the Navy cooking is better than we got in the artillery. There's a rail to lean over.

Mates, we'll sing the chantey round while manning the stomach pumps.

The Old Second Guesser

By JOHN N. WHEELER

You Can't Take It With You

"You can't take it with you," say the wiseacres.

I guess they are right with the taxes nowadays and those in prospect, so you might as well spend it while you have it, and the dollars will buy something. That's what my friend, Charles Francis Coe, thought the other night when he gave a sumptuous spread at the Park Lane, attended by the sports of the town, actors, wits, editors, writers, and yours truly.

Mr. Coe, a former author, is now a prominent lawyer in Florida and publisher and editor of both the newspapers in West Palm Beach—a versatile fellow, a splendid companion, and a genial host. To his cronies, he is known as Socker for, years ago, he served a hitch in the United States Navy where he made quite a record as a boxer, winning the middleweight championship.

The affair was lively from the start. Roland Young, the Thespian, told a success story about how stewards on trans-Atlantic liners are trained to meet any situation without being nonplussed. He illustrated the tale by acting out the parts of the various characters which showed he is a talented wit. A couple of other fellows came up with some old stories which wouldn't be funny if new, and got a few polite guffaws. Ring Lardner used to have a formula to shut off these narrators. When a guy would ask him if he had heard the one about the female alligators, he would reply.

"Yes." Sometimes it worked.

The host is a fascinating raconteur and with some persuasion reported on the time Leon Errol, the comedian with the rubber legs, and he visited Charles G. Dawes when he was ambassador to England. Mr. Errol played the part of the second butler with some success and to the consternation of the more dignified British guests. When his identity was disclosed, Ramsay MacDonald, then Prime Minister, engaged him in conversation about the theater.

"If I like a show," said the statesman enthusiastically, "I often go to see it eight or ten times."

"When I don't get it the second trip, to hell with it," replied the comedian.

"Socker, tell them the story of how you won the middleweight championship of the Navy," suggested Roy Howard, the newspaper publisher.

Rather reluctantly our host agreed.

"There was a sailor named Veesock, his square moniker, who was going to box me for the title, and I figured I could beat him without too much trouble. Our pay ran only something like $29 a month, so a lot of my friends, hoping to pick up a little extra cash, I found, had bet he could last eight rounds with me.

"'Let him stay,' one of them urged. 'Think of my wife and kid.' I gave him a nod, and everybody and his brother began to put up their money on the same proposition.

"My opponent took sick, and the bout was called off about a week before the date. I quit training and ate a lot of mangoes and other junk not nourishing for a boxer, including some medicine the ship's doctor gave me which was an allopathic dose. Then Veesock suddenly got better, and the Admiral announced the fight was on. A big crowd gathered, including officers in their whites and some wives, even.

"By the end of the second round, I had cramps so bad I knew I couldn't last the eight and had to get away from there promptly. When the bell rang for round 3, I walked out and hit Mr. Veesock on the whiskers and down he went for the count. I certainly lost a lot of pals in the U. S. Navy who never understood nor would they believe my explanation."

This is not reported in Socker's picturesque style, or with all the gruesome details, but it still seems to be worth telling, letting the reader use his imagination.

Yes, a newspaperman leads an interesting life.

NEW YORK.—Nobody has to be told at this time about the work that USO Camp Shows has done, over the last eight or nine years, to keep American soldiers from going out of their minds with boredom and depression. However, it's possible that a lot of people think that the organization folded its tent and stole away when World War II ended. It is a pleasure to report today that it's still going strong at the old stand in the East Forties, and that it has more than a dozen units—a unit usually being a dancing team, an accordionist, a ventriloquist and a singer, or six to eight such performers—either overseas or on the way.

I had a long talk today with a slim, good-looking blonde named Sunny Dale, who's just on the verge of heading across the big drink to Korea with a unit. She's a straight girl, or stooge, for a comedian named Frank Conville, and I wanted to talk to her because she spent most of the last war entertaining troops at Saipan, Iwo Jima, in Japan, Germany, and just about everywhere else that Mars was rearing its ugly head.

I wanted to know why she was going back. Maybe she just needed the job. I didn't know. Maybe she'd been spoiled by those soldier audiences. They have said that a performer can just wiggle her finger and the grateful GIs laugh.

Miss Dale eyed herself in her hand mirror, flecked away a bit of powder base, and thought for a moment. "Well I guess because it is satisfying," she said, "—but more than that, it's the only thing important that I can think of for me to do.

"Everybody agrees it's important. So I do it. It isn't any good to talk about it and do it a year from now. I do it now. I can always work for the general public."

Well, we talked like that for a while, and when we were through, I was all set to cast Sunny in my movie—the one I'm always going to make—as the showgirl with a heart of gold. Because, funny thing, she is. I asked her if she had any close calls, near the front lines, in the last war. "Sure," she said, grinning, "but they weren't important. Unless you're killed, it isn't important."

* * *

Lunch this afternoon with Kim Hunter, who was called Janet Cole when she was a Detroit schoolgirl before David O. Selznick made a movie actress and loused up her nice real name, was a departure from the ordinary because Miss Hunter brought along her six-year-old daughter, Kathy.

Miss Hunter, a divorcee, lives in a comfortable little apartment hotel in East 49th Street with Kathy—just the two of them—and they make, as we used to say in fourth term, a pretty hot-looking pair. Both are extremely handsome and both are nicely behaved. While I talked with Kim, for example, Kathy chewed placidly and mediatatively on a pawn from a chess set she had just been given.

I asked Miss Hunter if there were many great problems attached to raising a young daughter all by herself, and she said she couldn't really tell because hers was a special case.

"When you're an actress in that situation," she said, "the problems are much bigger. However, we made out fine. When I was appearing last winter with Claude Rains in "Darkness and Noon," I don't think Kathy missed a matinee backstage with me. She wore sneakers, you see, and hardly made a noise, to bother anyone.

"Later today, for instance, I have to read for a part in a new play, and the best thing to do with Kathy is take her with me. It works out fine."

Because Miss Hunter, bless her soul, is a transplanted professional New Yorker—like some of the rest of us, she thinks there's no place else on earth—she defends the raising of Kathy in the city as being perfectly sound. I defend it with her, too.

You should see some of those "poor, starved, sunlight-hungry" city kids down in the Washington Square playground. They're healthy as oxen and smarter than a blacksnake whip. "The only thing," Kim said, "is that she can't run outside and play. And while that's a big item, the city has its compensations."

You will soon see Miss Hunter on the screen in the virtually perfect movie, "A Streetcar Named Desire," and it is hard to see how her performance in that one can be improved upon.

When you will see Miss Hunter after that, I cannot say. She is, as they say in the trade, at liberty, and shopping around for a good new play. It is likely that before she accepts any new part, however, that the junior half of the firm will have to pass judgment on it.

Many disfiguring irregularities yield to medical or surgical skill. Here's treatment for varicose veins.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

It is your duty to yourself and to those around you to be as attractive as you can. When any disfiguring change takes place in your physique, seek competent advice on its correction quickly. Delay may only make it more difficult to cure—and your health and comfort may be irrevocably diminished, along with your appearance.

A case in point is this letter I received from Atlanta: "I am troubled by varicose veins. They look swollen, blue and awful under my stockings. What can I do about them?"

Aid for Varicose Veins

There's a problem that any family doctor can do much to allay. Varicose veins are easily treated if handled in time. A simple operation will cut off and close the ailing veins so that they shrink to invisibility. An alternate treatment consists of a series of painless injections which do not incapacitate you at all during the period in which the veins are being reduced.

In the interim, there are several cover-ups that will greatly lessen varicose disfigurements. Unless the veins are very prominent, leg make-up or the new hand cosmetics can be worn under the stockings and will do a fine bit of camouflaging. Be sure the shade you select exactly matches the skin on your legs and then apply three coats, allowing each coat to dry before applying the next.

If the veins are conspicuously distended, hide them with flesh colored skin patches, which you can make out of moleskin. It is available at the drug store. Cut a patch that is a mere fraction larger than a discolored area and press it firmly over the spot. Although these patches are detectable at close range, they will escape any notice unless you direct attention to them.

Also, elastic hose are available in flesh color to be worn under nylons, which hide the culprits and help allay the uncomfortable swelling of the feet and ankles that is part of the affliction.

As with all beauty hazards, prevention is the best cure. To avoid varicose veins or to prevent additional ones, do not stand or sit for long, extended periods. Avoid too tight foundations, pinching shoes, and constricting round garters. Regular walks and systematic exercise (with your doctor's permission) are excellent preventatives—as well as terrific leg shapers!

B-P Women Hear Talk By Lucile Roeder

"You've often heard it said, 'Never underestimate the power of a woman," was one of the opening remarks of Mrs. Lucile Roeder's speech on "Full Partnership for the Year Ahead," at a recent meeting of Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, "but we are failing to do what can be done and should be done," she added.

She particularly stressed that one of women's greatest privileges is the right to vote, but that more need to use that privilege. Discussing the solution of this problem, Mrs. Roeder urged increasing educational opportunities so as to be able to vote intelligently, reducing ignorance and bringing out the young people. She commented favorably on the work of the Homemakers clubs under Miss Maude Bean, throughout the county, in that the women found that they "could get up on their feet and give a worthwhile report."

The speaker also commented on the fact that while "women did a lot of leg work during any election" they were ignored when any jobs were being passed around. Mrs. Roeder discussed women in politics and the need for women to learn what is needed and work for better conditions in government.

Mrs. Roeder and Miss Olive Simpson were chairmen of the Public Affairs Committee which handled the program. Other members on the committee are Mrs. Helen Clay Johnson, Mrs. Elizabeth Philson and Miss Anna McGraw, Miss Grace Maxwell, Miss Geraldine and Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard.

The next meeting will be held at Frostburg State Teachers College on October 8. The program will center around "Maryland Land Week." Mrs. Alma Durst and Mrs. Elizabeth Mollis are chairmen and Mrs. Roberta McFarland, Miss Mary White and Miss Verna Wills are members of the ways and means committee handling the program.

NEW YORK.—Nobody has to be told at this time about the work that USO Camp Shows has done, over the last eight or nine years, to keep American soldiers from going out of their minds with boredom and depression. However, it's possible that a lot of people think that the organization folded its tent and stole away when World War II ended. It is a pleasure to report today that it's still going strong at the old stand in the East Forties, and that it has more than a dozen units—a unit usually being a dancing team, an accordionist, a ventriloquist and a singer, or six to eight such performers—either overseas or on the way.

I had a long talk today with a slim, good-looking blonde named Sunny Dale, who's just on the verge of heading across the big drink to Korea with a unit. She's a straight girl, or stooge, for a comedian named Frank Conville, and I wanted to talk to her because she spent most of the last war entertaining troops at Saipan, Iwo Jima, in Japan, Germany, and just about everywhere else that Mars was rearing its ugly head.

I wanted to know why she was going back. Maybe she just needed the job. I didn't know. Maybe she'd been spoiled by those soldier audiences. They have said that a performer can just wiggle her finger and the grateful GIs laugh.

Miss Dale eyed herself in her hand mirror, flecked away a bit of powder base, and thought for a moment. "Well I guess because it is satisfying," she said, "—but more than that, it's the only thing important that I can think of for me to do.

"Everybody agrees it's important. So I do it. It isn't any good to talk about it and do it a year from now. I do it now. I can always work for the general public."

Well, we talked like that for a while, and when we were through, I was all set to cast Sunny in my movie—the one I'm always going to make—as the showgirl with a heart of gold. Because, funny thing, she is. I asked her if she had any close calls, near the front lines, in the last war. "Sure," she said, grinning, "but they weren't important. Unless you're killed, it isn't important."

* * *

Lunch this afternoon with Kim Hunter, who was called Janet Cole when she was a Detroit schoolgirl before David O. Selznick made a movie actress and loused up her nice real name, was a departure from the ordinary because Miss Hunter brought along her six-year-old daughter, Kathy.

Miss Hunter, a divorcee, lives in a comfortable little apartment hotel in East 49th Street with Kathy—just the two of them—and they make, as we used to say in fourth term, a pretty hot-looking pair. Both are extremely handsome and both are nicely behaved. While I talked with Kim, for example, Kathy chewed placidly and mediatatively on a pawn from a chess set she had just been given.

I asked Miss Hunter if there were many great problems attached to raising a young daughter all by herself, and she said she couldn't really tell because hers was a special case.

"When you're an actress in that situation," she said, "the problems are much bigger. However, we made out fine. When I was appearing last winter with Claude Rains in "Darkness and Noon," I don't think Kathy missed a matinee backstage with me. She wore sneakers, you see, and hardly made a noise, to bother anyone.

"Later today, for instance, I have to read for a part in a new play, and the best thing to do with Kathy is take her with me. It works out fine."

Because Miss Hunter, bless her soul, is a transplanted professional New Yorker—like some of the rest of us, she thinks there's no place else on earth—she defends the raising of Kathy in the city as being perfectly sound. I defend it with her, too.

You should see some of those "poor, starved, sunlight-hungry" city kids down in the Washington Square playground. They're healthy as oxen and smarter than a blacksnake whip. "The only thing," Kim said, "is that she can't run outside and play. And while that's a big item, the city has its compensations."

You will soon see Miss Hunter on the screen in the virtually perfect movie, "A Streetcar Named Desire," and it is hard to see how her performance in that one can be improved upon.

When you will see Miss Hunter after that, I cannot say. She is, as they say in the trade, at liberty, and shopping around for a good new play. It is likely that before she accepts any new part, however, that the junior half of the firm will have to pass judgment on it.

Many disfiguring irregularities yield to medical or surgical skill. Here's treatment for varicose veins.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

It is your duty to yourself and to those around you to be as attractive as you can. When any disfiguring change takes place in your physique, seek competent advice on its correction quickly. Delay may only make it more difficult to cure—and your health and comfort may be irrevocably diminished, along with your appearance.

A case in point is this letter I received from Atlanta: "I am troubled by varicose veins. They look swollen, blue and awful under my stockings. What can I do about them?"

Aid for Varicose Veins

There's a problem that any family doctor can do much to allay. Varicose veins are easily treated if handled in time. A simple operation will cut off and close the ailing veins so that they shrink to invisibility. An alternate treatment consists of a series of painless injections which do not incapacitate you at all during the period in which the veins are being reduced.

In the interim, there are several cover-ups that will greatly lessen varicose disfigurements. Unless the veins are very prominent, leg makeup or the new hand cosmetics can be worn under the stockings and will do a fine bit of camouflaging. Be sure the shade you select exactly matches the skin on your legs and then apply three coats, allowing each coat to dry before applying the next.

If the veins are conspicuously distended, hide them with flesh colored skin patches, which you can make out of moleskin. It is available at the drug store. Cut a patch that is a mere fraction larger than a discolored area and press it firmly over the spot. Although these patches are detectable at close range, they will escape any notice unless you direct attention to them.

Also, elastic hose are available in flesh color to be worn under nylons, which hide the culprits and help allay the uncomfortable swelling of the feet and ankles that is part of the affliction.

As with all beauty hazards, prevention is the best cure. To avoid varicose veins or to prevent additional ones, do not stand or sit for long, extended periods. Avoid too tight foundations, pinching shoes, and constricting round garters. Regular walks and systematic exercise (with your doctor's permission) are excellent preventatives—as well as terrific leg shapers!

B-P Women Hear Talk By Lucile Roeder

"You've often heard it said, 'Never underestimate the power of a woman," was one of the opening remarks of Mrs. Lucile Roeder's speech on "Full Partnership for the Year Ahead," at a recent meeting of Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, "but we are failing to do what can be done and should be done," she added.

She particularly stressed that one of women's greatest privileges is the right to vote, but that more need to use that privilege. Discussing the solution of this problem, Mrs. Roeder urged increasing educational opportunities so as to be able to vote intelligently, reducing ignorance and bringing out the young people. She commented favorably on the work of the Homemakers clubs under Miss Maude Bean, throughout the county, in that the women found that they "could get up on their feet and give a worthwhile report."

The speaker also commented on the fact that while "women did a lot of leg work during any election" they were ignored when any jobs were being passed around. Mrs. Roeder discussed women in politics and the need for women to learn what is needed and work for better conditions in government.

Mrs. Roeder and Miss Olive Simpson were chairmen of the Public Affairs Committee which handled the program. Other members on the committee are Mrs. Helen Clay Johnson, Mrs. Elizabeth Philson and Miss Anna McGraw, Miss Grace Maxwell, Miss Geraldine and Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard.

The next meeting will be held at Frostburg State Teachers College on October 8. The program will center around "Maryland Land Week." Mrs. Alma Durst and Mrs. Elizabeth Mollis are chairmen and Mrs. Roberta McFarland, Miss Mary White and Miss Verna Wills are members of the ways and means committee handling the program.

License Board Delays Decision In "Circle" Case

A hearing was held by the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County yesterday at the Court House for the operators of Circle Inn.

Following testimony of two inspectors for the board and statements by William C. Walsh, attorney for the defendants, the board withheld a decision pending study of the testimony.

Operators of the inn were charged with failure to have bottles and glasses removed from tables at the 1 a. m. deadline on August 26. Sales of intoxicants can be made until midnight with the removal of all bottles and glasses from the bar and tables required by 1 a. m.

William T. Porter, of Frostburg, one of the inspectors, told the board when he entered the inn about 1:30 a. m. on August 26 he did not see any violations in the bar room at the front of the inn but that four glasses of beer were on a table just inside the partition which separates the bar room from the dance floor.

His testimony to the effect that a man walked out of the dance section into the bar room with a bottle of whisky in his coat pocket was stricken out on the objection of Walsh. The board sustained the objection with the comment that the man who had the bottle of whiskey was violating the law and that the owners of the inn had warned him not to open the bottle on the premises.

Walsh, in his opening statement, said the operators of the inn were desirous of making sure no violations or possible violations could be made in the future by having the beer license transferred to the Circle Inn drive-in restaurant, which is located across a driveway from the inn.

The attorney also pointed out that the inn operators had not been convicted of any violations since they had been in charge during the last 22 months and that no complaints had been received by the board on the manner in which it was operated.

Meanwhile, Harold E. Naughton, attorney for the operators of Midway Inn, which had its beer license revoked by the board two weeks ago, said that plans to appeal the decision have been dropped and the license surrendered to the board.

Court attaches remarked that the will was one of the most brief ever filed here. The document contained only four lines and the necessary signatures of the principals and witnesses.

Warren Mellinger, 312 Mt. View Drive, husband of the deceased, obtained letters of administration on the estate. He was named the sole beneficiary.

Suit Is Settled Out Of Court

An out-of-court settlement has resulted in the dismissal of a $30,000 damage suit of Mrs. Stella Hanlin, Lonaconing, against Dr. Thomas E. Bess, Keyser, W. Va., in federal court at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Attorney Edward J. Ryan, this city, attorney for the plaintiff, informed Judge William E. Baker Monday afternoon a settlement had been reached. Judge Baker dismissed the case.

Mrs. Hanlin, according to Ryan, was riding in a car operated by her husband, Pete Hanlin, May 15, 1950, when a car owned by Dr. Bess and driven by William O'Conner, now in the armed forces, failed to make a curve and crashed into the Hanlin machine. No process was served on O'Conner and he did not appear.

Mrs. Hanlin testified she has to wear a brace on her back and will be required to do so for the remainder of her life, cannot do her housework or work at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company where she was employed.

The case was dismissed before cross examination by Dr. Bess' counsel, Attorney Decatur H. Rodgers, Jr., Martinsburg. Ryan was assisted by Clarence E. Martin, Martinsburg.

Willison Named Liquor Inspector

Edward R. Willison, of Baltimore Pike, yesterday was named a part time inspector for the Board of License Commissioners of Allegany County.

He succeeds Donald W. Young, this city, who resigned.

Willison, a veteran of World War II, is well known as a local taxicab operator. His stand is in front of the Court House.

Demos Named On Committees

About a score of members of Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland are expected to attend the 1951 convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America opening today at the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, according to Miss Gene H. Miller, of Cumberland and Annapolis, national committeewoman for Maryland.

Marylanders have already received recognition in the form of important committee assignments, Miss Miller said. These include Richard E. Lankford, Annapolis, credentials committee; Joseph D. Tydings, Havre de Grace, rules committee; James C. Morton, Jr., Annapolis, permanent organization committee, and Miss Miller, resolutions committee.

In addition, Mr. Morton, as president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland, Mr. Tydings, as national committeeman, and Miss Miller, as national committeewoman, will represent the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland on the committee of national organization.

The convention will open today with meetings of national officers and regional directors as well as several committee sessions and continue through Saturday.

Elks To Initiate Class Tonight

A class of 19 candidates will be initiated into Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, tonight honoring the district deputy grand exalted ruler, E. J. DeMoss, Towson, who will make his official visit.

Included in the class are D. L. McIntyre, Dr. Alex M. Sloan, Paul J. Stein, Jr., F. H. Mattingly, W. H. Bowden, Joseph E. Mackert, E. Carl Kight, William F. Baker, William C. Day, Jr., Harry E. Fraley, Robert E. Pence, Robert C. Workman, H. F. Hartman, H. E. Douglass, Benjamin Hughes, Jr., E. J. Monaghan, James E. Mellon, S. Edward Hutson and C. H. Middendorf, Jr.

Following the session, a buffet luncheon will be served, according to Exalted Ruler George A. Caswell.

The lodge is observing National Newspaper Week and Caswell in behalf of the organization yesterday lauded the work of the Cumberland Evening Times, Cumberland Sunday Times and the Cumberland News.

Pointing out that a free press is part of the foundation of American Freedom, Caswell noted the many civic enterprises in which the papers here play a large part.

He said the Grand Lodge and its subordinate groups are pledged to uphold the freedom of the press.

O'Conor Will Give Report During "Whistle Stop" Tour

BALTIMORE— (AP) —Senator O'Conor (D-Md) announced yesterday he soon will embark on a "whistle stop" tour of Maryland, reporting to the people what he and Congress have been doing.

The Senator didn't say anything about it in his announcement, but he is expected to run for re-election next year. He is rounding out his first six-year term in the Senate.

The county-by-county tour is to start as soon as the present session of Congress adjourns. Most of its leaders are hopeful that will be sometime late this month.

O'Conor said he plans to address civic and business groups, veterans organizations, labor unions, and school groups.

Beyond that, he hopes to conduct "man-on-the-street" interviews in every section he visits, asking what people think about current problems, national and international.

In his speeches, he plans to explain the reasons behind his votes on major legislation while he has been a senator—on military preparedness, the Communist menace, financial policies, social legislation and veterans programs, universal military training, merchant marine problems, farm legislation, and labor laws.

O'Conor was elected in 1946 by the slim margin of 1,600 votes over D. John Markey, Walkersville Republican. Since then, Maryland has elected a Republican to its other seat in the U. S. Senate. John Marshall Butler won in a landslide last year over Millard E. Tydings, who had served many years and was a nationally prominent Democrat.

One of the things Tydings blames for his defeat was that Congress remained in session most of last year and he had to stay in Washington so much he didn't get a chance to campaign. Only in the last few weeks did he tour the state intensively.

Markey has indicated he will seek the Republican nomination again next year. Several other Republicans have made campaign gestures.

State Crop Conditions Generally Good

COLLEGE PARK.—(AP)—The numerous showers throughout Maryland last week helped farmers to some extent, but the rainfall was too light to give the soil the moisture it needs for fall plowing and germination of fall-planted crops.

There was a bright side to the dry weather, Maryland's cooperative crop reporters found. Conditions were perfect for rounding out the harvest of a generally fine crop year. Tobacco in the curing barns, for example, was in excellent condition.

It was the final weekly crop report of the year for the Farm Extension Service at the University of Maryland, the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the Weather Bureau.

Most of the fighting in the "War of 1812" took place in 1813 and 1814.

The will of Mrs. Georgia Kephart Mellinger, this city, who died May 14, 1949, was admitted to probate in Orphans Court.

Court attaches remarked that the will was one of the most brief ever filed here. The document contained only four lines and the necessary signatures of the principals and witnesses.

Warren Mellinger, 312 Mt. View Drive, husband of the deceased, obtained letters of administration on the estate. He was named the sole beneficiary.

Suit Is Settled Out Of Court

An out-of-court settlement has resulted in the dismissal of a $30,000 damage suit of Mrs. Stella Hanlin, Lonaconing, against Dr. Thomas E. Bess, Keyser, W. Va., in federal court at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Attorney Edward J. Ryan, this city, attorney for the plaintiff, informed Judge William E. Baker Monday afternoon a settlement had been reached. Judge Baker dismissed the case.

Mrs. Hanlin, according to Ryan, was riding in a car operated by her husband, Pete Hanlin, May 15, 1950, when a car owned by Dr. Bess and driven by William O'Conner, now in the armed forces, failed to make a curve and crashed into the Hanlin machine. No process was served on O'Conner and he did not appear.

Mrs. Hanlin testified she has to wear a brace on her back and will be required to do so for the remainder of her life, cannot do her housework or work at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company where she was employed.

The case was dismissed before cross examination by Dr. Bess' counsel, Attorney Decatur H. Rodgers, Jr., Martinsburg. Ryan was assisted by Clarence E. Martin, Martinsburg.

Demos Named On Committees

About a score of members of Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland are expected to attend the 1951 convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America opening today at the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, according to Miss Gene H. Miller, of Cumberland and Annapolis, national committeewoman for Maryland.

Marylanders have already received recognition in the form of important committee assignments, Miss Miller said. These include Richard E. Lankford, Annapolis, credentials committee; Joseph D. Tydings, Havre de Grace, rules committee; James C. Morton, Jr., Annapolis, permanent organization committee, and Miss Miller, resolutions committee.

In addition, Mr. Morton, as president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland, Mr. Tydings, as national committeeman, and Miss Miller, as national committeewoman, will represent the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland on the committee of national organization.

The convention will open today with meetings of national officers and regional directors as well as several committee sessions and continue through Saturday.

Elks To Initiate Class Tonight

A class of 19 candidates will be initiated into Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, tonight honoring the district deputy grand exalted ruler, E. J. DeMoss, Towson, who will make his official visit.

Included in the class are D. L. McIntyre, Dr. Alex M. Sloan, Paul J. Stein, Jr., F. H. Mattingly, W. H. Bowden, Joseph E. Mackert, E. Carl Kight, William F. Baker, William C. Day, Jr., Harry E. Fraley, Robert E. Pence, Robert C. Workman, H. F. Hartman, H. E. Douglass, Benjamin Hughes, Jr., E. J. Monaghan, James E. Mellon, S. Edward Hutson and C. H. Middendorf, Jr.

Following the session, a buffet luncheon will be served, according to Exalted Ruler George A. Caswell.

The lodge is observing National Newspaper Week and Caswell in behalf of the organization yesterday lauded the work of the Cumberland Evening Times, Cumberland Sunday Times and the Cumberland News.

Pointing out that a free press is part of the foundation of American Freedom, Caswell noted the many civic enterprises in which the papers here play a large part.

He said the Grand Lodge and its subordinate groups are pledged to uphold the freedom of the press.

O'Conor Will Give Report During "Whistle Stop" Tour

BALTIMORE— (AP) —Senator O'Conor (D-Md) announced yesterday he soon will embark on a "whistle stop" tour of Maryland, reporting to the people what he and Congress have been doing.

The Senator didn't say anything about it in his announcement, but he is expected to run for re-election next year. He is rounding out his first six-year term in the Senate.

The county-by-county tour is to start as soon as the present session of Congress adjourns. Most of its leaders are hopeful that will be sometime late this month.

O'Conor said he plans to address civic and business groups, veterans organizations, labor unions, and school groups.

Beyond that, he hopes to conduct "man-on-the-street" interviews in every section he visits, asking what people think about current problems, national and international.

In his speeches, he plans to explain the reasons behind his votes on major legislation while he has been a senator—on military preparedness, the Communist menace, financial policies, social legislation and veterans programs, universal military training, merchant marine problems, farm legislation, and labor laws.

O'Conor was elected in 1946 by the slim margin of 1,600 votes over D. John Markey, Walkersville Republican. Since then, Maryland has elected a Republican to its other seat in the U. S. Senate. John Marshall Butler won in a landslide last year over Millard E. Tydings, who had served many years and was a nationally prominent Democrat.

One of the things Tydings blames for his defeat was that Congress remained in session most of last year and he had to stay in Washington so much he didn't get a chance to campaign. Only in the last few weeks did he tour the state intensively.

Markey has indicated he will seek the Republican nomination again next year. Several other Republicans have made campaign gestures.

State Crop Conditions Generally Good

COLLEGE PARK.—(AP)—The numerous showers throughout Maryland last week helped farmers to some extent, but the rainfall was too light to give the soil the moisture it needs for fall plowing and germination of fall-planted crops.

There was a bright side to the dry weather, Maryland's cooperative crop reporters found. Conditions were perfect for rounding out the harvest of a generally fine crop year. Tobacco in the curing barns, for example, was in excellent condition.

It was the final weekly crop report of the year for the Farm Extension Service at the University of Maryland, the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the Weather Bureau.

Churchill Wants To Head Another British Coalition

LIVERPOOL, England, Oct. 2 (AP)—Winston Churchill tonight guardedly promised to revive Britain's wartime coalition government in order to fight through world dangers and economic crises if his Conservatives win the national election Oct. 25.

Greeted by a tumultous ovation from thousands who threw flowers and raised his old "V for Victory" sign, the 76-year-old Churchill clearly indicated in his first election speech that he wants to head a "broadly based" cabinet of Conservatives, socialists and liberals.

"This will be no vindictive triumph for Tories over socialists," he pledges, "no dull exclusion of liberal and independent forces, but rather a period of healing and revival."

"What we need is a period of steady, stable administration by a broadly based government wielding the national power and content to serve the nation's interest rather than give party satisfaction.

"What is required is a government with the power to carry on a tolerant, non-partisan, non-doctrinaire system of policy for a considerable time.

"I ask for a substantial and solid majority to bring an end to this period of unavoidable but mischievious party strife, to let the nation get on with its work with the least political interference and to promote the greatest measure of agreement among ourselves."

His address before a party rally of 6,000 in Liverpool Stadium caught the British people by surprise. There has not been the least hint that Prime Minister Attlee's Labor Party would react with favor to a bid to serve in a cabinet under Conservative leadership.

Princess, Duke Rush Preparations For Trip

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP) — Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh rushed preparations tonight for their trip to Canada, delayed by anxiety over the condition of King George VI. He is gaining strength after a lung operation.

It was announced that the princess, heiress presumptive to the throne, and her husband will start their flight to Montreal at 12:30 a. m. Monday (6:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time Sunday).

Confidence prevailed at Buckingham Palace that there would be no further postpnoement of their journey, which originally was to have been started by sea Sept. 25.

Bricker Assails Truman Order

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) today denounced President Truman's clampdown on some types of government news as a "gag order" and an insult to Congress and the nation's press.

In a speech to the Senate, Bricker declared:

"A free people will demand the repeal of this disgusting iron curtain order of the President.

"The sweeping nature of this executive order suggests that Mr. Truman is more concerned with suppressing information relative to corruption, disloyalty and the general incompetence which is the trade mark of his administration."

Mr. Truman issued the controversial order a week ago, promptly arousing widespread protests from members of Congress, editors and others on the ground that it constituted an invasion of this country's age-old tradition of freedom of the press.

The order authorizes more than 60 federal agencies to withhold information from the public when deemed necessary for national security. The Defense and State Departments have had such authority all along.

Mr. Truman said in issuing the order that it contained no element of censorship, either direct or implied. He also declared it should not be used to hamper the free flow of news to the public.

With protests mounting on Capitol Hill, the White House said yesterday Mr. Truman has no intention of withdrawing the order.

Maryland May Be Asked To Issue Diplomatic Tags

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Maryland and Virginia may be asked to issue diplomatic auto tags to foreign diplomats.

The District of Columbia commissioners refused today to grant diplomatic tags to diplomats living in Virginia or Maryland suburbs.

It acted on recommendation of George Keneipp, Washington traffic director, who said it would be preferable for the two states to issue the tags. Such tags carry diplomatic immunity from traffic regulations.

Keneipp said he will suggest to the State Department that it request the states to issue diplomatic tags.

German Ex-Soldiers Organization Warned

BONN, Germany, Oct. 2 (AP)—The West German government today warned the new and powerful German ex-soldiers organization not to split the nation by meddling in politics.

At the same time it was officially announced that the government would ask parliament to vote funds for maintenance of destitute relatives of the plotters who unsuccessfully attempted to kill Hitler on July 20, 1944.

Both statements were made by a government spokesman after today's cabinet meeting. The cabinet, in its warning to the ex-soldiers, named no names but the reference to the July 20 plot made it clear they were aiming at recent attempts by ex-generals to brand the plotters as traitors.

Unwilling Cover Girl Asks Court For $5,000 Damages

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Pretty, blonde Mary O'Keefe of Baltimore asked the Court of Appeals for $5,000 today because her photograph was used on the front cover of a resort town magazine without her consent.

Her appeal was heard as Maryland's high court reconvened for a new term.

Miss O'Keefe, 19, said she posed for the bathing suit picture during the summer of 1950 on the beach at Ocean City, Maryland's only ocean resort.

Shortly afterward she and her family were "greatly mortified" when a copy of the picture appeared on the front cover of "The Visitor," a magazine which publicizes the attractions of Ocean City.

Attorneys for Miss O'Keefe said she "graciously consented" to have her picture snapped when she was "approached by a person purporting to be an amateur photographer," who asked permission to take her picture "in the pursuit of his hobby."

The attorneys contend, however, Miss O'Keefe's right of privacy was violated when the picture was published without her consent.

Rain, Wind Cause Florida Damage

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP)—Torrential rain and 60-mile winds caused widespread but minor damage in South Florida today as a tropical storm swept across the state from the Gulf of Mexico.

Heaviest winds were felt in Miami where sustained gales of 50 miles an hour and occasional gusts reaching 60 ripped awnings, sank about 50 small boats, broke a few windowpanes, sent palm fronds flying and bounced coconuts along streets.

Heavier damage occurred in the rich Lake Okeechobee region where more than 10 inches of rain in 24 hours flooded 7,000 acres of tomato and bean fields, causing losses tentatively estimated at $1,000,000.

Truman Salutes Hull On Birthday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)— Cordell Hull quietly observed his 80th birthday today, saluted by President Truman as "the father of the United Nations."

The former secretary of state and Nobel peace prize winner remained in his home at the Wardman Park Hotel. Physicians at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, where he recently had a physical checkup, said he is in good health.

Hull resigned as secretary of state in 1944 after 11 years in the job. The next year he was a delegate to the San Francisco conference establishing the United Nations. Previously, he served long tems in both houses of Congress.

La. Primaries Open To Negroes

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2 (AP)—Louisiana's Democratic primaries were thrown open to Negroes today—for the first time legally since reconstruction days — but slammed shut to Communists.

The State Central Democratic Committee, the party policy-making body in Louisiana, took the action.

The committee's resolution revised language of the committee's rules and added a new section.

The revision, dealing with qualifications of voters and candidates, struck out a phrase, "he shall be a white person," and substitute, "he shall be registered as a member of the Democratic Party."

The new section bars Communists.

Truman Salutes Hull On Birthday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)— Cordell Hull quietly observed his 80th birthday today, saluted by President Truman as "the father of the United Nations."

The former secretary of state and Nobel peace prize winner remained in his home at the Wardman Park Hotel. Physicians at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, where he recently had a physical checkup, said he is in good health.

Hull resigned as secretary of state in 1944 after 11 years in the job. The next year he was a delegate to the San Francisco conference establishing the United Nations. Previously, he served long tems in both houses of Congress.

FIRST TO SIGN—First woman ever to sign an international treaty for the U. S. is Eugenie Anderson (above), U. S. ambassador to Denmark. She signed a commercial pact between the two nations.

La. Primaries Open To Negroes

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2 (AP)—Louisiana's Democratic primaries were thrown open to Negroes today—for the first time legally since reconstruction days — but slammed shut to Communists.

The State Central Democratic Committee, the party policy-making body in Louisiana, took the action.

The committee's resolution revised language of the committee's rules and added a new section.

The revision, dealing with qualifications of voters and candidates, struck out a phrase, "he shall be a white person," and substitute, "he shall be registered as a member of the Democratic Party."

The new section bars Communists.

Who ASKED you?

Who asked you to pay for electricity used by people you never even heard of, a hundred or a thousand miles away?

Nobody! But you do help pay the bills for hundreds of thousands of favored people and hundreds of privileged businesses using electricity from certain federal power systems. Your taxes helped build those systems. Your taxes are used to subsidize service to their customers.

Who asked you to foot the bill so that this country could have socialized electricity?

Nobody! Yet, there are 72 federally owned power systems already in operation, under construction, or authorized at a total cost of over 10 billion dollars—and hundreds more are planned at a total cost of about 60 billion dollars. That's your money that's financing socialism!

Who asked you for permission to keep on building expensive socialistic power systems when every tax dollar and every pound of critical material is needed for defense?

Nobody! But the backers of socialized power are planning to use more of your tax money to build costly electric lines that actually duplicate facilities of business-managed companies! Why? To put the government further into useless and killing competition with business-managed companies.

Who asked you whether you have enough electric power or not?

Nobody! The "planners" who favor socialized electricity speak vaguely of a "power shortage." Yet, the business-managed companies have more than doubled this nation's power supply since Pearl Harbor. And they've got a lot more coming!

Who ASKED you?

Who asked you to pay for electricity used by people you never even heard of, a hundred or a thousand miles away?

Nobody! But you do help pay the bills for hundreds of thousands of favored people and hundreds of privileged businesses using electricity from certain federal power systems. Your taxes helped build those systems. Your taxes are used to subsidize service to their customers.

Who asked you to foot the bill so that this country could have socialized electricity?

Nobody! Yet, there are 72 federally owned power systems already in operation, under construction, or authorized at a total cost of over 10 billion dollars—and hundreds more are planned at a total cost of about 60 billion dollars. That's your money that's financing socialism!

Who asked you for permission to keep on building expensive socialistic power systems when every tax dollar and every pound of critical material is needed for defense?

Nobody! But the backers of socialized power are planning to use more of your tax money to build costly electric lines that actually duplicate facilities of business-managed companies! Why? To put the government further into useless and killing competition with business-managed companies.

Who asked you whether you have enough electric power or not?

Nobody! The "planners" who favor socialized electricity speak vaguely of a "power shortage." Yet, the business-managed companies have more than doubled this nation's power supply since Pearl Harbor. And they've got a lot more coming!

County Board Approves Bond For Treasurer

Bond of $100,000 for James W. Bishop, this city, who was named by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to the post of county treasurer, was approved by the board yesterday.

Bishop will serve the unexpired term of Frederick C. "Buck" Dreyer, who died last week.

The board yesterday also ordered that the books of the county treasurer be audited for July, August and September prior to Bishop taking over his duties.

No action was taken on a letter received from John L. Nixon, postmaster at Oldtown, concerning the condition of two county roads which are used for rural mail routes.

In his letter Nixon stated Ruby Road and Cresap Mill Road are in bad condition. He said that the Post Office Department wishes a report on 30 days on whether or not the requested repairs have been made or will be made.

J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of county roads, told the board that he has inspected the roads in question and found them in the "best condition they have been in during the past 10 years."

Jesse Wharton complained about the condition of a bridge across a small stream in the Murley's Branch section. In his letter he stated he ran off the bridge with his truck due to its bad state of repair. The matter was referred to Chapman.

School For Church Leaders Begins

Eleven churches are represented at the seventh annual standard leadership training school sponsored by the Cumberland Ministerial Association which opened yesterday at Grace Methodist Church.

A total of 30 is enrolled from Grace Methodist, Trinity Methodist, Centre Street Methodist, Park Place Methodist, Emmanual Methodist, Melvin Methodist, Central Methodist and Frostburg Methodist; Zion Evengelical and Reformed, St. John's Lutheran and Living Stone Church of the Brethren churches.

Rev. Allen B. L. Fisher, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, is in charge. Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church, is president of the Ministerial Association.

Classes will be held tonight and next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p. m. Any one wishing to enroll may still do so, Mr. Scrogum said.

County Farm, Orchard Crops Termed Average

Farm and orchards production in Allegany County during the current season has been about average, with some crops being more plentiful and others not so good, according to Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent.

The corn is slightly less than the 130,000 bushels averaged from 3,300 acres last year, McHenry said. He also said corn lacks quality and weight and the yield has not matured properly.

Wheat was about average. Last year 2,000 acres were harvested with an average between 18 and 20 bushels per acre, McHenry pointed out.

It was an off-season for truck and garden crops with sweet corn nothing like normal. There was a good early tomato crop but the late crop resulted in smaller fruit due to the dry weather.

Hay was good except for June and July when there were frequent showers which prevented curing the forage. There was some mold. There are about 9,000 acres of hay pastures in the county with normal yield being one ton per acre. This year the yield was one and one-fourth tons.

It was a poor season for late potatoes due to the dry weather of August and September. Seeding this fall will not be hampered if rain comes within the next week or so. It will not be too late for winter wheat, which is mostly sowed in October. It is too late for good barley prospects, McHenry said.

New seeding of grass is better than expected, with McHenry explaining that grasses developed good root systems during the wet weather earlier this past summer. A good rain would invigorate the grasses much easier than one would believe possible, he added.

The peach crop this year was good although the fruit inclined to be smaller than normal. There was not much brown rot, which made for better quality.

Orchardists are finished harvesting Grimes and Jonathan apples and other early varieties. They are picking Delicious and Staymans. The harvest season for apples is about one week advanced over last year. About 195,000 bushels will be harvested in this county.

Three Divorces Granted In Court

Three divorce decrees were granted yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Bessie Elizabeth Miller was given a divorce from William Bertwell Miller. Otie E. Harper was granted a decree divorcing her from Isaac Harper. Willard John DeVore received a divorce from Frances Lee DeVore.

Teacher Pay To Be Studied

BALTIMORE — (AP) — A special subcommittee goes before the Legislative Council today with its proposals for solving Maryland's teacher-pay problem. It is expected to recommend a salary boost.

Headed by State Senator Goldstein (D-Calvert), the committee spent several weeks traveling about the state and sounding out teachers, education officials and parent-teacher groups on the question.

Most agreed that the state should provide some increase, at least $300 a year.

Governor McKeldin vetoed a similar proposal after it was passed by the General Assembly early this year. He has argued that teachers' salaries are the responsibility of the political subdivisions. Since then, about half the counties have gone ahead on their own and increased the salaries.

Goldstein's committee was named to study the question of what effect this would have on the state's general education pattern. Other members of the group are State Senator Kimble (R-Allegany) and Speaker of the House Luber (D-Balto 5th).

For women in the late 30's, the probability of a multiple birth is about 17 in 1,000.

Heroes' Graves To Be Marked

Grave markers and headstones of area servicemen killed in the Far East since hostilities broke out June 25, 1950, will be inscribed with the word "Korea."

Announcement was made yesterday by the Department of Defense in keeping with a directive from President Truman.

Use of the word "Korea" will satisfy official requirements and limitations, and at the same time permit the Department of Defense to comply with requests of next of kin in connection with inscription recognition of cause as well as place of death.

The directive was made retroactive to permit addition of the Korean designation on markers of American dead previously buried.

National cemetery regulations prescribe that the inscription on government headstones may contain the name, date of birth and death and abbreviations of military awards held, a religious emblem and "the war in which service was rendered."

Maps made during the Middle Ages showed Paradise on earth. It was included at the top of the map and usually contained a picture of the Garden of Eden.

Study Of Atomic Nucleus Yielding New Discoveries

NEW YORK, (INS)—A prominent physicist reports that study of the atomic nucleus is yielding constant new discoveries, but said further work has to be accomplished before a comprehensive nuclear theory can be formulated.

Dr. James Rainwater, executive director of Columbia University's Nevis Cyclotron Laboratories, made his statement in a report on the first year's work at the laboratories. They are sponsored jointly by Columbia, the Office of Naval Research and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Rainwater said that scientists are finding the atomic nucleus more complicated the more they probe its mysteries.

His report disclosed that the bulk of experimental work with the 385,000,000 electron volt cyclotron—one of the world's most powerful—is concentrated on the meson, the latest nuclear particle to be identified.

Dr. Rainwater said:

"Theoretical physicists are today 'looking over the shoulder' of the experimenters . . .

"The hope of all nuclear physicists is to find a mathematical formulation in which the constants of nature—the complex properties of nuclear components—will drop out, leaving a simple relationship to account for nuclear forces.

"But realization of that hope is not even in sight, and probably will not be until a great deal more is learned through experiment."

In addition to the meson, Rainwater said studies of other atomic particles, such as the proton and neutron, are in progress.

Among experiments conducted at Nevis to determine the "constants of nature" necessary in the framing of a comprehensive theory was one believed to be the first study ever made of the negative "pi meson" in flight.

The experiment places the lifetime of that type of meson at slightly under three hundred millionths of a second.

Beams of free mesons, which are the sub-atomic particles believed responsible for holding in check the force of atomic fission, are among the chief tools used at Nevis laboratories for meson researches, Rainwater said.

Such a beam, he added, was first produced by the scientists at Nevis a year ago.

The existence of the meson was first affirmed in 1935 by the Japanese Physicist Hideki Yukawa, now at Columbia and associated with the development of theoretical implications of the Nevis experiments.

Dr. Yukawa won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1949 for his meson theory.

New Traffic Light Arrives

A new traffic light to replace one destroyed about two months ago at the corner of North Mechanic and Baltimore Streets by a tractor-trailer arrived at police headquarters Monday.

Recently, a light at Market and Mechanic Streets was moved to the "main stem" intersection.

Police said the new signaling device was placed in operation yesterday at the Market Street corner.

No Billboards To Be Erected On New Road

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission said yesterday principal outdoor advertising companies have agreed not to erect any of their big billboards on a new Stretch of U. S. 40 in Western Maryland.

Chairman Russell H. McCain of the roads commission announced the agreement. It was reached after officials of the department and representatives of the advertising concerns survey the new highway last week.

The agreement covers five miles of the seven-mile Sideling Hill Mountain relocation project.

A half mile at the foot of Sideling Hill's western slope and a mile and a half at the extreme east end of the project were not covered by the agreement. The parties decided some commercial development in these areas is inevitable because they lie so close to the old road.

The commission does not have the power to prohibit billboards erected outside actual highway rights-of-way. Permits are required for signs within 500 feet of highways, but a permit may be denied only if the sign would limit a driver's vision or otherwise be a traffic hazard.

The relocation lies in the extreme western tip of Washington county on the trans-continental highway.

Under a $2,443,000 project started two years ago, the steep and winding roadway has been replaced by new highway that has easy grades, long straight sections, and sweeping curves. A third traffic lane is provided for slow traffic climbing the hills.

The project is almost completed and traffic already is using part of it. A mile on the summit still is being built.

Chemicals Made From Germ Juice Aid Treatment Of War Wounded

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Chemicals made from the juice of germs are aiding the treatment of Korean war wounds, an Army doctor reports.

Col. August W. Spitler of the Army's Walter Reed Hospital described the "first Army use" of a recently-developed powder produced from liquid "enzymes" given off by streptococcus germs when they are grown in the laboratory.

Spitler told the District of Columbia Medical Society's annual scientifice assembly that the dissolvable powder provides a new aid in the clearing of blood clots, dead tissue and pus from war wounds. The powder itself is free of any infectious properties.

Describing 50 war casualties treated at Walter Reed, he said they were treated either with the germ-produced enzyms or with another enzyme derived from beef pancreas. The latter enzyme is similar to a digestion chemical occuring in the human body.

(Enzymes are chemical "catalysts" which promote another chemical reaction without themselves being altered.)

Spitler said both types of enzyme products, by helping clear wounds of unwanted "debris," have these capabilities:

(1) Shortening the period for making wounds ready for further surgery, such as skin grafting; (2) quickening the healing of certain stubborn amputation stumps, sometimes eliminating the need for secondary surgery; and (3) enhancing the action of certain germ-fighting drugs like penicillin.

He said the substances offered particular value as aids in treating wounds which persist for several weeks after the original injury or which were either not amenable to surgery immediately or in which surgery had been delayed for other reasons.

The germ-produced enzymes are called "streptokinase" and "streptodornase," and they are used in combination. Spitler said they have no adverse affects on normal tissue.

Dr. William S. Tillett of New York University College of Medicine, a pioneer in the use of the these substances, described research demonstrating the specific action of each in clearing blood clot and other "debris" from wounds.

He also described their effective use in treating bullet wounds, large ulcers of soft tissue and chronic infections following surgical operations.

Study Of Atomic Nucleus Yielding New Discoveries

NEW YORK, (INS)—A prominent physicist reports that study of the atomic nucleus is yielding constant new discoveries, but said further work has to be accomplished before a comprehensive nuclear theory can be formulated.

Dr. James Rainwater, executive director of Columbia University's Nevis Cyclotron Laboratories, made his statement in a report on the first year's work at the laboratories. They are sponsored jointly by Columbia, the Office of Naval Research and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Rainwater said that scientists are finding the atomic nucleus more complicated the more they probe its mysteries.

His report disclosed that the bulk of experimental work with the 385,000,000 electron volt cyclotron—one of the world's most powerful—is concentrated on the meson, the latest nuclear particle to be identified.

Dr. Rainwater said:

"Theoretical physicists are today 'looking over the shoulder' of the experimenters . . .

"The hope of all nuclear physicists is to find a mathematical formulation in which the constants of nature—the complex properties of nuclear components—will drop out, leaving a simple relationship to account for nuclear forces.

"But realization of that hope is not even in sight, and probably will not be until a great deal more is learned through experiment."

In addition to the meson, Rainwater said studies of other atomic particles, such as the proton and neutron, are in progress.

Among experiments conducted at Nevis to determine the "constants of nature" necessary in the framing of a comprehensive theory was one believed to be the first study ever made of the negative "pi meson" in flight.

The experiment places the lifetime of that type of meson at slightly under three hundred millionths of a second.

Beams of free mesons, which are the sub-atomic particles believed responsible for holding in check the force of atomic fission, are among the chief tools used at Nevis laboratories for meson researches, Rainwater said.

Such a beam, he added, was first produced by the scientists at Nevis a year ago.

The existence of the meson was first affirmed in 1935 by the Japanese Physicist Hideki Yukawa, now at Columbia and associated with the development of theoretical implications of the Nevis experiments.

Dr. Yukawa won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1949 for his meson theory.

New Traffic Light Arrives

A new traffic light to replace one destroyed about two months ago at the corner of North Mechanic and Baltimore Streets by a tractor-trailer arrived at police headquarters Monday.

Recently, a light at Market and Mechanic Streets was moved to the "main stem" intersection.

Police said the new signaling device was placed in operation yesterday at the Market Street corner.

No Billboards To Be Erected On New Road

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission said yesterday principal outdoor advertising companies have agreed not to erect any of their big billboards on a new Stretch of U. S. 40 in Western Maryland.

Chairman Russell H. McCain of the roads commission announced the agreement. It was reached after officials of the department and representatives of the advertising concerns survey the new highway last week.

The agreement covers five miles of the seven-mile Sideling Hill Mountain relocation project.

A half mile at the foot of Sideling Hill's western slope and a mile and a half at the extreme east end of the project were not covered, by the agreement. The parties decided some commercial development in these areas is inevitable because they lie so close to the old road.

The commission does not have the power to prohibit billboards erected outside actual highway rights-of-way. Permits are required for signs within 500 feet of highways, but a permit may be denied only if the sign would limit a driver's vision or otherwise be a traffic hazard.

The relocation lies in the extreme western tip of Washington county on the trans-continental highway.

Under a $2,443,000 project started two years ago, the steep and winding roadway has been replaced by new highway that has easy grades, long straight sections, and sweeping curves. A third traffic lane is provided for slow traffic climbing the hills.

The project is almost completed and traffic already is using part of it. A mile on the summit still is being built.

Chemicals Made From Germ Juice Aid Treatment Of War Wounded

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Chemicals made from the juice of germs are aiding the treatment of Korean war wounds, an Army doctor reports.

Col. August W. Spitler of the Army's Walter Reed Hospital described the "first Army use" of a recently-developed powder produced from liquid "enzymes" given off by streptococcus germs when they are grown in the laboratory.

Spitler told the District of Columbia Medical Society's annual scientifice assembly that the dissolvable powder provides a new aid in the clearing of blood clots, dead tissue and pus from war wounds. The powder itself is free of any infectious properties.

Describing 50 war casualties treated at Walter Reed, he said they were treated either with the germ-produced enzyms or with another enzyme derived from beef pancreas. The latter enzyme is similar to a digestion chemical occuring in the human body.

(Enzymes are chemical "catalysts" which promote another chemical reaction without themselves being altered.)

Spitler said both types of enzyme products, by helping clear wounds of unwanted "debris," have these capabilities:

(1) Shortening the period for making wounds ready for further surgery, such as skin grafting; (2) quickening the healing of certain stubborn amputation stumps, sometimes eliminating the need for secondary surgery; and (3) enhancing the action of certain germ-fighting drugs like penicillin.

He said the substances offered particular value as aids in treating wounds which persist for several weeks after the original injury or which were either not amenable to surgery immediately or in which surgery had been delayed for other reasons.

The germ-produced enzymes are called "streptokinase" and "streptodornase," and they are used in combination. Spitler said they have no adverse affects on normal tissue.

Dr. William S. Tillett of New York University College of Medicine, a pioneer in the use of the these substances, described research demonstrating the specific action of each in clearing blood clot and other "debris" from wounds.

He also described their effective use in treating bullet wounds, large ulcers of soft tissue and chronic infections following surgical operations.

Dodgers Overpower Giants To Deadlock Playoff Series

Rookie Hurler Wins Six-Hit Shutout, 10-0

Labine Brilliant In Clutch; Winners Hit Four Homeruns

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Brooklyn't redoubtable Dodgers, a single defeat from extinction and supposedly licked to a frazzle, came off the floor today to hammer the New York Giants into submission, 10 to 0, and carry the playoff for the National League flag down to the final desperate gasp at the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Don Newcombe

Sal Maglie

While Clem Labine, 25-year-old crew cut rookie from Woonsocket, R. I., was carving his initials on the Giants wrecking crew, Jackie Robinson and his fellow sluggers tore into three second-line Giant pitchers for 13 ringing blows, including four home runs, to snap a victory string that had reached eight straights.

Blast Four Homers

Labine, who rejoined the Dodgers late in July from St. Paul, was a picture of poise as he mowed the Durochermen down methodically through the gloomy, rainy afternoon. He yielded only six hits in gaining his fifth win against one defeat for the season. The Giants only twice came close to scoring on the kid with the crackling curve.

What the Dodgers did to Sheldon Jones, Al Spencer and Al Corwin was a brutal thing. Robinson, Gil Hodges, Andy Pafko and Al (Rube) Walker, the Flock's substitute backstop, all belted homers. Walker's went clean over the right field stands with two out in the ninth inning to close out the slaughter.

Robinson, a somewhat sad figure in Brooklyn's 3-1 defeat in yesterday's first playoff game, also bored two singles into the outfield grass, and it was his second safety which knocked Jones, the Giants' starter, out of the one-sided contest. Walker, playing for the crippled Roy Campanella, also pitched in with a brace of singles preceding his mighty blast. Every Dodger except Carl Furillo scored at least once during the demoralizing assault. ... .

Newcombe vs. Maglie

It shapes up tomorrow as a burning battle between two of the game's finest righthanders, Sal Maglie, winner of 23 victories, for the Giants, against big Don Newcombe, who notched 20 during the regular campaign. Neither pilot had much choice but to come in with his big one. Preacher Roe, who pitched 22 victories during the season, has not had his required rest.

Giants' supporters among the crowd of 38,609 saw a ray of hope for their heroes when, with the Dodgers already five runs to the good, a drizzling rain brought out the infield canvass and interrupted the game for 41 minutes. There was just a chance, they reasoned, that the blazing Labine would cool off somewhat during the long wait.

But all the enforced idleness did to Labine was make him anxious to get it over. In the final four frames, after play was resumed, exactly two Giants reached first base—both on walks. Neither got any further as the rookie smoked them across. Only two of the last 14 Giants got the ball out of the infield.

Up to the time of the rain, the Giants had been threatening their young tormentor. They stranded two runners in the second after Bobby Thomson had doubled down the left line—the only extra baser off Labine—and Willie Mays had followed with an infield hit.

Thomson Strikes Out

In the third, with the Dodgers leading only 2-0 on the strength of Robinson's two-run homer in the opening chapter, the home club loaded the sacks with two away, bringing up the dangerous Thomson. A hit at that juncture might have changed the course of the game.

The Flying Scot worked Labine to the full count as the crowd chanted for a rally. Then the kid, taking a chance, loosed a sweeping curve that missed the dish by several inches—and Thomson fished for it. He went down swinging, and after that the Giants were a beaten ball club.

Their last real threat came in the fourth when, after two were out, Spencer and Stanky put together singles. Alvin Dark drove one hard at Billy Cox at third to close it out. Not another Giant was to reach second base.

League To Meet

A meeting of the Allegany County Shuffleboard League will be held Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at the Goodfellowship Club. All teams are urged to have a representative present as schedules will be distributed and first half franchise fees will be posted.

Maryland Has Best Southern Loop Offense

Bill Brehany Tops Passing Leaders

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—A six-touchdown rout of Washington and Lee's defending champions last Saturday shoved Maryland's powerful Terps in front of all Southern Conference schools in three statistical departments.

Team figures released here today showed the team that Coach Jim Tatum calls his greatest at Maryland—and the team that is ranked ninth in the nation in this week's AP poll—is in front in the total yardage, rushing yardage and rushing defense departments.

The Terps rolled up a total of 498 yards, 395 on the ground, and held W. & L. to a mere 29 yards rushing. It was Maryland's first game of the season.

Clemson is second to Maryland in total offense and rushing offense, while North Carolina ranks second in rushing defense.

Total defense leader is Wake Forest, which held North Carolina State to 146 yards. West Virginia ranks second with 160.5 yards allowed.

Virginia Military Institute, with individual conference leaders in passer Bill Brehany and receivers Neal Petree and Jay Grumbling, tops the conference in passing offense with an average yardage of 153 in its three contests. Wake Forest is second.

In the passing defense department, Wake Forest stands on top with a 55-yard average, followed by Furman. Maryland's three punts carried an average distance of 51.7 yards to top this department with W. & L. in second place.

The International Boxing Club, sponsor of the televised bout, has promised Sands a shot at middleweight king Robinson, if he wins convincingly over Olson from whom he took a 12-round verdict in Australia last March.

Harvard Captain To Be Inducted

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2 (AP) —Captain Carroll Lowenstein said his farewells to his Harvard teammates tonight after participating in a long and rugged practice session.

Dressen Says Jones Threw "Spit Balls"

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Manager Charley Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers accused Sheldon Jones, the Giants' starting pitcher, of throwing "spit balls" today in the playoff game at the Polo Grounds, won by the Dodgers, 10-0.

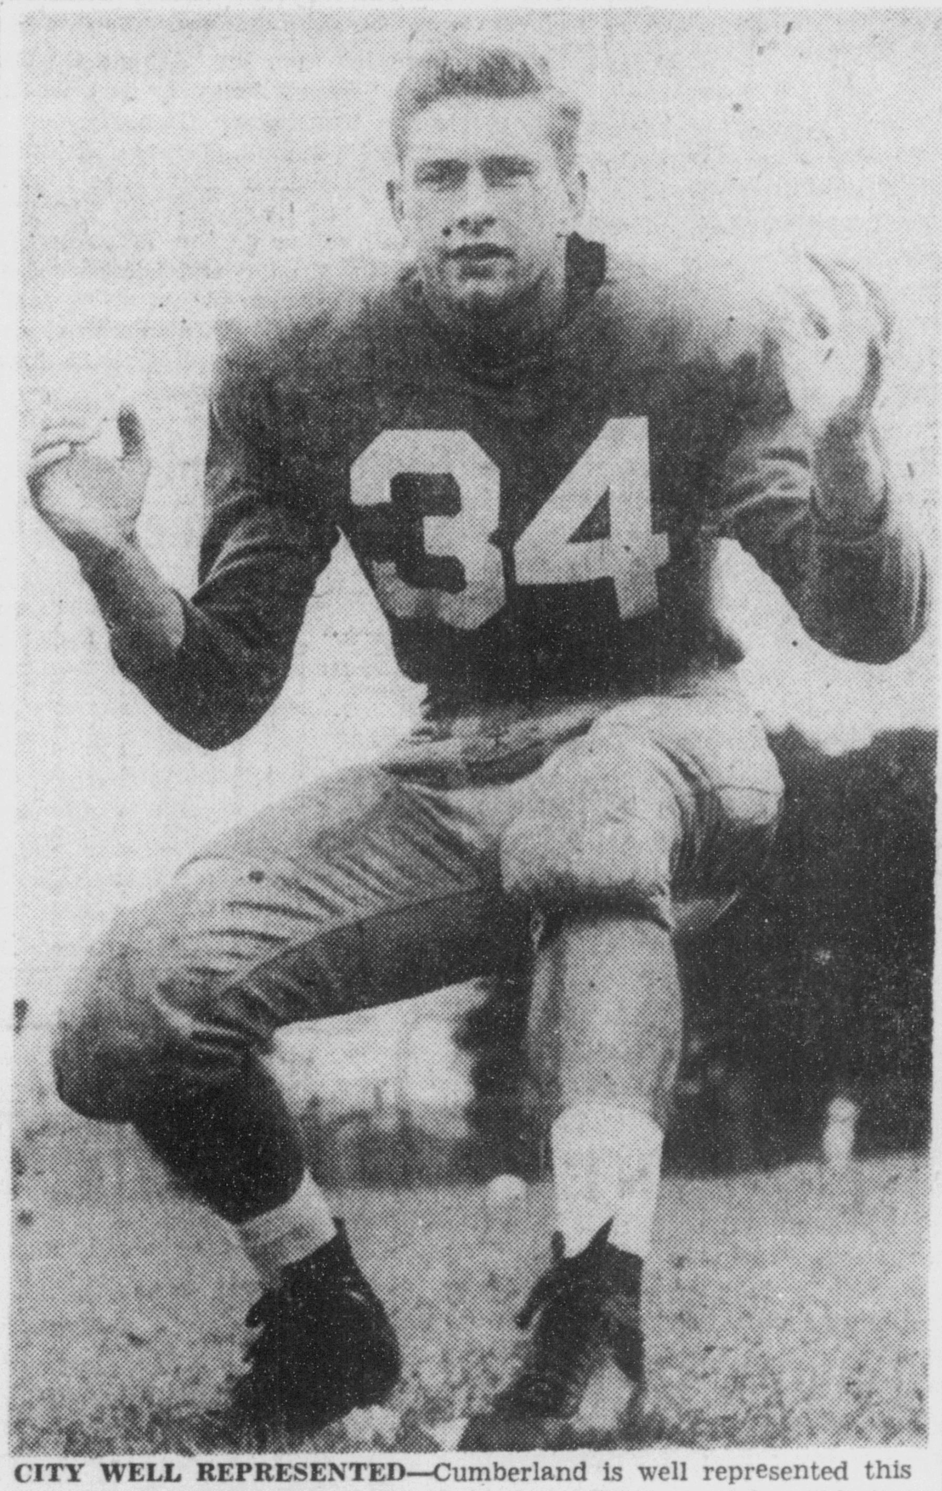
"Jones would wet his fingers and not dry them off," Dressen said. "I told Goetz about it but he said it was only a spinner."

There was no further protests. Jones was replaced in the third inning by George Spencer. Jones could not be reached immediately for comment on Dressen's charges.

Hill Prince Given 133 Pounds To Carry

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — Hill Prince, the Virginia galloper which picked up 128 pounds last Saturday and easily won the New York Handicap, was assigned 133 pounds today for the $25,000-added Manhattan Handicap Saturday at Belmont Park.

Handicapper John B. Campbell loaded five more pounds on C. T. Chenery's star four-year-old for the Manhattan, being run at a mile and one half.



CITY WELL REPRESENTED—Cumberland is well represented this year on the University of Maryland football team. John Alderton (above) is one of five Cumberlanders on the Terps varsity this season. Others are Lynn Beightol, Charley Lattimer, Don Decker and Bill Ruehl. Alderton, former Fort Hill grid and basketball player, is regarded as one of the finest defensive ends in the Southern Conference. He's 20 years old, 6-foot-1 tall, tips the beam at 175 and is a junior. Last year he played nearly every minute of defense in each game and resumed the pace last week against W&L. Maryland plays George Washington U. Saturday at 2 p. m. at College Park.

All the Frostburgers' games will be played on foreign fields as facilities are not adequate for home contests.

Virginia Back Said Eligible

Wade Rules On Palumbo Case

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—Southern Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade ruled today that Joe Palumbo, star guard for the University of Virginia football team, is eligible to play for the Cavaliers against conference teams.

Wade's ruling was made known to Gus Tebell, the U. Va. athletic director. Wade said Palumbo's eligibility has been challenged by one Southern Conference college but he would not say which college it was.

The challenge, Wade said, was based on the fact that Palumbo participated in athletics at Greenbrier Military School at Greenbrier, W. Va., before entering the university.

The Southern Conference regards Greenbrier as a junior college. Under the conference rules, transfers from junior colleges must wait a year before competing in varsity athletics at the school to which they transfer.

Palumbo entered the university in 1948, and played on the Cavalier freshman team that autumn. He played on the varsity in 1949 and 1950 and this season is captain of the Virginia team.

Wade told Tebell via phone today that the conference's executive committee had studied the matter of Palumbo's eligibility and had decided he is eligible to play against conference teams, nine of whom are on the Virginia schedule. The university is not a member of the conference.

Friendsville Wins

The Friendsville girls field ball team defeated Grantsville yesterday on the latter's field by the score of 14 to 8.

Hickory Nut Crop Poor For Squirrels

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., Oct. 2 (AP) —Squirrels storing up hickory nuts in this area are in for an awful surprise next winter.

Only about one in 20 of the nuts is good, says Harry Beckley. He picked up a bag full and cracked nearly two dozen before he found one with a kernel.

As a result, Beckley thinks squirrels may migrate 25 miles or more to find food when the snow flies.

He blames the dry weather for the shriveled meat he found inside the shells. Some were entirly barren.

Beckley made his casual nut survey in the woods around Clear Spring, Big Spring, Millstone and Pectonville.

$585 In Fines Paid For Game Violations

Squirrel season opens in all counties in Maryland Friday with the exception of Garrett County which opens its season Oct. 10, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said last night, and approximately five or six thousand hunters are expected to be in the fields in Allegany County, judging from hunting licenses which have been sold here, he added.

Squirrel hunting is expected to be better this year, Minke continued, although many hunters have expressed concern over the season because of the heavy drought during the past several months.

Danger of forest fires is especially prevalent at this time, Minke noted, and all precautions are being taken to provide a successful season for hunter, although many has expressed the view that the season should not be opened until there is a heavy rainfall. The State Game Commission has taken the matter under advisement, Minke went on.

Fines totaling $585 for violation of game laws in Region No. 1, which comprises Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, have been paid during the past month, Minke revealed.

One hunter was committed to Oakland jail for 60 days for default of $100 fine when charged with having deer meat in his possession during the closed season.

Illegal deer killing is still the greatest problem of game wardens, Minke stated, with the squirrel hunter next in line. Because of the Maryland law which permits hunters to hunt unprotected game all during the year, it is difficult to catch the man who hunts illegally, Minke remarked. Maryland is still one of the few states which give hunters the privilege of hunting certain species of wildlife at any time during the year, he continued.

Only about 10 per cent of all violations are ever apprehended the game warden ventured.

Passes Mark Made By Charley Justice

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—When Johnny Bright rushed and passed his way to 242 yards while Drake was beating Bradley University last Saturday night he established a new collegiate football record.

The Drake back, collegiate total offense and rushing leader for 1951 with 727 and 444 yards, respectively, has travelled 5,077 yards since taking over the bulk of his team's plunging and passing chores in 1949.

The 5,077 yards in two and a fraction seasons tops the record of 4,871 hung up by Charlie Justice in four seasons at North Carolina, 1946 through 1949.

Statistics released today by the NCAA service bureau show Gene Rossi of Cincinnati and Harry Geldien, Wyoming tailback, closest to Bright in total offense for the year. Rossi has picked up 578 yards and Geldien 542.

San Francisco's Ollie Matson, 205-pound fullback, is runner-up to Bright in the early-season rushing figures with 359 yards in two games.

Kentucky's highly touted Vito (Babe) Parilli leads the passers with 48 completions, three good for touchdowns. He was fourth among the tossers last year with 114 successful aerials, good for a record of 23 touchdowns.

Tom Dublinski of Utah has completed 39 aerials for second place back of Parilli. Rossi holds down third with 36. Dublinski and Rossi each have passed for six touchdowns for leadership in that department of play.

Notes Threaten Holmes Family

Accused Of Favoring Giants For Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(INS)—Manager Tommy Holmes, of the Boston Braves, revealed today that for the last four days he has been receiving letters threatening his family because the Braves beat the Dodgers three out of four games last week.

The 33-year-old native of Brooklyn said:

"Letters and telegrams from cranks is one thing, but when they threaten your family that's something else."

He said he prefers not to turn the letters over to the police.

Holmes, who lives in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn with his wife and two children, said he also is perturbed because he has been accused in letters of favoring the Giants. While most of the mail has come from Brooklyn, he also received letters from New York and New England points.

The Braves' three victories in four starts against the Dodgers at Boston in the next to the last series of the season enabled the Giants eventually to force the current playoff with the Dodgers.

Jockey Burr Is Suspended

Rides Five Winners At Rockingham Park

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 2 (AP)—Charlie Burr, the nation's leading jockey today booted home five winners at Rockingham Park after being suspended for 10 days for rough riding—the suspension to take effect tomorrow.

Burr rode the first three winners on the card and then came from far back aboard Larry Ellis to capture the featured $2,600 Jackson Purse as the three-year-old gelding covered the six furlongs in 1:10 to equal the track record. He also won the seventh race.

Burr boosted his winners to 266 for the season with still 122 to go before breaking the record held jointly by three other jockeys.

Burr's suspension — effective tomorrow—was announced shortly before today's first race, which he promptly won astride Lord Grall. Then he rode Sunshade and Sigh Green to victories in the next two races.

The track stewards voted to sit down Burr on charges he "failed to give other horses room going to the first turn" in yesterday's seventh race when he rode Irving Gushen's favored Stock Exchange to victory.

While no foul was formally declared, the stewards voted to suspend Burr from Oct. 3 through Oct. 13 for rough riding.

Burr, has ridden 22 winners in the first eight days of the Rockingham meeting and is a favorite of New England racing fans because of his daring tactics.

Dodgers Overpower Giants To Deadlock Playoff Series

Labine Brilliant In Clutch; Winners Hit Four Homeruns

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Brooklyn't redoubtable Dodgers, a single defeat from extinction and supposedly licked to a frazzle, came off the floor today to hammer the New York Giants into submission, 10 to 0, and carry the playoff for the National League flag down to the final desperate gasp at the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Don Newcombe

Sal Maglie

While Clem Labine, 25-year-old crew cut* rookie from Woonsocket, R. I., was carving his initials on the Giants wrecking crew, Jackie Robinson and his fellow sluggers tore into three second-line Giant pitchers for 13 ringing blows, including four home runs, to snap a victory string that had reached eight straights.

Blast Four Homers

Labine, who rejoined the Dodgers late in July from St. Paul, was a picture of poise as he mowed the Durochermen down methodically through the gloomy, rainy afternoon. He yielded only six hits in gaining his fifth win against one defeat for the season. The Giants only twice came close to scoring on the kid with the crackling curve.

What the Dodgers did to Sheldon Jones, Al Spencer and Al Corwin was a brutal thing. Robinson, Gil Hodges, Andy Pafko and Al (Rube) Walker, the Flock's substitute backstop, all belted homers. Walker's went clean over the right field stands with two out in the ninth inning to close out the slaughter.

Robinson, a somewhat sad figure in Brooklyn's 3-1 defeat in yesterday's first playoff game, also bored two singles into the outfield grass, and it was his second safety which knocked Jones, the Giants' starter, out of the one-sided contest. Walker, playing for the crippled Roy Campanella, also pitched in with a brace of singles preceding his mighty blast. Every Dodger except Carl Furillo scored at least once during the demoralizing assault. ... .

Newcombe vs. Maglie

It shapes up tomorrow as a burning battle between two of the game's finest righthanders, Sal Maglie, winner of 23 victories, for the Giants, against big Don Newcombe, who notched 20 during the regular campaign. Neither pilot had much choice but to come in with his big one. Preacher Roe, who pitched 22 victories during the season, has not had his required rest.

Giants' supporters among the crowd of 38,609 saw a ray of hope for their heroes when, with the Dodgers already five runs to the good, a drizzling rain brought out the infield canvass and interrupted the game for 41 minutes. There was just a chance, they reasoned, that the blazing Labine would cool off somewhat during the long wait.

But all the enforced idleness did to Labine was make him anxious to get it over. In the final four frames, after play was resumed, exactly two Giants reached first base—both on walks. Neither got any further as the rookie smoked them across. Only two of the last 14 Giants got the ball out of the infield.

Up to the time of the rain, the Giants had been threatening their young tormentor. They stranded two runners in the second after Bobby Thomson had doubled down the left line—the only extra baser off Labine—and Willie Mays had followed with an infield hit.

Thomson Strikes Out

In the third, with the Dodgers leading only 2-0 on the strength of Robinson's two-run homer in the opening chapter, the home club loaded the sacks with two away, bringing up the dangerous Thomson. A hit at that juncture might have changed the course of the game.

The Flying Scot worked Labine to the full count as the crowd chanted for a rally. Then the kid, taking a chance, loosed a sweeping curve that missed the dish by several inches—and Thomson fished for it. He went down swinging, and after that the Giants were a beaten ball club.

Their last real threat came in the fourth when, after two were out, Spencer and Stanky put together singles. Alvin Dark drove one hard at Billy Cox at third to close it out. Not another Giant was to reach second base.

League To Meet

A meeting of the Allegany County Shuffleboard League will be held Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at the Goodfellowship Club. All teams are urged to have a representative present as schedules will be distributed and first half franchise fees will be posted.

Virginia Back Said Eligible

Wade Rules On Palumbo Case

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—Southern Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade ruled today that Joe Palumbo, star guard for the University of Virginia football team, is eligible to play for the Cavaliers against conference teams.

Wade's ruling was made known to Gus Tebell, the U. Va. athletic director. Wade said Palumbo's eligibility has been challenged by one Southern Conference college but he would not say which college it was.

The challenge, Wade said, was based on the fact that Palumbo participated in athletics at Greenbrier Military School at Greenbrier, W. Va., before entering the university.

The Southern Conference regards Greenbrier as a junior college. Under the conference rules, transfers from junior colleges must wait a year before competing in varsity athletics at the school to which they transfer.

Palumbo entered the university in 1948, and played on the Cavalier freshman team that autumn. He played on the varsity in 1949 and 1950 and this season is captain of the Virginia team.

Wade told Tebell via phone today that the conference's executive committee had studied the matter of Palumbo's eligibility and had decided he is eligible to play against conference teams, nine of whom are on the Virginia schedule. The university is not a member of the conference.

State Squirrel Season To Open Friday, Oct. 5

$585 In Fines Paid For Game Violations

Squirrel season opens in all counties in Maryland Friday with the exception of Garrett County which opens its season Oct. 10, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said last night, and approximately five or six thousand hunters are expected to be in the fields in Allegany County, judging from hunting licenses which have been sold here, he added.

Squirrel hunting is expected to be better this year, Minke continued, although many hunters have expressed concern over the season because of the heavy drought during the past several months.

Danger of forest fires is especially prevalent at this time, Minke noted, and all precautions are being taken to provide a successful season for hunter, although many has expressed the view that the season should not be opened until there is a heavy rainfall. The State Game Commission has taken the matter under advisement, Minke went on.

Fines totaling $585 for violation of game laws in Region No. 1, which comprises Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, have been paid during the past month, Minke revealed.

One hunter was committed to Oakland jail for 60 days for default of $100 fine when charged with having deer meat in his possession during the closed season.

Illegal deer killing is still the greatest problem of game wardens, Minke stated, with the squirrel hunter next in line. Because of the Maryland law which permits hunters to hunt unprotected game all during the year, it is difficult to catch the man who hunts illegally, Minke remarked. Maryland is still one of the few states which give hunters the privilege of hunting certain species of wildlife at any time during the year, he continued.

Only about 10 per cent of all violations are ever apprehended the game warden ventured.

"I think I can beat him if I can get to him," declared Layne on his arrival a day after schedule. "Charles is a good boxer you know, and he may be hard to hit. But if I can hit him I'm sure I can beat him."

Passes Mark Made By Charley Justice

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—When Johnny Bright rushed and passed his way to 242 yards while Drake was beating Bradley University last Saturday night he established a new collegiate football record.

The Drake back, collegiate total offense and rushing leader for 1951 with 727 and 444 yards, respectively, has travelled 5,077 yards since taking over the bulk of his team's plunging and passing chores in 1949.

The 5,077 yards in two and a fraction seasons tops the record of 4,871 hung up by Charlie Justice in four seasons at North Carolina, 1946 through 1949.

Statistics released today by the NCAA service bureau show Gene Rossi of Cincinnati and Harry Geldien, Wyoming tailback, closest to Bright in total offense for the year. Rossi has picked up 578 yards and Geldien 542.

San Francisco's Ollie Matson, 205-pound fullback, is runner-up to Bright in the early-season rushing figures with 359 yards in two games.

Kentucky's highly touted Vito (Babe) Parilli leads the passers with 48 completions, three good for touchdowns. He was fourth among the tossers last year with 114 successful aerials, good for a record of 23 touchdowns.

Tom Dublinski of Utah has completed 39 aerials for second place back of Parilli. Rossi holds down third with 36. Dublinski and Rossi each have passed for six touchdowns for leadership in that department of play.

Notes Threaten Holmes Family

Accused Of Favoring Giants For Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(INS)—Manager Tommy Holmes, of the Boston Braves, revealed today that for the last four days he has been receiving letters threatening his family because the Braves beat the Dodgers three out of four games last week.

The 33-year-old native of Brooklyn said:

"Letters and telegrams from cranks is one thing, but when they threaten your family that's something else."

He said he prefers not to turn the letters over to the police.

Holmes, who lives in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn with his wife and two children, said he also is perturbed because he has been accused in letters of favoring the Giants. While most of the mail has come from Brooklyn, he also received letters from New York and New England points.

The Braves' three victories in four starts against the Dodgers at Boston in the next to the last series of the season enabled the Giants eventually to force the current playoff with the Dodgers.

Jockey Burr Is Suspended

Rides Five Winners At Rockingham Park

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 2 (AP)—Charlie Burr, the nation's leading jockey today booted home five winners at Rockingham Park after being suspended for 10 days for rough riding —the suspension to take effect tomorrow.

Burr rode the first three winners on the card and then came from far back aboard Larry Ellis to capture the featured $2,600 Jackson Purse as the three-year-old gelding covered the six furlongs in 1:10 to equal the track record. He also won the seventh race.

Burr boosted his winners to 266 for the season with still 122 to go before breaking the record held jointly by three other jockeys.

Burr's suspension — effective tomorrow—was announced shortly before today's first race, which he promptly won astride Lord Grall. Then he rode Sunshade and Sigh Green to victories in the next two races.

The track stewards voted to sit down Burr on charges he "failed to give other horses room going to the first turn" in yesterday's seventh race when he rode Irving Gushen's favored Stock Exchange to victory.

While no foul was formally declared, the stewards voted to suspend Burr from Oct. 3 through Oct. 13 for rough riding.

Burr, has ridden 22 winners in the first eight days of the Rockingham meeting and is a favorite of New England racing fans because of his daring tactics.

Maxim-Moore Title Fight Demanded

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today requested the National Boxing Association to order Joe Maxim, light heavyweight champion, to fight Archie Moore, St. Louis, for the title.

Commissioner John "Ox" DaGrosa said the request was made in a letter to Abe J. Greene, National commissioner. The Pennsylvania commission agreed Maxim should decide within 30 days to defend his title against Moore or have the title declared vacant.

Maxim-Moore Title Fight Demanded

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today requested the National Boxing Association to order Joe Maxim, light heavyweight champion, to fight Archie Moore, St. Louis, for the title.

Commissioner John "Ox" DaGrosa said the request was made in a letter to Abe J. Greene, National commissioner. The Pennsylvania commission agreed Maxim should decide within 30 days to defend his title against Moore or have the title declared vacant.

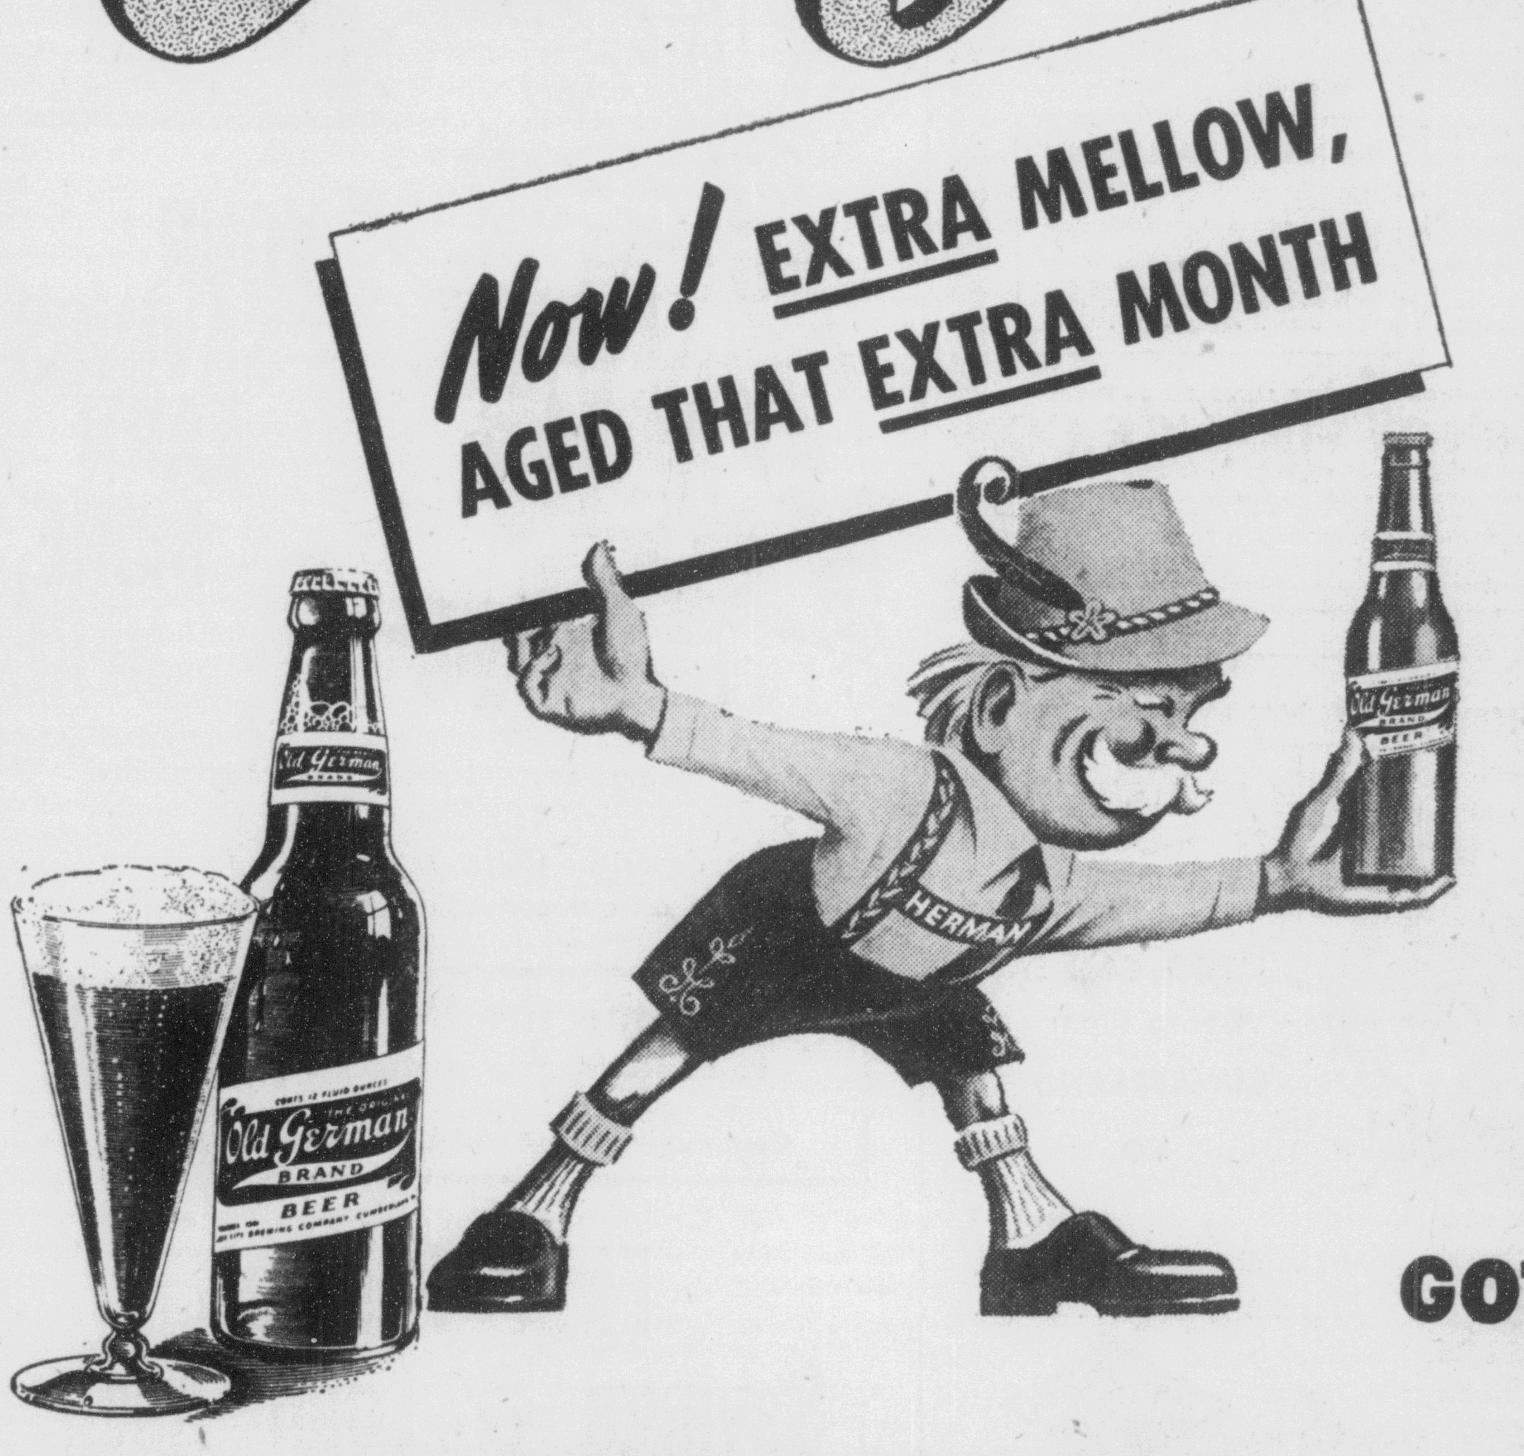
THE ORIGINAL
Old German
LAGER BEER



Little wonder Old German has skyrocketed to popularity. One taste tells why. Such wonderfully smooth, extra mellow flavor, such downright goodness . . . just couldn't help but make a hit with folks who like a really fine lager beer.

So more and more the call is for Old German, the beer that's made by an old meister brewer from an old quality recipe . . . the beer that's AGED THAT EXTRA MONTH . . . Try it and you will agree, "The World Knows No Finer Beer Than The Original Old German Lager Beer."

Another thing you'll like about Old German is its lower calorie content and the fact that it's less filling! Enjoy Old German Lager Beer often! It's GREAT!

Solon Praises Baseball Honesty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Rep. Kearns (R-Pa) paid tribute to the honesty of organized baseball in the House today.

Noting the dead-heat finish in the National League between Brooklyn and the New York Giants, and the winnig finish put on by Casey Stengel's Yankees, Kearns said credit for all-out effort also goes to the managers and players of the other teams in both leagues.

Noting scandals in other fields of sports, Kearns said the performances of baseball players "certainly have proved we do have honesty in sports in the United States."

Program Will Start Saturday

One of the highlights of the unusual Piano Educators Conference sponsored by the Allegany County Board of Education, which will be conducted Saturday and next Monday at West Side School, will be a discussion on "Piano Classes in Our Schools."

Aden G. Lewis, director of piano instruction in Allegany County schools, will be chairman of this program, which will begin at 1:40 p. m. Saturday.

Each participant will talk on one phase of the question in a three-minute report. This program is planned especially for school people, as administrative problems will receive chief discussion.

Participants will include Edith MacMannis, elementary class piano instructor; Grace Swanson, elementary special music teacher; Lois Stine, junior high music teacher; Dorothy Willison, senior high music teacher; Anne Tennant, elementary principal; Marguerite Richards, private piano teacher; Mrs. Mary Lord, parent; Robert Moreland, piano technician, and Don Razey, instrumental teacher.

Dr. Raymond Burrows, Teachers College, Columbia University, will be consultant through both days of the conference.

same," replied Mrs. Green, "from 12 to 14 inches from the ground."

I hinted at the way the teen-agers draped themselves in blue jeans in this country and asked if Paris had such characters. "No," she said, "I did not see one teen-ager at any of the fashion shows or on the street while in Paris."

Mrs. Green, who attended the openings of the fall and winter fashions in Paris, explained that most of the women's fashions in this country come from Paris but are not exaggerated. Most of the styles from Paris have to be adapted to our customs.

"One amazing fact about Parisian clothes is that they cost so little in this country compared to France," she said. "For instance, a dress costing $600 in Paris, may be bought here for only about $25."

Mrs. Green, whose real name is Mrs. Irwin Frankel, understands her work and has a background to uphold her reputation as a fashion coordinator.

Born and reared in New York, she was fashion for the "Women's Wear Daily" for 12 years, and later for "Parents Magazine" for 12 years.

Mrs. Green also was fashion editor of the teen-age magazine, "Calling All Girls," under the name of Nancy Pepper. In addition, she syndicated a newspaper column called "Tricks for Teens."

Versatile Mrs. Green is also author of the book, "Teen Age Blues." She had her own radio show for nine years, a program called "Calling All Girls' Clubs of the Air." The show was a mother and daughter program, with her teen-age daughter, Nancy Franklin. Her daughter, Nancy, is now playing on Broadway in "The Rose Tatoo" and is seen in the television version of "One Man's Family."

Since her visit in Paris, Mrs. Green has been touring the nation introducing the new fall and winter fashions. She has just returned from Flint, Mich., Nebraska, Lancaster, Pa., and Georgia.

Auxiliary Police Termed Ready For Any Emergency

Auxiliary police of this city are ready for any emergency, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn reported yesterday.

The Cumberland Auxiliary Police, he said, are far ahead of other Civil Defense organizations of the city because the unit has retained the organization built up during World War II days.

All of the auxiliary policemen took first aid courses during World War II and have completed refresher courses during recent months to meet the threat of atomic warfare.

Warm praise for the organization was also expressed by Arthur B. Gibson, city Civil Defense director.

"We are very proud of our Auxiliary Police organization which has kept together since World War II days," Gibson said.

The unit, he added, has been developing in efficiency through the years.

He added that several men have applied for membership in the body and that the applications were forwarded to Chief Flynn.

Fire Truck Fund Drive Planned In Piedmont

Citizens Asked To Aid Project

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—A drive to raise funds for the balance on repairs of the Tri-Towns Fire Truck of Piedmont, which was badly damaged in a wreck on the Westernport-Luke Road October 31, 1948, will begin this week.

The total cost of repairs amounted to $9,065. The work was done by the American LaFrance Foamite Corporation, where the truck was purchased. So far, $6,165 has been paid on that bill, leaving a balance of about $2,900.

At a meeting Monday afternoon of Mayor Allan Hill and the City Council, it was ordered that the City Clerk send letters to all property owners and other citizens of the community.

The circular letter will explain to them the need of these donations to pay off this indebtedness.

Persons may make their checks payable to the Tri-Town Fire Truck Fund and can leave donations at the office of the City Clerk or give it to the mayor or any member of the council.

To Sell Buttons

The Fire Truck will be parked near the corner of Ashfield Street next week, Fire Prevention Week. Members of the Tri-Towns Fire Company will sell booster buttons and receive donations toward the indebtedness on the truck.

A complaint was presented of the Billy Trucking Company running over the pavement of Mrs. E. A. See, Paxton Street, damaging the pavement.

The City Clerk was instructed to write to the trucking company advising them of the condition. The city will suggest that a smaller truck be sent here.

Councilman Joseph Mayburn moved that the city employees cut the trees and foliage on the Piedmont side of the Potomac River, which was ordered by the council.

Speeding Is Reported

Councilman Mervin High called attention to complaints of speeding on East Hampshire Street. It is a narrow street, and parking on one side makes it hazardous. The street is a State Highway, with 25 mile speed limit.

Mayor Hill stated he would ask state police to take it up with the State Roads Commission, suggesting that a 15 mile an hour sign be used.

Councilman Norman Baughman stated that a stop sign was needed at the corner of Gordon and Fairview Street.

It was ordered that $1,768 be paid on the new chlorination system which has arrived. When it is installed the other $443 will be paid.

Mayor Hill read a letter from the State Board of Health, Civil Defense and Water Works meeting to be held in Charleston, Oct. 4-5 and suggesting they send a representative to it. The theme of the meeting will be "Selected problems of Civil Defense in Water Works."

Joseph Eger, water superintendent of the city was ordered to attend the meeting.

It was ordered that a new top shirt be purchased for each police officer.

Keyser Council Hears Plans For Teen Age Center

KEYSER, W. Va.—Due to the absence of Mayor Chester J. Compton from the city yesterday, the regular meeting of City Council was brief, being confined mostly to paying bills and other routine matter.

There were a few ordinances to be read, and each member took his copy home to study before the next meeting when a full membership will be present. Elmer J. Hartman acted for the mayor in conducting the session.

The Teen Age Center on North Main Street, in the North End, which will be opened soon was discussed by the body when a copy of the lease for the property, which is made to the City Recreation Board, acting for the mayor and city council, was presented yesterday by City Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr.

The deed calls for payment of a monthly rental for the second floor apartment for the Teen Agers, with certain responsibilities.

J. Paul Blundon and his son, Joseph Blundon, made it possible for the Teen Agers to have the center, and Paul Blundon offered a monthly payment to the Recreation Board to meet payment on rent and public utilities in the apartment.

Jean Simmons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2 (INS)—After three long years I finally have some definite news to tell you on Jan Lustig's book, "Young Bess"—and what news!

Jean Simmons is set for "Young Bess," with her ever lovin' husband, handsome Stewart Granger, as her leading man. That comes right from Dore Schary.

And very interesting is the news that Charles Laughton, whose "Private Life Of Henry VIII" won a 1933 Academy Award, will again play young Bess' pa, the much married Henry.

The story, telling the young life of Queen Elizabeth before she got in the habit of chopping off heads, and court intrigue, is a very sweet story. Miss Lustig and Arthur Wimperes have written the screenplay and the date for "Young Bess" to go is next June—England, of course.

The French glamor girl, Corinne Calvet, and her husband, John Bromfield, are back from eight weeks in her native Paree, London, and the French Riviera.

Says Corinne with that accent which always fascinates me, "American bathing suits are the thing on the Riviera. You don't see those revealing Bikinis anymore. I'm glad because I always thought they were ugly."

As soon as Corinne arrived home she checked with her boss, Hal Wallis, who told her she was to play "Sailor Beware" with Martin and Lewis. She sings a French song — and, well, she is a happy girl.

My younger readers won't remember, but their dads will, when petite redhaired Bessie McCoy shocked Broadwayites by appearing in a scene in the musical comedy, "The Three Twins," wearing pink chiffon pajamas. It was the first time a woman appeared in public so garbed and it won Bessie the name "Yama Yama Girl" because of the song she sang.

Now the King brothers have a script based on Bessie McCoy's life and, naturally, the hero of the film is Richard Harding Davis, distinguished war correspondent and novelist who married the gay ninety belle.

The King boys have bought the right to Bessie's life from her daughter, Hope Davis. When it goes before the cameras you'll see Marilyn Maxwell playing the Yama Yama Girl.

Some of the interior of the famous old Vanderbilt mansion in New York, which was built by Cornelius Vanderbilt II in 1880, has been sold to 20th Century-Fox for motion picture sets.

William Shiffrin, the Hollywood agent, has arranged for the sale of the fabulous Louis XVI carved oak paneling from the grand ballroom. These panels, which were carved in France, are very beautiful.

After her husband's death, when the house was torn down, Mrs. Vanderbilt could not bear to part with the panels and she paid warehouse storage fees on them for years before they passed on to other hands when she died.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bing's anniversary gift to Dixie was nine beautiful custom made gowns. That's a gift any gal would appreciate.

Irene Dunne postcards from Stockholm that she's doing a broadcast there. She says she can't speak Swedish so she's going to sing "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes." Well, that ain't bad.

Fernando Lamas, who kisses Lana Turner 25 times in the movie "The Merry Widow" says 25 has always been his lucky number.

Such a nice dinner Margaret Ettinger gave honoring Isabella Taves and Dan Mich, editor of McCall's magazine. The James Masons, Joan Bennett and Walter Wanger were among those invited to meet the Miches.

Brod Crawford lost 18 pounds while he was on a personal appearance tour with Columbia's picture, "The Mob," but he says he's never felt better, which is probably true. Most of us weigh too much.

Paul Lazlo has completely redone the interior of the former home of Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck. It's now occupied by Jerry Ohrbach who bought it from them.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Members of Congress are not allowed to smoke while they are on the floor.

On impact, it stretches almost double. (International)

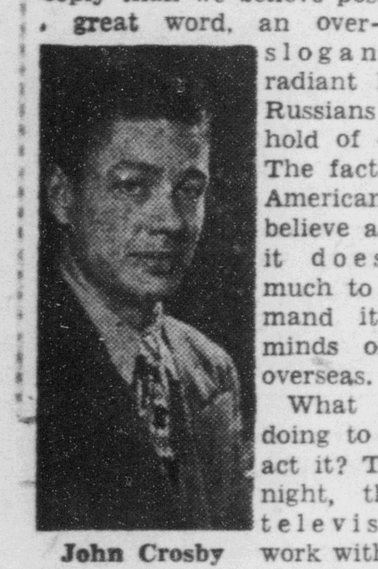
By JOHN CROSBY

We're Masters At Advertising, Children At Propaganda

Last week in the Alsop column, Stewart Alsop, writing from Paris, eiterated what we should all now now—but don't. The Russian ropaganda line—the Russians want othing but peace—has bitten into he minds of Europeans far more eeply than we believe possible. It's great word, an over-powering slogan and a radiant hope the Russians have got hold of — peace. The fact that we Americans don't believe a word of it doesn't do much to countermand it in the minds of people overseas.



John Crosby

What are we doing to counteract it? The other night, the NBC television network with a great how of pride unveiled for the first ime anywhere in America a State epartment official documentary ilm called "In Defense of Peace," ne of our own propaganda efforts, hich has been shown to 40,000,000 eople in 71 countries. If this is the est we can do in the propaganda ne, we ought to save our money.

* * *

"In Defense of Peace" is little nore than a collection of newsreel hots, and I'll bet there isn't a sinle one you haven't seen at least 15 imes. The Russians fighting in the uburbs of Berlin. The great moion picture portraits at Yalta—Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin—smilng, triumphant, and—in the light f subsequent events—a little futile. On and on it went—the German urrender in the schoolhouse, the lag being raised at Iwo, MacArthur on the Missouri ("Let us ray that peace be now restored to he world and that God will preerve it always."), the birth of the United Nations at San Francisco—reat scenes, all of them.

But also familiar ones and ones hat mean different things to different people all over the world. They were knit together by a narraion which was as factual as a Latin extbook and about as inspiring. You gathered that these things had ccurred—Is there anyone around who doesn't know that?—and that we had had some part in them. That's about all.

But it is in the aftermath of war, hat period when the Russians and he free world ceased to be friends nd became enemies, wherein our nessage to the rest of the world—if we have one—should lie. Well, the ilm showed innumerable shots of reat shipboard cranes lifting those oxes into the holds of ships (the Marshall Plan), of tractors happily un by French farmers, of piles of rain unloaded in Greece. We howed how our vastly wealthy ountry blew up its warplanes, beat its cannon into ploughshares and then beat the ploughshares back into cannon again. It was a demonstration of our native opulence and productive abundance sufficiently impressive to embitter a Balkan peasant against those rich Americans for decades to come.

* * *

This is propaganda? For whom—the Russians or us? When I was in Rome a man in the Italian Foreign Ministry told my traveling companion, Les Midgley, foreign editor of "Look," something I've never quite forgotten: "We Italians deeply appreciate everything America has done for us since the war. We know very well that without your tremendous Marshall Plan there would have been nothing here but anarchy. But sometimes we wonder why you don't come forth with something like Wilson's 14 points or the Atlantic Charter, something men can have faith in. And they didn't cost one cent."

In other words we are exporting everything except ideas, which require nothing more elaborate than a pencil and paper. (And a brain. And a conviction). The Russians have very effectively labeled us as warmongers all over the world. We retaliate by showing films showing 40,000,000 people overseas how many tanks, planes and guns we are producing. This is reassuring to us and possibly to the heads of foreign states and foreign armies. But hardly to the people who have clutched to their breasts the word that Russia has made its own—peace.

* * *

A basket of grain is a very effective bit of propaganda when someone hands it to you—but that's the task of the Marshall Plan, not of the Voice of America which produced this film. A picture of a basket of grain won't do anything for a hungry man except make him hungrier. Propaganda is the dissemination of ideas—preferably the dissemination of single overpowering idea. The Russians have embraced "peace" so effectively we'll never get it away from them (at least in the minds of most Europeans). But we've got a word of our own, "freedom" — "something," as the Italian remarked, "men can have faith in"—and the Russians will never get that one away from us.

If we could become in the minds of the outside world the exponents of freedom, if we could show them how free men live, if we could, in short, take over freedom as the Russians have taken over peace, we'd be in the propaganda business. As it is, we're just sending out stale newsreels.

"The Authority on Authorities"

IF YOU could only tell for sure just what a wily declarer is preparing to do, you would obviously be a more successful defender. Here's a little tip that may guide you in certain cases when the declarer deliberately gives up a trick to you. If he is known to be skillful at squeeze plays, perhaps he is trying to get the necessary timing for one. Look over the dummy and consider the bidding. That may enable you to spot what return would destroy communication between his two hands, which is vital to the execution of his squeeze.

South's strong 2-No Trumps on his second turn could not mislead North too much in view of the original pass. His later Blackwooding was justified by North's powerful jump in diamonds. He got to dangerous heights, however, and would have had plenty of trouble if West had opened the heart K, perhaps the best lead against a slam. But West handed him a gift trick with the club 5 lead, which the J won.

This enables South to count eleven consecutive tricks, if diamonds would break—six in diamonds, three in clubs and one in each major. That left him no likely play except a squeeze. To obtain timing for it, he had to give up a trick along the way, so decided to do it at once, with the spade 2 to the 10, which East won with the J. East now hoped South would finesse diamonds on the first round and give him the setter with the Q. To encourage that, he returned the spade 4 to the singleton A.

That was right up South's alley. He next scored the club A and K, then five diamonds. As he led the sixth diamond, dummy held the heart 3 and club 8 and South the spade 9 and heart A-J. West had been obliged to hold the club Q as protection against the dummy's 8, and the heart K-Q, and East retained the spade Q and heart 9-7. West was the one squeezed by the last diamond, on which South threw the spade 9 after East tossed a heart. If West had thrown his club Q, the 8 and the heart A would have given South the last two tricks. So he tossed the heart Q. The 3 to the A then dropped the K and made the J good.

Notice how impossible that play would have been if East had sensed it when in and had led a heart.

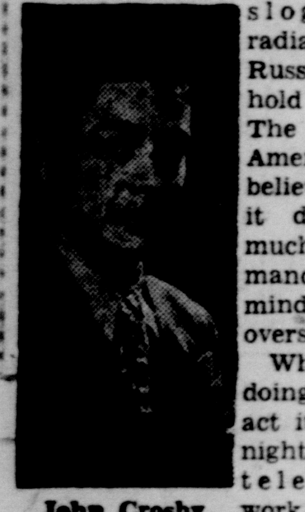
Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

We're Masters At Advertising, Children At Propaganda

Last week in the Alsop column, Stewart Alsop, writing from Paris, eiterated what we should all now now—but don't. The Russian ropaganda line—the Russians want othing but peace—has bitten into he minds of Europeans far more eeply than we believe possible. It's great word, an over-powering slogan and a radiant hope the Russians have got hold of — peace. The fact that we Americans don't believe a word of it doesn't do much to countermand it in the minds of people overseas.



John Crosby

What are we doing to counteract it? The other night, the NBC television network with a great how of pride unveiled for the first ime anywhere in America a State Department official documentary ilm called "In Defense of Peace," ne of our own propaganda efforts, which has been shown to 40,000,000 eople in 71 countries. If this is the est we can do in the propaganda ne, we ought to save our money.

• • •

"In Defense of Peace" is little more than a collection of newsreel hots, and I'll bet there isn't a sinle one you haven't seen at least 15 imes. The Russians fighting in the uburbs of Berlin. The great moion picture portraits at Yalta—Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin—smilng, triumphant, and—in the light f subsequent events—a little futile. On and on it went—the German urrender in the schoolhouse, the lag being raised at Iwo, MacArthur on the Missouri ("Let us ray that peace be now restored to he world and that God will preerve it always."), the birth of the United Nations at San Francisco—reat scenes, all of them.

But also familiar ones and ones hat mean different things to different people all over the world. They were knit together by a narraion which was as factual as a Latin extbook and about as inspiring. You gathered that these things had ccurred—Is there anyone around who doesn't know that?—and that we had had some part in them. That's about all.

But it is in the aftermath of war, hat period when the Russians and he free world ceased to be friends nd became enemies, wherein our essage to the rest of the world—if we have one—should lie. Well, the ilm showed innumerable shots of reat shipboard cranes lifting those oxes into the holds of ships (the Marshall Plan), of tractors happily un by French farmers, of piles of rain unloaded in Greece. We howed how our vastly wealthy ountry blew up its warplanes, beat its cannon into ploughshares and then beat the ploughshares back into cannon again. It was a demonstration of our native opulence and productive abundance sufficiently impressive to embitter a Balkan peasant against those rich Americans for decades to come.

• • •

This is propaganda? For whom—the Russians or us? When I was in Rome a man in the Italian Foreign Ministry told my traveling companion, Les Midgley, foreign editor of "Look," something I've never quite forgotten: "We Italians deeply appreciate everything America has done for us since the war. We know very well that without your tremendous Marshall Plan there would have been nothing here but anarchy. But sometimes we wonder why you don't come forth with something like Wilson's 14 points or the Atlantic Charter, something men can have faith in. And they didn't cost one cent."

In other words we are exporting everything except ideas, which require nothing more elaborate than a pencil and paper. (And a brain. And a conviction). The Russians have very effectively labeled us as warmongers all over the world. We retaliate by showing films showing 40,000,000 people overseas how many tanks, planes and guns we are producing. This is reassuring to us and possibly to the heads of foreign states and foreign armies. But hardly to the people who have clutched to their breasts the word that Russia has made its own—peace.

• • •

A basket of grain is a very effective bit of propaganda when someone hands it to you—but that's the task of the Marshall Plan, not of the Voice of America which produced this film. A picture of a basket of grain won't do anything for a hungry man except make him hungrier. Propaganda is the dissemination of ideas—preferably the dissemination of single overpowering idea. The Russians have embraced "peace" so effectively we'll never get it away from them (at least in the minds of most Europeans). But we've got a word of our own, "freedom" — "something," as the Italian remarked, "men can have faith in"—and the Russians will never get that one away from us.

If we could become in the minds of the outside world the exponents of freedom, if we could show them how free men live, if we could, in short, take over freedom as the Russians have taken over peace, we'd be in the propaganda business. As it is, we're just sending out stale newsreels.

West had been obliged to hold the club Q as protection against the dummy's 8, and the heart K-Q, and East retained the spade Q and heart 9-7. West was the one squeezed by the last diamond, on which South threw the spade 9 after East tossed a heart. If West had thrown his club Q, the 8 and the heart A would have given South the last two tricks. So he tossed the heart Q. The 3 to the A then dropped the K and made the J good.

Notice how impossible that play would have been if East had sensed it when in and had led a heart.

Adv. N-Sept. 13-20-27 — Oct. 4.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is for the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, to procure a Decree for a Divorce "A VINCULO MATRIMONII" from the Defendant, Estevan Anta, a Non-Resident of the State of Maryland, and to obtain custody of her infant Daughter, Elaine Anta.

The Bill states that on or about the 7th day of August, 1935, the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, was married to the Defendant, Estevan Anta, and lived with him in Canton, Ohio, where one child, namely, Elaine Anta, was born. That about September 15, 1942 her husband, Estevan Anta, deserted and abandoned her and she and her daughter were compelled to return to her parent's home in Luke, Maryland. That the separation and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for over eight (8) years, and is deliberate and final, and that the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. That her husband, the Defendant, is a Non-Resident of the State of Maryland, and is not a member of the Armed Forces, and that the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, has supported and maintained her infant child, Elaine Anta, for the past eight years.

It is thereupon this 2nd day of October, 1951, ordered by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Allegany County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 3rd day of November, 1951, give notice to the said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 19th day of November, next, to show cause, if any he has, why a Decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Does anyone "live alone and like it"?

Answer: Yes, though a great many people—especially women—who are forced to live alone are lonely and unhappy. These are largely women in whom the desire for a home and children is in conflict with fear or hostility toward men, leaving them emotionally deadlocked. It is possible, however, for a woman—or a man—to become "self-sufficient" enough so that there is no wish for close companionship with anyone else, and marriage would mean an unbearable loss of "privacy." The skepticism with which married women usually greet a single woman's statement that she is "an old maid from choice" may conceal unconscious envy of her "independence."

Are working mothers "under pressure"?

Answer: As a rule, Yes, writes Jennie Mohr in Smith College Studies of Social Work. Most mothers who work outside their homes do so because they need—or think they need—the money they earn. And the problems that grow out of having to manage their homes at long range create emotional pressure even though they do not wish to admit it. The resulting strain affects the mutual relationships of all members of the family, though there are mothers who work to escape just these relationships. Miss Mohr does not refer to childless mothers or the mothers of grown children, who may need more outlets for their energies than housekeeping provides.

Do mental patients "need an audience"?

Answer: Very much so, and not merely out of vanity or a desire to "show off." The sense of rejection by one's parents, and especially one's mother with which a large share of mental illness starts is continued in adult life in the patient's feeling that no one is interested in him or cares to hear what he has to say.

The first step toward recovery may, therefore, be to find a person who will really listen to him, and the doctor who "doesn't have time to listen" misses an important opportunity to help. No other form of psychotherapy can replace giving the patient a real chance to "talk himself out."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Complainant, Shirley Virginia Freed, from the Defendant, Gerald B. Freed.

Market Continues Its Climb To Reach New 21-Year High

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—The bull market rolled forward today for the second straight time and hit a new 1951 peak, the best in 21 years.

Steels, metals, oils, golds, rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals, and many of the low-prices speculative issues were favored.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 60 cents at $100.70, just 10 cents higher than the previous 1951 top set Sept. 20. This rise was accomplished with a gain of 90 cents in the industrial component, 50 cents in the rails, and 10 cents in the utilities.

The volume of business came to 1,870,000 shares, well ahead of yesterday's 1,330,000 shares.

is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Adv. N-Sept. 13-20-27 — Oct. 4.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is for the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, to procure a Decree for a Divorce "A VINCULO MATRIMONII" from the Defendant, Estevan Anta, a Non-Resident of the State of Maryland, and to obtain custody of her infant Daughter, Elaine Anta.

The Bill states that on or about the 7th day of August, 1935, the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, was married to the Defendant, Estevan Anta, and lived with him in Canton, Ohio, where one child, namely, Elaine Anta, was born. That about September 15, 1942 her husband, Estevan Anta, deserted and abandoned her and she and her daughter were compelled to return to her parent's home in Luke, Maryland. That the separation and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for over eight (8) years, and is deliberate and final, and that the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. That her husband, the Defendant, is a Non-Resident of the State of Maryland, and is not a member of the Armed Forces, and that the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, has supported and maintained her infant child, Elaine Anta, for the past eight years.

It is thereupon this 2nd day of October, 1951, ordered by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Allegany County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 3rd day of November, 1951, give notice to the said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 19th day of November, next, to show cause, if any he has, why a Decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Does anyone "live alone and like it"?

Answer: Yes, though a great many people—especially women—who are forced to live alone are lonely and unhappy. These are largely women in whom the desire for a home and children is in conflict with fear or hostility toward men, leaving them emotionally deadlocked. It is possible, however, for a woman—or a man—to become "self-sufficient" enough so that there is no wish for close companionship with anyone else, and marriage would mean an unbearable loss of "privacy." The skepticism with which married women usually greet a single woman's statement that she is "an old maid from choice" may conceal unconscious envy of her "independence."

Are working mothers "under pressure"?

Answer: As a rule, Yes, writes Jennie Mohr in Smith College Studies of Social Work. Most mothers who work outside their homes do so because they need—or think they need—the money they earn. And the problems that grow out of having to manage their homes at long range create emotional pressure even though they do not wish to admit it. The resulting strain affects the mutual relationships of all members of the family, though there are mothers who work to escape just these relationships. Miss Mohr does not refer to childless mothers or the mothers of grown children, who may need more outlets for their energies than housekeeping provides.

Do mental patients "need an audience"?

Answer: Very much so, and not merely out of vanity or a desire to "show off." The sense of rejection by one's parents, and especially one's mother with which a large share of mental illness starts is continued in adult life in the patient's feeling that no one is interested in him or cares to hear what he has to say.

The first step toward recovery may, therefore, be to find a person who will really listen to him, and the doctor who "doesn't have time to listen" misses an important opportunity to help. No other form of psychotherapy can replace giving the patient a real chance to "talk himself out."

'51 Chest Drive Gets Underway With Dinner

Full Cooperation Is Asked Of Public

How individual and company solicitations can be improved in the 1951 Community Chest and United Defense (USO) Drive was the topic of a panel discussion at the "kick-off" dinner last night at Central YMCA.

Charles S. Catherman, Jr., chairman of publicity for the drive, was moderator.

In answering the best means of getting results and contributions in the drive, Edmund S. Burke, chairman for Advance Gifts, said enthusiasm on the part of workers was the prime factor.

He cited the need of additional funds due to increased cost of operating the various agencies, and also noted that the United Defense Drive is included this year. He told the workers to answer any and all questions of contributors, or if unable, to contact Chest headquarters. He added that nothing succeeds as does hard work.

John F. Chisholmn, member of the Budget Committee, told the audience of the splendid cooperation and work of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in furthering the drive. He commented on how to conduct a company campaign and cited the company responsibility in assuring success.

The 1951 budget was outlined by Chairman Arthur B. Gibson. In showing the need for the goal of $105,159.48, Gibson said the increase over last year was necessitated by increased demands of Chest organizations. He remarked on instances of aid given by the Red Feather agencies and told how the budget committee considered all angles of the 1951 requests.

Chest Is Qualified

Judge George Henderson, state chairman of the United Defense Fund drive, spoke on the need for funds to carry on the program for the soldier away from home.

He said the Community Chest Drive was well organized, qualified and capable of handling the added load this year.

He said it should be added incentive for contributors, since such a large number of county men and women are in the service.

County Chairman Harry G. Shupe of the United Defense Fund Drive said that men fighting in Korea are "pretty much forgotten men." He said the need must be stressed to keep the morale of those men up by contributing to the fund. He noted that thus far over 1,800 county residents have joined in the present conflict, with many leaving for induction. He told the assembly he anticipated a successful campaign which would "go over the top."

Care For Home Needs

William H. Buchholtz, city finance commissioner, joined in the panel discussion and explained why not all agencies of Cumberland are included in the present drive. He said some of the agencies are beneficiaries of endowments, churches, gifts and other contributions.

Others, he said, are under a national charter and can't participate in the drive. He asked Cumberlanders to "take care of the home needs," and stressed full cooperation of the citizens.

Earl C. Robertson, president of the Comunity Chest, stressed the need of funds for the United Defense Fund and asked the soldiers be given a "home away from home." In citing other phases of the Red Feather agencies and their work he reminded Cumberlanders it is "better to build boys than mend men."

He said American youth should have every opportunity in this land of plenty. The time and energy of each individual is necessary, Robertson added, in alleviating the plight of poverty-stricken people.

Ort Gives Views

Prior to closing the panel discussion Louis J. Ort, who spoke on "What the Community Chest-USO Means," said the people of this country should deem it a privilege to aid the underprivileged.

Such activity as the Community Chest Drive, he added, is not fostered by a government such as Russia's.

He urged Chest workers to put their heart into the coming campaign and to assure bringing relief to those who benefit by the contributions. He said spiritual as well as material results would be felt. Ort asked that every contributor give a little more to aid in the success of this year's goal.

Following the discussion a question and answer period was held by Moderator Catherman.

Invocation for last night's "kick-off" dinner was by Rev. William Randolph Keefe, Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church. A community sing was part of the program and the assembly, led by Harry B. Jamison, sang "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "I Want A Girl." Perry Rosenmarkle was at the piano.

The dinner, which was well attended, was served by the YMCA Auxiliary. The first report of the Chest Drive will be given Friday at a 12:15 luncheon in Central YMCA.

The Weather

Everyone will agree that yesterday was certainly a wonderful day although the "return of summer" was rather warm and uncomfortable. Winter wardrobes were forgotten momentarily as the mercury rose during the afternoon. The high as recorded yesterday by the official weather station at Constitution Park was 92 degrees, one of the warmest October days here since 1927. The low was 52 and at 8 p. m. the temperature was 71. Humidity at 6 o'clock was 49 per cent. Forecast for today is continued fair.

Ground Observation Corps Test Alerts Planned Soon

Allegany County representatives have been warned that all Ground Observation Corps posts and filter centers in 19 states of the northeast region of the country will be subjected to a series of test alerts in the near future.

Major General Frederic H. Smith, Jr., commanding general of Eastern Air Defense Force, Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N. Y., said the alerts are designed to "test the speed with which our volunteer Ground Observation Corps program can be mobilized in the event of a real emergency."

No one but EADF will know the dates and times for the alerts, the first of which will be held "very soon."

"No aircraft will be used in this first test," General Smith said. "It will be entirely a telephone check. We won't ask volunteer observers to man their posts. We merely want to determine adequacy of our communications system so that we will get an accurate idea of how long it would take to get our Ground Observation Corps program operational if the need should arise."

In announcing the tests, General Smith said "we have a real air defense problem. The threat, too, is real. The Soviets have the atomic bomb and the Soviets have the aircraft which could deliver an atomic attack on our vital targets on one-way missions or missions involving aerial refueling."

Charles G. Smith, 640 Hill Top Drive, is the county supervisor for Ground Observer Corps, according to county Civil Defense Director William G. Barger.

Smith is working closely with each of the six posts in the county to assure its readiness as these alerts are scheduled.

Flood Worker Hurt In Cave-in

A local flood control worker escaped possible death yesterday when the wall of a ditch he was digging collapsed and partially buried him.

Memorial Hospital attaches said 38-year-old Stanley Wilfong, 115 Harrison Street, was admitted to the hospital at 5:30 p. m. for X-rays and observation.

They said Wilfong complained of pains in the back, but that he was in "good" condition.

Wilfong's fellow workmen said he was digging at the bottom of an eight-foot-deep ditch at Bedford and North Mechanic streets when one wall gave way without warning and buried him chest-deep in clay.

Companions pulled him out and summoned an ambulance. They said it took about eight minutes to free him.

Wilfong is employed by Earl and Son, subcontractors with George and Lynch for the present phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

Summer Pays Return Visit

Summer returned to Cumberland yesterday as the thermometer climbed past the 90-degrees mark to establish a near record for October.

Robert G. Golden, official weather observer, said the temperature at Constitution Park reached 92 degrees yesterday. Low reading for the day was 52.

Golden said records indicate that yesterday was about as hot as an October day as has been noted in this city since 1927.

There have been 11 October days since 1912, Golden said, with temperatures of 90 degrees or higher.

All of the early readings were taken at City Hall, where temperatures are normally from two to three degrees below Constitution Park.

In 1927, the termometer reached 95 on October 1 and 93 the next day. In 1941, October 4 and 6 temperatures were 94, 92 and 94.

Golden Jubilee To Be Marked By Carpenters Local

Anniversary, Building Committees Named

Carpenters Local 1024 (AFL) this week named a standing committee to plan for the 50th anniversary of the local next spring.

A second committee was named by the local to make plans for building or buying a home for the union.

F. Patrick Allender, business agent, was named chairman of the Golden Jubilee Committee. Other members are J. E. Mullenax, D. R. Scharf, J. J. Eirich, Lewis Twigg and Ralph Porter.

Event Set March 10

The celebration has been tentatively scheduled for Monday, March 10, 1952, the day on which the local was formed in this city half a century ago.

Allender said additional members will be added to the committee as plans for the celebration progress.

Mullenax was named chairman of the Building Committee. He will be assisted by Louis Firlie, P. R. Wright, Eirich and Allender.

The committee was instructed to investigate the possibilities for either building a new structure or purchasing a building which could be remodeled for a storeroom and headquarters.

May Select Site

The group will be in charge of picking a tentative site and securing plans if construction of a new building is recommended.

For a number of years, Local 1024 has been occupying part of the Allegany Trades Hall on Frederick Street as its headquarters.

Allender, who is first vice president of the Maryland State Carpenters Council, was elected a member of the Executive Board of the West Virginia State Council in St. Albans last week.

The Cumberland local has jurisdiction over Allegany and Garrett Counties in Maryland and in eight Eastern Panhandle counties in West Virginia.

Jaycees To Name Committees Tonight

Committee chairmen and members for the fall projects of the Junior Association of Commerce will be appointed at a meeting this evening at 6:30 at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Henry A. Mackey, president, said groups to be named are the safety committee, Americanism committee, Barter Theater committee and youth welfare.

A full report of the Glidden Tour, which passed through Cumberland recently, will be given. Following the meeting, movies will be shown.

Briefs

The Kiwanis Club will hear a talk on "America's Greatest Resource" by Ralph L. Lewis, club program chairman, at its weekly dinner meeting Thursday at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Ellerslie Volunteer Fire Company will hold a soup sale at the fire hall Friday.

Yesterday, in the second day of the October term of the Allegany County Circuit Court, the grand jury continued with a busy day.

More than 25 witnesses were questioned yesterday with six persons being holdovers from Monday's session. The grand jury reviewed about 12 cases before recessing until 9:15 a. m. this morning.

About 4 p. m. yesterday, about five or six witnesses had not yet testified and two cases were yet to be heard. It was close to 5 p. m. before the jury recessed.

Normally, the grand jury finishes all of its activities about 3 p. m. and most of the time not more than 20 witnesses are questioned in a single day.

About 20 more witnesses are scheduled to be questioned today. Sheriff Edward R. Muir said the number summoned to appear before the grand jury this week is now up to 96. He stated that more are expected later.

Julian G. Patrick, chief chemist of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke, is foreman of the grand jury.

Drought Causes Drop In Flow Of Potomac Here

Low Level Seen During October

The long dry spell in this area caused the flow of the Potomac River here to drop to its lowest point since 1946, officials of the Geological Survey reported yesterday.

Flow of the stream on Sunday was 88 cubic feet a second, the lowest flow on record since September, 1946.

The lowest mark on record was set in 1938, when the flow dropped to 38 cubic feet a second.

In a review of the outlook of meteorological and runoff conditions of the North Branch of the Potomac at and above Cumberland, the Geological Survey said:

September Stream Flow

The mean daily flow of the North Branch Potomac River at Cumberland during September was 130 cubic feet per second, 35 per cent of normal flow.

The daily flow varied from 88 cubic feet per second on September 30 to 321 cubic feet per second on September 8. The flow at the end of the month was 88 cubic feet per second.

Operation of the Savage River Dam caused an average increase of 5 cubic feet per second, or 4 per cent of the flow in the North Branch of the Potomac at Cumberland.

The total precipitation at Cumberland as reported by the Weather Bureau, was 1.22 inches, or about 1.47 inches below normal. The average daily temperatures was about 67.08 degrees, which was about 1.08 degrees above normal.

Outlook For October

Under normal conditions of rainfall the average runoff at North Branch Potomac River at Cumberland is expected to be about 39 per cent of normal, or 160 cubic feet per second this month.

Under adverse conditions of little or no rainfall, the flow is expected to be about 12 per cent of normal, or 51 cubic feet per second.

The advance celebration of the 50th anniversary of the United Commercial Travelers is scheduled at a meeting of the group Saturday, according to Martin L. Johnson, Sr., senior counselor.

Johnson said yesterday members at Saturday's meeting will complete arrangements for the formal celebration, scheduled for the first Saturday in December.

A large attendance is expected for the meeting Saturday, Johnson said. Also at the meeting, candidates for membership in the United Commercial Travelers will be initiated. After the meeting refreshments will be served.

A speaker is scheduled to be present at the next meeting of the group on the first Saturday of November, November 3. He is L. E. Flowers, Charleston, W. Va., grand counselor. The group also plans to have one member of the Supreme Council from Columbus, Ohio, attend this meeting.

Attending this Saturday's meeting will be H. C. Elder, grand page of the Grand Council. The Grand Council is comprised of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and the District of Columbia.

Male Attends Fashion Show; Finds Skirt Lengths Same

Attending a fashion for the first time is quite an experience—especially if you are a male.

While at yesterday's show, presented at Rosenbaum Brothers' Department Store, I was amazed at the preparation that goes into an event of this kind.

Conducting the fashion show was Mrs. Betty Green, fashion co-ordinator for Independent Retailers' Syndicate, New York, the buying office that services Rosenbaum.

Mrs. Green, a petite and attractive lady who has just returned from a month's visit in Paris, busily went about directing the models and attendants.

The fashion show was constructed around a plot presenting a newspaper editor as the hero. During the events, including the introduction of the latest creations from Paris, the editor is convinced that fashions make news.

Wondering how all this fitted into the pattern for fashioning women's wear, I asked Mrs. Green about some of the trends in the women's world, such as the old and the new look, the plunging neckline and the famous Bikini bathing suit.

She underlined five current trends in ladies' wear. First, she said, is the wider skirts trend with stiffened crinoline petticoats.

Another trend is the high waistline effect in the empire manner, Mrs. Green explained. She went on with another fashion which is taking hold in the United States—big sleeves with fullness from the shoulder to the elbow.

In colors, the trend seems to be all shades of blue, especially peacock.

Wondering if we males were to be given another emotional shock like the "New Look," that hid the dimpled knee, I asked about skirt lengths and whether they were to go up or down.

County Schools Plan Student Council Group

Meeting At Beall Scheduled Nov. 6

Students of six high schools met yesterday at Fort Hill High School to map plans for a new county-wide organization of student councils.

Purpose of the group will be to provide better integration of student council activities and to promote inter-school co-operation.

Formation of the new organization was begun at the close of the 1950-51 school term.

Schools To Name Officers

Delegates to yesterday's meeting decided to let each of four represented schools elect county officers.

Beall High School, Frostburg, will elect the president of the federation from its student body. Barton High will elect the vice president, Bruce High of Westernport, the corresponding secretary, and Fort Hill, the recording secretary.

Miss Nancy Hamilton, public relations officer for the Fort Hill Student Council, said the county group will send minutes of its meetings to all county high schools with invitations to join the federation.

To Discuss Constitution

At its next meeting, November 6, at 1:20 p. m. at Beall High School, the county group wil discuss proposals for a constitution to be presented by the new officers.

The group decided yesterday to take action to curb Halloween vandalism. Suggestions included parties, parades and other extra-curricular school activities.

ADDED TELEPHONE FACILITIES—Three easily identified bright red telephone booths along Route 40 east of Cumberland, have been installed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore for the convenience of highway travelers. Richard E. Harman, local office manager, said the telephones are located at Fred's Truck Stop on Polish Mountain, Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge Mountain, and at Town Hill Hotel atop that mountain. Equipped with dial service from the Flintstone exchange, Harman said, the phones are an added facility for motorists in case of emergency, especially when business places are closed. A neat sign at the foot of each side of the mountain informs travelers of the locations of telephones. Forty And Eight Begins Plans For Mardi Gras

Colorful Mummers Parade Is Slated

Plans for the 1951 Halloween celebration were formulated last night by Cumberland Voiture 164, Forty and Eight.

The colorful mummers parade slated as the climax of the event is expected to be a mile and a half long, officials said.

Although the usual prizes will be offered for costumed parties and individuals in the line of march, the committee has voted to eliminate the customary prizes for bands and floats.

No invitations will be sent out to organizations, according to Thomas F. Conlon, acting chairman for the Mardi Gras event.

All units wishing to take part in the parade will be welcomed, Conlon said, and should mail notification cards to Box 1316, Cumberland.

Top emphasis in the parade will be placed on Halloween costumed entrants, the 40 & 8 said.

The parade will form October 31 at 7 p. m. at the State Armory and march off at 8 p. m.

The route of march will be up Union Street to George Street, to Baltimore Street, to Centre Street, to Market Street, to Mechanic Street, to Baltimore to George Street, where the parade will disband.

Conlon said committees for the Halloween celebration will be named in the near future.

NLRB Orders Bargaining Vote At Optical Firm

Clarifies Status Of White-Haines Workers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered a collective bargaining election to determine if the AFL Pittsburgh Optical Workers Union shall represent production employes at the Cumberland, Md., plant of the White-Haines Optical Company.

As part of the order, the Board ruled two employes whose status was questioned are production workers and a third is not.

No date for the election was set, but it must be prior to October 28.

When the union petitioned for the election it asked the NLRB to declare that Carl Van Ausdale, Betty Kiser and Marion McCoy are production workers and should be included in the bargaining unit. The company protested, declaring they were part of the office clerical force.

The NLRB examiner found Van Ausdale selects component parts of eye glasses and routes them to the finishing shop for processing. The examiner ruled he is a production employe because he spends most of his time in the finishing shop with the production employes and has no connection with the office force.

Betty Kiser was put in the production category when the examiner found she spends most of her time washing and cleaning glasses and packing them for mailing.

Marion McCoy, the examiner found, is engaged principally in office and clerical functions. Besides, the examiner said, she is the wife of the branch manager and because of her close relationship with management should not be included in the bargaining unit.

Appeals Court Airs Local Case

The Court of Appeals yesterday began hearing the appeal of the Consolidation Coal Company from a Circuit Court decision which awarded a Frostburg miner a pension.

In his original claim, the late William J. Dugan, then 72, said he had been exposed to silica dust during 49 years of employment with Consolidation.

He applied for compensation when he was found to be suffering from silicosis in 1943.

The company's attorneys say the claim should be disallowed because Dugan did not notify his employer of his disease within the time specified by law.

The State Industrial Accident Commission, however, ordered the coal company to pay Dugan a weekly $20 pension. The company appealed in Circuit Court here, but the court backed up the Accident Commission's order.

Dugan had died since the original ruling, and the company in its appeal named his widow, Mrs. Ida May Dugan, in his place.

'51 Chest Drive Gets Underway With Dinner

Full Cooperation Is Asked Of Public

How individual and company solicitations can be improved in the 1951 Community Chest and United Defense (USO) Drive was the topic of a panel discussion at the "kick-off" dinner last night at Central YMCA.

Charles S. Catherman, Jr., chairman of publicity for the drive, was moderator.

In answering the best means of getting results and contributions in the drive, Edmund S. Burke, chairman for Advance Gifts, said enthusiasm on the part of workers was the prime factor.

He cited the need of additional funds due to increased cost of operating the various agencies, and also noted that the United Defense Drive is included this year. He told the workers to answer any and all questions of contributors, or if unable, to contact Chest headquarters. He added that nothing succeeds as does hard work.

John F. Chisholmn, member of the Budget Committee, told the audience of the splendid cooperation and work of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in furthering the drive. He commented on how to conduct a company campaign and cited the company responsibility in assuring success.

The 1951 budget was outlined by Chairman Arthur B. Gibson. In showing the need for the goal of $105,159.48, Gibson said the increase over last year was necessitated by increased demands of Chest organizations. He remarked on instances of aid given by the Red Feather agencies and told how the budget committee considered all angles of the 1951 requests.

Chest Is Qualified

Judge George Henderson, state chairman of the United Defense Fund drive, spoke on the need for funds to carry on the program for the soldier away from home.

He said the Community Chest Drive was well organized, qualified and capable of handling the added load this year.

He said it should be added incentive for contributors, since such a large number of county men and women are in the service.

County Chairman Harry G. Shupe of the United Defense Fund Drive said that men fighting in Korea are "pretty much forgotten men." He said the need must be stressed to keep the morale of those men up by contributing to the fund. He noted that thus far over 1,800 county residents have joined in the present conflict, with many leaving for induction. He told the assembly he anticipated a successful campaign which would "go over the top."

Care For Home Needs

William H. Buchholtz, city finance commissioner, joined in the panel discussion and explained why not all agencies of Cumberland are included in the present drive. He said some of the agencies are beneficiaries of endowments, churches, gifts and other contributions.

Others, he said, are under a national charter and can't participate in the drive. He asked Cumberlanders to "take care of the home needs," and stressed full cooperation of the citizens.

Earl C. Robertson, president of the Community Chest, stressed the need of funds for the United Defense Fund and asked the soldiers be given a "home away from home." In citing other phases of the Red Feather agencies and their work he reminded Cumberlanders it is "better to build boys than mend men."

He said American youth should have every opportunity in this land of plenty. The time and energy of each individual is necessary, Robertson added, in alleviating the plight of poverty-stricken people.

Ort Gives Views

Prior to closing the panel discussion Louis J. Ort, who spoke on "What the Community Chest-USO Means," said the people of this country should deem it a privilege to aid the underprivileged.

Such activity as the Community Chest Drive, he added, is not fostered by a government such as Russia's.

He urged Chest workers to put their heart into the coming campaign and to assure bringing relief to those who benefit by the contributions. He said spiritual as well as material results would be felt. Ort asked that every contributor give a little more to aid in the success of this year's goal.

Following the discussion a question and answer period was held by Moderator Catherman.

Invocation for last night's "kick-off" dinner was by Rev. William Randolph Keefe, Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church. A community sing was part of the program and the assembly, led by Harry B. Jamison, sang "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "I Want A Girl." Perry Rosenmarkle was at the piano.

The dinner, which was well attended, was served by the YMCA Auxiliary. The first report of the Chest Drive will be given Friday at a 12:15 luncheon in Central YMCA.

The Weather

Everyone will agree that yesterday was certainly a wonderful day although the "return of summer" was rather warm and uncomfortable. Winter wardrobes were forgotten momentarily as the mercury rose during the afternoon. The high as recorded yesterday by the official weather station at Constitution Park was 92 degrees, one of the warmest October days here since 1927. The low was 52 and at 8 p. m. the temperature was 71. Humidity at 6 o'clock was 49 per cent. Forecast for today is continued fair.

Ground Observation Corps Test Alerts Planned Soon

Allegany County representatives have been warned that all Ground Observation Corps posts and filter centers in 19 states of the northeast region of the country will be subjected to a series of test alerts in the near future.

Major General Frederic H. Smith, Jr., commanding general of Eastern Air Defense Force, Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N. Y., said the alerts are designed to "test the speed with which our volunteer Ground Observation Corps program can be mobilized in the event of a real emergency."

No one but EADF will know the dates and times for the alerts, the first of which will be held "very soon."

"No aircraft will be used in this first test," General Smith said. "It will be entirely a telephone check. We won't ask volunteer observers to man their posts. We merely want to determine adequacy of our communications system so that we will get an accurate idea of how long it would take to get our Ground Observation Corps program operational if the need should arise."

In announcing the tests, General Smith said "we have a real air defense problem. The threat, too, is real. The Soviets have the atomic bomb and the Soviets have the aircraft which could deliver an atomic attack on our vital targets on one-way missions or missions involving aerial refueling."

Charles G. Smith, 640 Hill Top Drive, is the county supervisor for Ground Observer Corps, according to county Civil Defense Director William G. Barger.

Smith is working closely with each of the six posts in the county to assure its readiness as these alerts are scheduled.

Flood Worker Hurt In Cave-in

A local flood control worker escaped possible death yesterday when the wall of a ditch he was digging collapsed and partially buried him.

Memorial Hospital attaches said 38-year-old Stanley Wilfong, 115 Harrison Street, was admitted to the hospital at 5:30 p. m. for X-rays and observation.

They said Wilfong complained of pains in the back, but that he was in "good" condition.

Wilfong's fellow workmen said he was digging at the bottom of an eight-foot-deep ditch at Bedford and North Mechanic streets when one wall gave way without warning and buried him chest-deep in clay.

Companions pulled him out and summoned an ambulance. They said it took about eight minutes to free him.

Wilfong is employed by Earl and Son, subcontractors with George and Lynch for the present phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

Summer Pays Return Visit

Summer returned to Cumberland yesterday as the thermometer climbed past the 90-degrees mark to establish a near record for October.

Robert G. Golden, official weather observer, said the temperature at Constitution Park reached 92 degrees yesterday. Low reading for the day was 52.

Golden said records indicate that yesterday was about as hot as an October day as has been noted in this city since 1927.

There have been 11 October days since 1912, Golden said, with temperatures of 90 degrees or higher.

All of the early readings were taken at City Hall, where temperatures are normally from two to three degrees below Constitution Park.

In 1927, the termometer reached 95 on October 1 and 93 the next day. In 1941, October 4 and 6 temperatures were 94, 92 and 94.

Golden Jubilee To Be Marked By Carpenters Local

Carpenters Local 1024 (AFL) this week named a standing committee to plan for the 50th anniversary of the local next spring.

A second committee was named by the local to make plans for building or buying a home for the union.

F. Patrick Allender, business agent, was named chairman of the Golden Jubilee Committee. Other members are J. E. Mullenax, D. R. Scharf, J. J. Eirich, Lewis Twigg and Ralph Porter.

The celebration has been tentatively scheduled for Monday, March 10, 1952, the day on which the local was formed in this city half a century ago.

Allender said additional members will be added to the committee as plans for the celebration progress.

Mullenax was named chairman of the Building Committee. He will be assisted by Louis Firlie, P. R. Wright, Eirich and Allender.

The committee was instructed to investigate the possibilities for either building a new structure or purchasing a building which could be remodeled for a storeroom and headquarters.

May Select Site

The group will be in charge of picking a tentative site and securing plans if construction of a new building is recommended.

For a number of years, Local 1024 has been occupying part of the Allegany Trades Hall on Frederick Street as its headquarters.

Allender, who is first vice president of the Maryland State Carpenters Council, was elected a member of the Executive Board of the West Virginia State Council in St. Albans last week.

The Cumberland local has jurisdiction over Allegany and Garrett Counties in Maryland and in eight Eastern Panhandle counties in West Virginia.

ADDED TELEPHONE FACILITIES—Three easily identified bright red telephone booths along Route 40 east of Cumberland, have been installed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore for the convenience of highway travelers. Richard E. Harman, local office manager, said the telephones are located at Fred's Truck Stop on Polish Mountain, Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge Mountain, and at Town Hill Hotel atop that mountain. Equipped with dial service from the Flintstone exchange, Harman said, the phones are an added facility for motorists in case of emergency, especially when business places are closed. A neat sign at the foot of each side of the mountain informs travelers of the locations of telephones. Shown above at the left is one of the newly installed booths complete with instructions, directory and lighting system. One of the signs is seen at the right.

Forty And Eight Begins Plans For Mardi Gras

Colorful Mummers Parade Is Slated

Plans for the 1951 Halloween celebration were formulated last night by Cumberland Voiture 164, Forty and Eight.

The colorful mummers parade slated as the climax of the event is expected to be a mile and a half long, officials said.

Although the usual prizes will be offered for costumed parties and individuals in the line of march, the committee has voted to eliminate the customary prizes for bands and floats.

No invitations will be sent out to organizations, according to Thomas F. Conlon, acting chairman for the Mardi Gras event.

All units wishing to take part in the parade will be welcomed, Conlon said, and should mail notification cards to Box 1316, Cumberland.

Top emphasis in the parade will be placed on Halloween costumed entrants, the 40 & 8 said.

The parade will form October 31 at 7 p. m. at the State Armory and march off at 8 p. m.

The route of march will be up Union Street to George Street, to Baltimore Street, to Centre Street, to Market Street, to Mechanic Street, to Baltimore to George Street, where the parade will disband.

Conlon said committees for the Halloween celebration will be named in the near future.

NLRB Orders Bargaining Vote At Optical Firm

Clarifies Status Of White-Haines Workers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered a collective bargaining election to determine if the AFL Pittsburgh Optical Workers Union shall represent production employes at the Cumberland, Md., plant of the White-Haines Optical Company.

As part of the order, the Board ruled two employes whose status was questioned are production workers and a third is not.

No date for the election was set, but it must be prior to October 28.

When the union petitioned for the election it asked the NLRB to declare that Carl Van Ausdale, Betty Kiser and Marion McCoy are production workers and should be included in the bargaining unit. The company protested, declaring they were part of the office clerical force.

The NLRB examiner found Van Ausdale selects component parts of eye glasses and routes them to the finishing shop for processing. The examiner ruled he is a production employe because he spends most of his time in the finishing shop with the production employes and has no connection with the office force.

Betty Kiser was put in the production category when the examiner found she spends most of her time washing and cleaning glasses and packing them for mailing.

Marion McCoy, the examiner found, is engaged principally in office and clerical functions. Besides, the examiner said, she is the wife of the branch manager and because of her close relationship with management should not be included in the bargaining unit.

Appeals Court Airs Local Case

The Court of Appeals yesterday began hearing the appeal of the Consolidation Coal Company from a Circuit Court decision which awarded a Frostburg miner a pension.

In his original claim, the late William J. Dugan, then 72, said he had been exposed to silica dust during 49 years of employment with Consolidation.

He applied for compensation when he was found to be suffering from silicosis in 1943.

The company's attorneys say the claim should be disallowed because Dugan did not notify his employer of his disease within the time specified by law.

The State Industrial Accident Commission, however, ordered the coal company to pay Dugan a weekly $20 pension. The company appealed in Circuit Court here, but the court backed up the Accident Commission's order.

Dugan had died since the original ruling, and the company in its appeal named his widow, Mrs. Ida May Dugan, in his place.

U.S. Virtually Bans Trade With Czechs

Concessions Are Cancelled By President

"Squeeze" Put On Communist Nation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The government today virtually suspended trade between the United States and Communist Czechoslovakia.

The Treasury and State Departments invoked technicalities which experts predicted would block about 90 per cent of Czech imports to this country.

This was the latest in a series of steps whittling down commercial relations between the two countries as political differences increased.

Export controls already have cut American exports to Czechoslovakia below 20 per cent of normal—to less than $100,000 monthly.

Today's move will cost the Prague government about $2,160,000 a month of the dollars it has been trying to earn through foreign trade.

The State Department announced it would suspend the granting of required invoices for Czech imports. The Treasury said it would tighten its vigilance to prevent the entry of Czech goods without the invoices.

Oatis Case Not Mentioned

In announcing this move, neither department mentioned the case of William N. Oatis, imprisoned Associated Press correspondent.

But his conviction on what the State Department has called trumped up espionage charges has climaxed deteriorating Washington-Prague relations. Congress demanded suspension of all trade in a resolution. President Truman said Oatis' release would be a good way of starting to improve relations.

Earlier today Mr. Truman ordered the cancellation on Nov. 1 of all trade concessions granted to Czechoslavakia. This followed a congressional directive to eliminate special tariff rates and other privileges for all Communist areas.

This has been done for Bulgaria, Romania and 13 other Red-controlled states. Notice of impending cancellation has gone to Russia, Poland and Hungary.

In Czechoslovakia's case, the suspension of trade concessions would be secondary to the new State-Treasury move. But it would mean higher prices for the 10 per cent or so of Czech imports not affected by invoice restrictions.

How "Squeeze" Will Work

Here's how the State-Treasury "squeeze" will work:

Czech goods shipped to the United States need certified invoices from the U. S. Embassy at Prague. This is normally a routine step.

Even when an invoice is not available, officials said, the practice has been to permit importation of the goods into the U. S. when importers explain they were unable to secure the necessary papers for practical reasons. This has been done in cases where there is no attempt at fraud, upon payment of a $10 penalty fee.

But today the State Department said that issuance of the invoices

Conferees Open Talks On New Tax Measures

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—House and Senate conferees held their first exploratory talks today on the new tax bill but reached no decisions.

They ended the session still $1,800,000,000 apart on the amount of new taxes to be levied, and widely divided on just how to get the money.

Members reported they "barely got into" the first sections of the bill which deal with proposed individual income tax increases.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means Committee was elected chairman of the conference.

Six Sailors Killed During Destroyer Gunnery Practice

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Six Navy men were killed and 15 were injured in antiaircraft gun firing in Cuba yesterday, the Navy announced today.

The accident occurred aboard the destroyer Gatling in exercises in Guantanamo Bay.

A Navy announcement said the Gatling was conducting firing practice when a shell from one five-inch gun hit the barrel of another. Shell fragments caused the deaths and injuries. An investigation is underway, the Navy added. All next of kin of the dead and injured have been notified.

Loyalty Board's Chairman Says Jessup Cleared

Denies Statement By Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — Chairman Hiram Bingham of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board disclosed tonight that the board has found "no reasonable doubt" as to the loyalty of Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup.

At the same time, however, he denied a statement by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that Bingham had told him that if the loyalty board had had the authority "to turn him (Jessup) down as a bad security risk, it would have done so."

The developments came as McCarthy completed day-long testimony challenging President Truman's nomination of Jessup as a delegate to the United Nations.

McCarthy Hurls Charges

Among other things, McCarthy charged that Jessup once "hired Communist writers, accepted Communist money and followed the Communist line."

The State Department's loyalty board ruled some time ago that it found no reasonable doubt of Jessup's loyalty. A government employe can be suspended or fired in cases where reasonable doubt is found.

The State Department's panel sent its findings in the Jessup case on to Bingham's review board for further study.

At the close of today's session, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) put into the record a letter from Bingham dated Sept. 28. Addressed to Sparkman, it said:

Jessup To Testify

"With reference to your letter of September 24 requesting information as to the status of Philip C. Jessup, a panel of the loyalty review board has now put its seal of approval on the action of the loyalty board of the State Department in finding that there is no reasonable doubt of his loyalty."

McCarthy said he had tried to reach Bingham to get permission to quote Bingham as saying the review board would have ruled Jessup a "bad security risk" if it had the power to do so.

Jessup is scheduled to take the witness chair tomorrow morning to reply to McCarthy. He said he will "make a full answer" to all of McCarthy's charges.

Daughter Is Born To Tyrone Powers

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2 (AP) — A daughter was born today to Tyrone Power and his beautous wife, Linda Christian.

They named her Romina Francesca, explaining that they coined Romina to recall Rome, where they met, and took Francesca from the Church of Santa Francesca Romana, where they were married in January, 1949. The six-pound, 11 ounce girl is their first child.

Waves Created In Bathtub "Wash Away" Extra Pounds

PARIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—French beauticians say they have a new, quick method of reducing — by seabathing in the bathtub.

The sea-bath, with motor-driven waves at the rate of two per second to beat off extra pounds painlessly, was a star attraction today at the opening of the salon of woman and beauty at the Palais du Glace, sponsored by Paris hairdressers.

All the ladies' deepest beauty secrets were out, as an audience, at least half male, crowded round stalls exhibiting bust developers, rubber massage rollers, chicken-embryo preparations to remove wrinkles, and the basic elements of powder, rouge and lipstick.

Less grim were feminine frivolities displayed in other stands. A stall featuring disembodied hands wearing luminous nail polish was beside a stand in which disembodied legs revolved, wearing jewel-studded and velvet-embroidered nylons.

The sea bath has French medical approval and is said to "wash away" as much as 35 pounds in a few weeks of 20-minute daily baths. It is a tank which fits into a bathtub, and makes nearly as much noise as genuine surf.

Conferees Cut Special Fund For Air Power

Agree On Defense Bill Of $57 Billion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee agreed tonight on a $57,200,000,000 defense money bill after cutting a special $5,000,000,000 emergency fund for air power to $1,000,000,000.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), who won Senate approval of the extra $5,000,000,000 for air power, told reporters Senate spokesmen agreed to the slash because top defense leaders had failed to provide detailed plans for the expanded air power.

Rep. Mahon (D-Tex), leader of House conferees, said the $1,000,000,000 would provide ample funds for expanding air power between now and January when Congress again will be in session.

One matter still was in dispute as the conferees worked extra hours tonight to reach a compromise on all other matters.

Vets' Release Still Issue

This was a House-passed directive calling for release of all veterans with one year's World War II service who had been called back to duty involuntarily since the Korean war started and had served 12 months.

The Senate, on strong pleas from the Pentagon, knocked out this House directive and House conferees agreed to seek a separate vote there on the issue.

O'Mahoney assured a reporter that funds for developing and production of the "fantastic new weapons" that President Truman and congressmen have been talking about "are still in the bill."

As it passed the House the bill carried a little more than $56,000,000,000. The Senate Appropriations Committee upped this to more than $61,000,000,000 but the Senate cut it back to about $59,500,000,000.

The compromise is about $1,200,000,000 above the House total and about $3,300,000,000 below the Senate total.

Other Actions By Conferees

Other actions by the conferees:

Modified a House provision that attempted to halt retired pay for all military personnel who voluntarily retired before serving periods required by law. This would have applied to both commissioned officers and enlisted men and the Senate knocked it out. The conference limited it to commissioned officers and allowed civilian heads of the Army, Navy and Air Force to grand exemption for hardship

Byrnes Predicts Southern Revolt If Truman Runs

GATLINBURG, Tenn., Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina said today any southern revolt in the presidential election next year will depend on who is nominated by the Democrats in their national convention next July.

He said flatly he will oppose President Truman if he seeks another term. He called on Democrats to nominate either Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia or Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia.

Byrnes gave his views to a news conference during a break in the 43rd annual governors' conference here in which political talk has overshadowed discussions of state problems.

They were particularly significant because Byrnes has been mentioned as the possible leader of an independent southern movement in case Truman again wins the Democratic nomination.

Byrnes is reported to be quietly sounding out sentiment among other southern governors as to the possibility of united southern action next year.

His conference came after the nation's governors had a stormy session with Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing in which both Republicans and Democrats displayed angry impatience with some of the Federal controls in the public welfare field.

With Byrnes taking a leading role, the governors voted unanimous approval of a move to give states the power and authority to publish lists of relief rolls without having their Federal grants withdrawn.

Federal law now imposes secrecy on these relief lists. The Senate has voted to lift the ban but the measure still is pending in the House.

Senate Passes $7,483,400,000 Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Senate today approved a vast one-year outlay of $7,483,400,000 in foreign military and economic aid, raising its earlier figure by $197,150,000.

The vote was 56 to 21.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said the money will meet the needs of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in building up a European defense force to guard against Soviet aggression.

The administration, through Secretary of State Acheson, has served notice that the money is only the first installment of a three-year program estimated to cost American taxpayers around $25,000,000,000.

The bill gives the White House the final authority to coordinate the program and to allocate funds to beneficiary countries.

The measure abolishes the Economic Cooperation Administration and sets up a new mutual security agency. Its $22,500-a-year director, under the President, would have full power to settle disputes arising between various agencies handling the money.

The Defense Department would determine military needs of beneficiary countries, and the State Department would administer the program for aid to underdeveloped areas.

The White House control and divided administration were put in as a response to Republican complaints that the State Department was attempting to hold sway over the military on the arms phases of the program.

Thirty-seven Democrats and 19 Republicans voted for the bill on final passage. Three Democrats and 18 Republicans voted no.

As the next step, the House is expected to act on the bill tomorrow. Then it goes to the White House for President Truman's signature.

Blonde, 20, Denied Frozen Suckers, Divorces Mate, 72

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 2 (AP)—A 20-year-old blonde who sued her 72-year-old husband for divorce because he cut off her supply of frozen suckers got her divorce today.

And the $400 alimony she was awarded by a judge isn't going for more frozen suckers.

Part of it, Geneva Mae Pollum said, will buy clippings of stories of her divorce trial printed in newspapers throughout the country.

"I'll buy some clothes with whatever I have left after buying a scrap book and the clippings," Geneva added.

Regional Armies For U. N. Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—A suggestion was formally advanced today that regional defense forces, such as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's European Army, should be called upon to fight under a U. N. banner in case of an attack.

The suggestion came from a subcommittee of the General Assembly's Collective Measures Committee, which has been studying the whole field of political, economic and military measures that might be used against a future aggressor.

The Eisenhower army is being organized under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, whose members decided it was necessary to build a regional defense force after an East-West deadlock prevented the formation of a permanent U. N. Army.

So far this is the only regional military force of this type.

Downcast British Oilmen Prepare To Surrender Abadan To Iranians

ABADAN, Iran, Oct. 2 (AP)—Downcast British oilmen made their last preparations tonight to take their leave and surrender to the Iranians a vast oil empire built up through half a century.

The evacuation, beginning at 9 a. m. tomorrow (12:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time), is a black day for the British who are ending the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's lucrative development of one of the richest oil areas on the globe.

It is a triumph for those Iranians who had worked for this day since last March, when Iran nationalized the nation's tremendous oil resources. But it could prove a hollow triumph, and worse than defeat, if these Iranians are unable to operate their own industry.

The fellings of the British were expressed by Refinery Boss K. B. Ross, who has been here 18 years.

"I'm leaving a life's work behind," he said. "There is a lot of British in this place."

He expressed the hope that eventually there would be some agreement "so we can came back." I know if we come back it can't be on the same footing, but Iran and Britain can cooperate to run this place," he said.

Iranians can't quite believe that their dreams of kicking the British out are being realized. They credit President Truman with easing tension by his advice to the British not to use force.

Iranian sources said there were about 12,000 troops around Abadan who would have resisted any British landing attempt.

Military Chiefs Agree On Big Air Force Expansion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) informed the Senate today that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have agreed to increase American air power by about 50 per cent.

He said the military leaders already have issued orders to expand the air force "from 95 to about 140 groups," and to devote much of the expansion to tactical air power, which is used in support of ground troops. "The exact figure is a secret, but I believe this to be the general ration," Lodge said.

The Massachusetts senator, a long-time advocate of increased air power, reported "this great increment in American strength" will probably be completed in 1954.

Proportional Theory Discarded

Lodge also told the Senate that the joint chiefs, commanders of the Army, Navy and Air Force, have approved the activation of three more divisions for the Army and one more division for the Marine Corps—"all of which I have long believed were badly needed."

He said the joint chiefs had discarded "the old idea that no single service could be increased without increasing the others in proportion." The proportional theory, he added, always seemed to him to be "an artificial and rather wooden idea."

A Tactical Air Command was created only last month in the Air Force reorganization program. Lodge said he thought the increased emphasis on air support for ground troops would remedy "one of our gravest weaknesses."

Air Force Has 87 Wings

Currently the Air Force is at a strength of 87 wings and is building toward 95.

(The term "wing" is now used generally by the Air Force in preference to "group." A wing is one group of aircraft and air crews with all its extra personnel and equipment for support and maintenance of the group in action. In warplanes, a wing ranges from 30 heavy bombers to 75 fighters. A fighter wing may have as many as 2,700 men.)

UMW Welfare Fund Reports Big Balance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) —The United Mine Workers welfare fund today reported a balance of almost one hundred million dollars after distributing more than a quarter billion dollars to miners and their families since 1946.

The fund's trustees released an audit as of the end of the fiscal year June 30—just five years after the first contract calling for a welfare royalty on each ton of coal.

At first the royalty was five cents a ton, under terms of the agreement between the UMW chief, John L. Lewis, and then Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, ending the long strike of 1946. The amount was boosted to ten cents when the government-operated mines were returned to private owners in July 1947, to 20 cents in 1948 and 30 cents in 1950.

Robinson Paces Brooklyn To 10-0 Win Over Giants

Newcombe To Face Sal Maglie In Finale

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (INS)—Like a punchy heavyweight coming off the canvas and connecting with a series of haymakers, the Dodgers today blasted the Giants 10-0, making necessary a rubber game in the slightly hysterical playoff for the National League pennant.

The Dodgers today bore little resemblance to the beat-up and dispirited gang which blew a 13½ game lead in the final weeks of the pennant race and barely survived to win a place in the playoff to find a team to meet the champion New York Yankees beginning Thursday.

The men of Charles Dressen, brilliantly paced by Jackie Robinson, belted four home runs, made quick capital out of the Giants' five errors, and were wonderfully benefited by a surprisingly fine six-hit pitching job turned in by young Clem Labine.

Giants Stranded

Labine, pitching with a courage and confidence in sharp contrast to his brief acquaintanceship with major league ball, stranded 11 Giants—eight of them in the first four innings. When a gun had to be silenced, he silenced it with a hook like the big dipper.

So the whole season's play and the desperate appendage all comes down to tomorrow's momentous contest at the Polo Grounds, when Don Newcombe, the massive negro righthander who won 20 for his team this year, does battle with Sal Maglie, rough-hewn Giant who won 23.

Giants Overconfident

The Giants were overconfident and, when that was knocked out of them, jittery. Their bumbling in the field was slightly traceable to the sopping the field received during a shower that caused a 41-minute delay in the sixth inning. But it was bumbling nevertheless, and the club never looked like the inspired collection which had won 38 out of 45, including eight straight and seven out of eight over the Dodgers until today.

The big one tomorrow pits two throwers who have had their respective opposition eating out of their large damp paws this season. Newcombe has won five and lost two, when confronted by Giants. Maglie's record against Brooklyn is five and one.

Bureau Of Mines Director Resigns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—President Truman has announced the resignation of Dr. James Boyd as director of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

Kennecott Copper Corp. announced yesterday in New York that Boyd would join its executive staff. His resignation will take effect Oct. 16.

The White House later made public an exchange of letters in which Boyd said he was leaving his post with "deep regret" to return to private life.

Mr. Truman told Boyd in the letter made public today:

"I appreciate the contribution which you have made during a decade of service, both in the Army and in the Department of the Interior."

Boyd's original appointment as Bureau of Mines director was fought unsuccessfully by John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers.

Third New Kensington, Pa., Banker Arrested By FBI

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Oct. 2 (AP)—FBI agents arrested a third banker in this small Western Pennsylvania community on a charge of embezzlement.

The arrest is the second at the First National Bank of New Kensington and the seventh in Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia within a year. It brings the total bank defalcations to nearly $3,000,000.

Latest to be arrested is Otto R. Grotefend, 51-year-old teller at the First National Bank of New Kensington.

He is charged with embezzling $16,000 from the bank.

Special FBI Agent Fred Hallford, in charge of the Pittsburgh office, said the arrest is an outgrowth of the investigation of the alleged embezzlement of $550,000 by William P. Smeltzer, an assistant cashier at the bank.

Hallford said Grotefend signed a statement accepting full responsibility for the shortage. Grotefend, the FBI said, used the bank funds to play slot machines.

The FBI agent quoted Grotefend as saying the shortage is in no way connected with the defalcation charge against Smeltzer.

Import Of Big Attack Veiled In Censorship

Bombardment One Of War's Heaviest

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Wednesday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Massed Allied artillery last night began one of the biggest bombardments of the Korean war against hill-entrenched Reds less than 15 miles away from the site of the suspended truce talks in Western Korea.

The import of the barrage by several hundred guns, and what it possibly presaged, was veiled in censorship.

Shells began pounding Reds on hills and ridgelines from Korangpo northeastward. (The remainder of the sentence pinpointing the attack was censored.)

Korangpo is 28 miles northwest of Seoul, a mile south of parallel 38 and 12 miles almost due east of Kaesong, site of the suspended Korean truce talks.

Attack Follows U. N. Warning

The attack in the vital western sector came at a time when the Allies had served warning on the Reds that if they wanted war instead of armistice, the Eighth Army was prepared to give it in good measure.

The shells of the massed guns fell on the Reds last night at a time the Chinese and North Korean Reds usually begin their night probes and counterattacks.

Hour on hour, the guns roared on, stabbing the inky darkness with bright blasts.

On the opposite end of the war front, in Eastern Korea, the Allies suffered a jolting reverse. South Korean troops who had spent three bloody weeks attacking a key height were driven off of it Tuesday, only a day after finally capturing it.

The peak was lost northwest of "Heartbreak Ridge." It was one of the highest in the area.

Six MIGs Shot Down

In the air, U. S. Sabre jets shot down six Russian-type MIGs Tuesday, the Fifth Air Force reported.

Tying the record for enemy jets destroyed in a single day, Fifth Air Force pilots also probably destroyed one MIG and damaged another in two furious engagements. The Air Force said all Allied planes returned to bases.

The two dog fights involved 193 planes.

On the ground, fiercely resisting Chinese Communists again stalled an Allied ridgeline drive in Western Korea. Red mortars and artillery shells fell for more than four hours on U. N. positions at the rate of 100 shells an hour.

Reds Hint At Refusal To Move Truce Talks

TOKYO, Wednesday, Oct. 3 (AP)—Efforts to end the Korean war by negotiation hung in delicate balance today.

The Communist radio hinted the Reds would refuse to agree to the Allied proposal to move the talks to neutral ground.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, talked confidently of the Allies fighting the

Curley Withdraws From Boston Race

BOSTON, Oct. 2 (INS)—Former Mayor James M. Curley tonight announced he was withdrawing from Boston's mayoralty race and leaving the way clear for the reelection of Incumbent John B. Hynes.

The 70-odd year old veteran political figure, who has suffered from diabetes for the past several years, made known his decision at his Jamaica Plain home.

The decision must have been sudden because Curley, after winning nomination on Sept. 25, announced he intended to wage a bitter fight against Hynes for the mayor's post.

Hitler Interpreter Tells Another Inside Story Of Second World War

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW YORK—(AP)—Hitler's interpreter says in a book to be published this week that sources in Franco Spain tipped off the Germans beforehand on the Roosevelt-Churchill conference of January, 1943, in Casablanca.

But the Germans, who might have air-raided the Allied leaders, did nothing about it because translators in Berlin took Casablanca to be literally "White House." That's Spanish for white house all right. But Casablanca and the White House the Germans thought about are thousands of miles apart.

Dr. Paul Schmidt, in the book called "Hitler's Interpreter" published by the MacMillan Company, calls this intelligence bobble a "dreadful howler" committed by the German Foreign Office languages service.

"Our Foreign Office spokesman x x x boasted to a press conference that we had certain knowledge that Roosevelt and Churchill were very soon to meet in Washington. It was an unpleasant surprise x x x when the conference took place a few days later in North Africa."

Schmidt, who professes to have been an unwilling but interested servant of high level Nazis, tells an inside story of Nazism that already has been gone over thoroughly in many respects. Some of his details are new to written history and appear to be authentic.

He was an old League of Nations hand and a master of languages, excepting the Russian, and served as interpreter and official reporter at many conferences. He sat in as an observer at Hitler's and Foreign Minister Ribbentrop's sessions with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov that led to the wartime non-aggression pact, broken by Hitler's fateful thrust into Russia on June 22, 1941. And Schmidt was there when Ribbentrop gave the Soviet ambassador the bad news.

Schmidt says he resisted Nazi party membership until 1943. He saw war prisoners from both sides of the barbed wire and was a post-war interpreter-prisoner of the Allies and a witness for prosecution and defense at Nuernberg.

Schmidt regarded President Roosevelt's unconditional surrender statement at Casablanca as a blunder that stiffened the weakening German resistance and prolonged the war.

While much of the book is not new, except in detail, it throws some significant light on how Generalissimo Francisco Franco outsmarted Hitler to keep Spain out of fighting for the Axis.

Had Spain come into the war for Hitler, Spain now would be dealt with as a defeated enemy on Western-power terms; instead, Spain is being dealt with by the American mission now working to set up U. S. air and naval bases on the fringes of the Atlantic pact defenses.

Schmidt attended the 1940 meeting of Hitler and Franco at Hendaye at which Hitler proposed that the Germans would take Gibraltar from the British and hand it to Spain. He already had troops in Southern France practicing on a facsimile of "The Rock" and had a strategem figured out to take the real thing.

Franco wanted Gibraltar but not German troops. He fended off Hitler's idea by saying Spanish pride required that the rock must be taken by Spanish troops.

Schmidt says Franco droned along in a soft sing-song voice that got on Hitler's nerves; eventually Franco put his price so ridiculously high in guns and food that Hitler left Hendaye in disgust.

Thus, Franco was nothing more than a highly nationalistic and silent, spying partner of the Axis after the Germans and Italians had used his country to Franco's advantage for their tuneup for big war in the Spanish civil war.

HELD IN DEATH OF PRACTICAL JOKER

A MACHINIST, Frank Capizzi listens to testimony at the Los Angeles coroner's inquest into the death of Harry Salmons, a fellow-employee, who was shot to death after he played a series of practical jokes on Capizzi. Jurors were told how Salmons hid Capizzi's chair and tools, put grease on the handles of his machine and poured oil on his bench. The dead man's wife, Ethel, sits in rear, her head on the shoulder of her father, Scott Rarick. Soon after, the coroner's jury found Capizzi "criminally responsible" for Salmons' death. (International Soundphoto)

Lanza Sets Up Trust Fund For Pittsburgh Foundling

HOLLYWOOD, (INS)—A homeless waif in a Pittsburgh foundling home will receive a formal education because a movie fan sent a clipping to Singer Mario Lanza, the latest idol of the boby-soxers.

Lanza announced that he was setting up a trust fund for the three-weeks-old tot who was discovered on the doorstep of a suburban Pittsburgh apartment last Sept. 14. He was one-day old at the time.

The child was taken to Pittsburgh hospital where nurses promptly named him Mario after their screen heart throb.

When Lanza received the clipping, he immediately dispatched a $500 check to the Roselia Foundling Home where little Mario is now in residence.

Lanza, who has a pair of youngsters of his own, Colleen, 3, and Elissa, 1, said that money will continue to be sent to be put in a trust fund for the youngster's education.

The handsome screen singer declared:

"I feel that a formal education will at least give him the equipment with which to cope with life."

Lanza said he would not be able to get back right away to see his new "friend," but that as soon as he finishes a current picture commitment he will make a trip to Pittsburgh and get acquainted with "little Mario."

Registration Cards Must Be Completed

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery urged those persons being notified that their names have been removed from registration books to give full information on cards which are to be returned to his office.

Ullery said that in some cases a person who has moved from one precinct or ward to another may be carried on two sets of books under the old system. By listing the correct information on the cards which they are to return, this duplication is erased and the voter status clarified.

The notices were sent persons who are not recorded as balloting in the last five calendar years.

Meanwhile, many voters daily are taking advantage of the continuing registration program, Ullery said.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

Scientific Method of Control

CRAWLING insects are the most difficult to control, as they can be brought into any home from the market in a bag of potatoes or other groceries.

Science has just come forth with a new discovery that kills roaches, ants, waterbugs, and silverfish, and that stays effective for months. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH, and is a colorless, odorless, stainless coating that you can brush on any surface.

For Roaches

To kill roaches, brush NO-ROACH on baseboards, kitchen cabinets, near the sink, stove, icebox, etc. Insects that cross the coating become paralyzed and die.

For Ants

Brush this colorless coating across window sills, door sills, and table legs, and wherever they appear. Ants will not cross the coating, which is effective for months.

For waterbugs and silverfish, brush NO-ROACH wherever they appear.

Brush NO-ROACH just where you want it. No more messy powder sprinkling or all over spraying, when you start controlling crawling pests this modern NO-ROACH way.

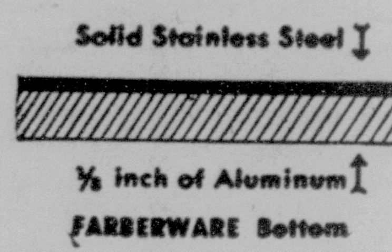
Farberware

heavy aluminum-clad
Stainless Steel cooking ware



. . . the TOPS in Bottoms!

YOUR BEST BUY! HERE'S WHY!

- spreads heat more evenly
- easier to keep clean and shining
- can be used on high or low heat . . . on any type of stove
- ideal for "waterless" or regular cooking
- gives years of service
- has all the advantages of stainless steel

Thick layer — ⅛ inch — of aluminum bonded to a layer of stainless steel. The thick aluminum spreads the heat more evenly and thoroughly. The combination of the two metals helps trap the heat — keeps heat in bottom of pan — where it belongs. Make this test yourself: Fry two griddle cakes, one in a skillet you now have . . . another in a new Farberware pan. You'll see the Farberware-cooked cake is an even color all over, indicating a more even distribution of heat.

20 lucky customers attending the demonstration will receive a FREE ALUMINUM TRAY each day at 11:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Free Press Spreads Light

"Your newspaper lights the way of freedom." That is the theme that has been chosen for the 1951 observance of National Newspaper Week, being marked throughout America this week.

The choice of a theme is a fine one, for the slogan has far-reaching implications.

First of all, it suggests that where there is no light there is darkness. In this case the darkness is ignorance, "a night," someone has said, "without moon or stars."

The National Newspaper Week theme presumes the right to pierce that darkness with the light of information and it presumes at the same time the right to keep that light burning in face of all odds.

For free man has a right to know. If there is a right to know, then there must be a right to tell.

The men who made this nation considered the right to tell so important that they wrote it into the No. 1 Amendment to our Constitution: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging freedom of speech and freedom of the press."

But the right to tell is more than a privilege; it is a duty.

Elijah Lovejoy, abolitionist editor at Alton, Ill., believed it his right to carry the lamp of the free press and he knew his duty to light it and keep it burning. Three times mobs destroyed his printing presses. While he was protecting his fourth press, Lovejoy was shot to death.

Don Melott, the Canton, Ohio, publisher, kept the spotlight of publicity focused on the racketeers in his community until they ambushed him and shot him at his own doorstep.

Racketeers, international or smalltime, know the power of the press. That is why they must control that power, why they must black out the light of public information if they are to attain and maintain a grip on the people.

That is why half the population of the world is under some form of censorship today.

That is why General George C. Marshal, former Secretary of Defense, said, "Americans should keep constantly in mind that no people have lost their liberties so long as their press remained free."

That is why in the interest of world understanding—and hence in the interest of peace—our nation seeks actively to spread throughout the world the freedom of the people to learn the truth.

A free press—a free people.

"Your newspaper lights the way of freedom."

The vital truth of that message is the one thing National Newspaper Week has to sell.

In Behalf Of Aged

A call on business to consider dropping 65 years as an arbitrary retirement age for a flexible policy based on the physical and mental ability of an individual has come out of the Second International Congress of Gerontologists just held in St. Louis. These experts in the scientific study of old age cited statistics to refute beliefs that older workers were more subject to accidents, more disposed to absenteeism and harder to get along with than younger workers.

Emphasized was the fact that while medical progress has increased the proportion of old people, modern civilization has decreased their opportunities for work. Shutting them off gainful employment on a chronological age basis was declared an economic fallacy, particularly at a time when the nation had need for greater manpower.

A report covering 17,800 workers ranging from 20 to 74 years stated the conclusion that "the only disadvantage of older workers is that their disabilities last longer when they are injured, but they are less likely to be absent and perhaps less likely to be injured than a younger worker."

As for the length of disability, it was found to be only slightly greater with age—3.2 days for workers over 60 as compared to 2.1 days for those between 31 and 60.

Weariness and loss of interest in life was rejected by the gerontologists as inevitable in old age—this state, it was declared, was the result of nothing more than food deficiency. A recent hospital study of 350 men and women past 60 revealed that the ailments of 65 per cent were due solely to unsatisfactory dietary habits. Primary requisites of diet for the aged were given as restriction in total calories, extra fortification with proteins, vitamins and minerals and a generous fluid intake.

Much other enlightening information of medical, psychological and economic character was presented to help correct many misconceptions about the aged, even among the aged themselves.

A Good Cigar

Complete with 30 bands, 60 queens and an address from Governor John Davis Lodge, the Capitol Building at Hartford, Conn., was the center of a celebration designed to revive waning cigar sales throughout the United States. Connecticut boasts a $55,000,000 per annum tobacco-growing industry. The area grows cigar wrapper tobacco. Filer comes from other regions.

It will be news to most people that cigar smoking is on the downgrade. The reasons are not evident, although the surmise might be hazarded that the speed of modern life does not encourage reflective smoking. Wives sometimes object to pipes; few mind the aroma of a good cigar.

The cigar is a ceremonious smoke. At the end of formal dinners, cigars are passed with a flourish. The dealer in even low-priced cigars holds out the box for the customer to select his choice. Smoking a cigar is serious business, to be conducted with discrimination. No one has ever been known to take a few puffs from a cigar and toss it aside.

When the cigar store Indian disappeared into antique shops and museums, American life lost a picturesque touch. Moreover, the cigar store had a rich and mingled fragrance suggesting a good dinner, a comfortable chair, a bazing fire and a perfecto. There will be lots of non-smokers who will wish Connecticut's tobacco sales well.

As for devotees of cigars, their poet laureate is still Rudyard Kipling, who wrote long ago: "And a woman is only a woman, but a good cigar is a smoke."

How To Keep Well

Newer Ulcer Remedies

There is no ideal ulcer remedy. Numerous drugs have been introduced, however, so that we now have products capable of attacking these lesions from various angles. The older medicines neutralize acids; the newer ones affect the acid secreting glands or form a protective coating over the surface of the lesion.

It is encouraging to note that most of the new compounds are based on sound scientific reasoning. This may be the handwriting on the wall, indicating that the problem is close to being solved. Much attention has been directed toward the neutralization of the stomach acid and pepsin. Even in the 19th century these secretions were blamed for ulcers. The noted French physician, Claude Bernard (1813-1878), realized that altho everyone has acid, only a few develop ulcers. He theorized that the lining of the normal stomach must contain a substance that protects it against being digested by its own acid and pepsin.

Among the latest products are several that block the transmission of nerve impulses to the stomach. By cutting off the stimulating influences, gastric secretion is reduced and the churning motion of the stomach is lessened. Banthine is one. Hexamethonium iodine (C6) is another, but it has not been tried sufficiently to warrant conclusions. It was given to 10 ulcer patients, however, and made the acid disappear completely in five and decreased it substantially in three. Tetraethyl ammonium chloride and dibutoline are other blocking agents belonging in this category.

The hormone, enterogastrone, was publicized several years ago as a real champion in the battle against ulcers but it has failed to live up to its reputation. A somewhat similar hormone, urogastrone, has shown more promise. This preparation is isolated from urine and depresses gastric secretion when given hypodermically. A related product, kutrol, comes from the urine of pregnant mares. There have been many favorable reports on this substance, such as the study on its administration to 16 patients who had not responded to the conventional ulcer management. Of the group, 15 reported relief within four to six weeks. In addition, the crater disappeared, as demonstrated by X-ray studies.

Sodium carboxymethylcellulose is another newcomer; it alkalizes without producing an acid rebound. Furthermore, the material is tenacious and forms a protective coating by adhering to the walls of the stomach. This antacid is a two for one drug because it is nonabsorbable and has a laxative action after traveling into the large intestine. However, despite this buildup, it has not made an impressive record. In one study, 61 per cent remained comfortable for a period of one year; the remainder had recurrences.

Even the plastics have invaded this field in the form of anion exchange resins. These insoluable substances still are in the throes of investigation. They have a neutralizing effect which has not proved superior to many of the medicines already on the market. There also is a growing tendency among scientists to use combinations of drugs—mixtures of old remedies with new names. Many have been devised in the hope of enhancing the efficacy of two drugs or offsetting an undesirable reaction of one by the opposing action of another. Good results often are obtained in this way.

TOMORROW—The beginning of tuberculosis.

SNAPPING JAW

M. D. writes: What causes your jawbone to snap when you yawn?

REPLY

Mine or yours? The snap usually stems from the ligaments and capsules surrounding the hinge of the jaw. If you refer to the popping sensation in the ears that accompanies a good yawn, this occurs when the Eustachian tubes open.

PECULIAR HERNIA

N. T. writes: What is the cause of a hiatus hernia?

REPLY

In this disorder, there is an opening in the diaphram, which allows part of the stomach to protrude into the chest. Strain, injury, or a developmental defect of the diaphragm or esophagus may be responsible.

FALLING DANDRUFF

N. H. writes: Is dandruff catching?

REPLY

No, except that the shoulders sometimes catch the flakes from the scalp.

LEG PAIN

J. O. writes: Is intermittent claudication the same as hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

No. Intermittent claudication results from poor circulation, of which arteriosclerosis is one of the two chief causes. The other is Buerger's disease. In both instances, the blood flow is sluggish and pain develops in the calf of the leg while walking.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Attorney O'Gara Staged One-Man Fight; Efforts To Probe Internal Revenue Irregularities Were Blocked; O'Gara Faced Possible Indictment

WASHINGTON — Most amazing inside fact about the recent clean-up of the San Francisco Internal Revenue office is that certain U. S. officials tried to indict the young man who first pushed this clean-up.

He is Charles O'Gara, assistant U. S. attorney in San Francisco, who for more than a year had tried to investigate and, if guilty, prosecute some of the income tax officials now suspended.

During all this period, it was no secret to high officials that income tax wire-pulling was suspected in Northern California. And not only did these officials turn a deaf ear about a house cleaning but they attempted to indict the man who tried to clean house.

The story is almost unbelievable and somewhat complicated. It goes back to August, 1950, when U. S. Judge J. Waties Waring of South Carolina, sitting temporarily in California, smelled something wrong regarding a narcotics case and suggested to young Assistant U. S. Attorney O'Gara that he investigate.

From that time—Aug. 5, 1950, until April 3, 1951—O'Gara tried to get a grand jury hearing of suspected Internal Revenue irregularities. All his efforts were blocked from above.

Meanwhile certain things going on inside the San Francisco Internal Revenue office obviously merited investigation, merely on the face of them. Here are some instances:

1. AN INTERNAL REVENUE EMPLOYES' FUND was collected from brewers, liquor dealers, bookies, prostitutes and delinquent taxpayers. One of the men involved in collecting this fund was John A. Malone, brother of William Malone, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee for San Francisco and most potent Democratic wheelhorse in Northern California.

2. JOHN MALONE, brother of the Democratic bigwig, operated an accounting and income tax office of his own, though he was also assistant chief of the income tax division. Malone has now been suspended.

3. PAUL V. DOYLE, chief office deputy of the San Francisco Internal Revenue office, also operated an accounting firm and gave income tax advice on the side. He too has now been suspended.

4. JOHN BOLAND, chief field deputy, maintained a deputy collector, Jack Crowley, as his chauffeur, was a close pal of Chief Collector, Smythe, Doyle and Malone. Last week he was suspended.

5. IGNATIUS BERESFORD, chief assistant in the Wage and Excise Division, also operated an income tax service in off hours. He has now been suspended.

6.COLLECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE JAMES SMYTHE, now suspended for "incompetence," had admitted under cross-examination before the Kefauver Committee that he had been a delinquent taxpayer prior to his appointment to the job of collecting other peoples' taxes in 1945. However, Smythe had been the campaign manager for Democratic Sen. Sheridan Downey and deserved reward. Furthermore, Mrs. Smythe was one of Downey's secretaries.

The above facts were well known to U. S. Treasury officials in Washington, yet U. S. Assistant Attorney O'Gara was not able, for approximately one year, to proceed with any investigation.

Finally, a forthright grand jury, headed by Richard Seward, first of all indicted James M. MacInnes, an attorney in the narcotics case presided over by Judge Waring; and then called in Robert McMillan, chief assistant U. S. attorney, put him under subpoena and asked him, among other things, why the facts unearthed by the Kefauver Committee regarding Internal Revenue had not been followed up. Charles Davis, head of Internal Revenue's local intelligence unit, was also examined. Neither could give a satisfactory answer.

Consequently, the Seward runaway grand jury directed O'Gara to continue this probe before another federal grand jury headed by John Taylor. On May 16, O'Gara attempted to do so.

But suddenly U. S. Judge Lewis F. Goodman called the grand jury before him, instructed it that it had now power to proceed.

Local political observers believe it may or may not be significant that Judge Goodman was appointed on the recommendation of Senator downey, close friend of Collector James Emythe, whose office was being probed.

Following this, Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney McMillan took over a new grand jury probe of Internal Revenue matters, despite the fact that he had previously been called on the carpet by a runaway grand jury and quizzed regarding the government's failure to clean house.

Meanwhile young Mr. O'Gara, the idealistic assistant who had insisted on going into these tax matters, suddenly found himself under investigation. He was accused of intimidating a government witness.

He was so informed on June 4 by his boss, U. S. Attorney Chauncey Tramultolo. The FBI then called on O'Gara, informed him that on May 28 they had been ordered by top officials in the Justice Department in Washington to investigate him on a complaint by Louise Haller, a notary public, who testified in the MacInnes narcotics case.

A committee from the Seward grand jury which had indicted MacInnes immediately came to O'Gara's defense, said there was no question in their minds between O'Gara and Miss Haller as to who was telling the truth.

Nevertheless, the case against O'Gara was presented to the grand jury, and on July 3, U. S. Judge Edward P. Murphy instructed the grand jury to conclude its deliberations within the next 48 hours.

On July 5, as the 48 hours were about to expire, the jury asked U. S. Attorney Tramutolo whether he wanted O'Gara indicted. His reply, in effect, was "It's up to you."

O'Gara was not indicted. The grand jury was all too familiar with his attempts to clean up the San Francisco Internal Revenue office—attempts now belatedly but fully justified.

NOTE—Most important thing to remember about the San Francisco clean-up and other tax irregularities around the country is that federal tax collectors and judges owe their appointment to individual senators or local bosses. Thus, some of them tend to do not what is good for all the American people, but what is good for the men who appoint them.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK— (INS) —The top matchmaker now functioning at Madison Square Garden is not Al Weill. Turns out to be Lillian Jenkins.

Diamond Lil, finest lady sports publicist since the field was opened to the stronger sex, has promoted more scraps than Weill, Mike Jacobs and the late Jimmy Johnston combined.

Lil is the doll who gives her blessing to the annual epidemic of matrimony which strikes the Garden every October when the rawhide lads and lassies come in from the lone prair-ee to commit the rodeo.

You can sing all you want about that lone prair-ee and the moon a'slanting o'er the desert and courtin' time around the old chuck wagon. Most of the authentic rodeo cowhands and the trim little gals who dress up the big show seem to get that hankering to settle down only when they hear the sweet thunder of the Eighth Avenue subway, which is underneath their corral, and inhale the heady fragrance of Times Square when the wind is blowing old newspapers into the gulch at dawn.

Lil's been in the matrimonial business, more or less, since 1939, and it all turns out to be the fault—if that's the word—of an old Yale blue named Reed Kilpatrick. Kilpatrick, who heads the Garden, decided that the babes who came east with the roded did not necessarily have to look like daguerreotypes of Annie Oakley or be as bird-brained as the average heroine in horse operas.

So she rigged out the prairie flowers in silks and embroidered blouses, pants that did not quite permit of breathing, and a kind of John (or Fred) Frederics' version of the 10-gallon Stetson. His electricians made them additionally irresistable with an ersatz moon.

Well, podner, there was this big hand Dan Taylor from Big Spring, Texas, who'd know little Annabelle Edwards back home for nigh on to ten years, man and boy. But he had never seen li'l old Annabelle looking near as purty as she looked in the rodeo, with all those new trimmin's. So he asked Lil Jenkins for her hand, and Lil was in business.

Since then she has been the Beatrice Fairfax of such hitchings as that of Toots Mansfield's union with Mary Nell Edwards, one of the classiest riders ever to stand the hair of New York's sadly jaded sports fans on end.

And Lil was there, too, when none other than Homer Pettigrew and Wag Blessing, two hands who seemed headed for eternal bacherlorhood in their native habitats, went plumb crazy about Ada Lee Perner and Faye Johnson—under the spell of that Consolidated Edison moon.

Lil more or less helped raise Mitzi Ann Lucas, beautiful daughter of two fine rodeo troupers. Mitzi Ann spent most of the first year of her life in a basket, backstage in the Garden, Around Fort Worth she was a real belle. But it wasn't until she met up with Lanham Riley at the Garden—and talked it over with Lil—that she decided to get married.

One of the reasons why there's a new crop of cow gals at each rodeo is that when they check in with Lil before going out on the tanbark she is now inclined to measure them for wedding gowns. She figures if they get this far away from lands which cowboy crooners constantly moo are rugged Gretna Greens, they've got to go.

The rodeo this year is better than ever, my kids report. But I keep wondering what we in this section of the country can do for the west in return. I still think it would be a good idea to start a movie company that would make easterns for western consumption. We'd have a Cadillac roundup, or rustle, and maybe a big gun scene, involving seltzer bottles at 30 paces, fought to a savage inconclusion at El Morocco.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Economic Union

The more international conferences that are held, the more clearly an economic pattern presents itself which seems (and I use this verb advisedly) to tend toward a merging of the Western world into an economic union in which the United States will act as the supplier to those nations which are or seem to be in need.

It is an arrangement for the distribution of wealth on an international level. The obvious manifestation of this plan appeared in lend-lease, the Marshall Plan (ERP, ECA) and Point Four. In a manner, the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the Export-Import Bank and the RFC have played a part in the development, but even more so, the depression of the American dollar, making it constantly cheaper, is an instrument for levelling values.

The economic union has not in any way been so formalized that it would be necessary to present it to Congress or parliament for adoption. This would be unsound politically and could create such outraged antagonism as to defeat it altogether. Rather, step by step, acts have been implemented which achieve some movements in the direction desired by those who, in particular, see in the United States a basis for the restoration of British economy even under socialism.

There can be no question but that Great Britian's position is perilous. During this century, Great Britain's economy has depended upon banking, shipping, insurance and re-exports. The United States, Canada, India, Malaya, the Dutch East Indies and China played a great part in this business. Britain garnered liquid capital from many quarters in Europe and invested it in Asia, Africa, the United States and wherever in the world liquid capital was required. No other country has developed equal skill in banking, insurance or shipping, and the profits were good.

The essential cause for World War I was the German invasion of every field of British economic activity, including heavy machinery and textiles. After World War I, Japan entered these economic areas with startling success, particularly in shipping and textiles. The Japanese were astonishingly competent in China, Malaya, India and North Africa, with the result that a mounting antagonism developed between Great Britain and Japan. This was emphatically notable after the termination of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance in 1922.

World War II left Great Britain prostrate and dependent upon the United States. If any country can be said to have lost World War II, from the standpoint of costs, that country is Great Britain. The United States came to the rescue with lend-lease, with various devices worked out at Bretton Woods (1944), with the British loan of $3,750,000,000, with the Marshall Plan which became ECA, with Point Four that aids British-controlled or former British colonial areas, with European military aid which grew into the general term, NATO, with tariff controls favoring British exports to the United States, and with many other economic devices which have assisted the British.

The fact does stand that with all the aid that the United States has given Great Britain, at unbelievably great direct and indirect costs to the American people, the Socialist government of Great Britain is again in trouble and the likelihood is that Great Britain will not be able to meet its obligations to us under the loan agreement. In fact, the situation is becoming so tight that a general election is being held to achieve either a vote of confidence for the Socialists or to produce a government under Winston Churchill, who would then speak to this country in those accents which our people so love, but it will have to do with dollars.

To save Great Britain and what is left of the British Empire, many Americans believe that the solution is an economic union between the two countries. As far back as 1945 there was talk of this. Now that NATO is an actuality, the talk, in private still, is more vehement. One argument is that Europe is accustomed to British leadership, which must be maintained if Western Europe is to be useful in a war or in war-prevention against Russia. Europe is, it is said, unaccustomed to American methods and irked by the type of leadership the United States offers.

I do not know whether anyone in American public life will have the courage to propound this program to the American people, but as their economic activities are studied, it is becoming increasingly clear that this is the program and that we are being moved into such a union.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Again the problem of a decision in Korea has risen to haunt the government here. People in all parts of the country are writing to members of Congress about it. They want to know where all the "fantastic weapons" are that President Truman referred to several weeks ago. They want to know why they aren't being used.

For a while, as the cease-fire talks dawdled along, the nation had the impression that hostilities were not being pressed too hard by either side. The Defense Department here went so far as to emphasize that there were no UN casualties on one certain day. Certainly the losses for a few weeks seemed light to everybody—except, of course, to the "next of kin." Then came the bloody fighting at "Heartbreak Ridge." It started a new wave of criticism.

Public Attitude Stiffening

As long as there seemed to be hope for a peaceful settlement, the pressure on Congress to do something about the Korean situation was alleviated. Now, as it is evident that the Communists are playing tricks with the situation, the public attitude is stiffening and there are demands that something be done.

The administration has taken cognizance of the growing dissatisfaction. General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has gone to the Far East and he is accompanied by Charles Bohlen, counsellor of the Department of State. The trip is described officially as without significance other than to check up on what is happening. But whatever purpose the government has in mind by the trip would hardly be disclosed in any official announcement.

The statements by Generals Ridgway and Van Fleet have been issued in the last 48 hours in an attempt to give the public an idea of what is happening on the military front. The need for the offensive, even though of a limited nature, which has just been carried on is explained and an effort made to justify it. It is plain that the two statements are of a kind calculated to respond to criticism. If it is being assumed that the American aggressiveness in the fighting lately has been unnecessary, then the two statements tell why that's a wrong assumption.

But beneath the whole situation is the realization here that things cannot go on much longer the way they have. The first step is to inform the Reds that something very terrible is going to happen to them if they continue to dillydally with the cease-fire talks and keep on issuing propaganda messages about "violations" of the neutral zone. General Ridgway is now hinting at that very thing. Last March General MacArthur issued such a warning to the Communist armies and their leaders, that the UN might get tough, whereupon it was solemnly declared in news dispatches from European Allied countries and also in statements by administration officials that this was a move which never should have been made and that it might provoke Russian entrance into the war.

Expansion Is Likely

But now, after President Truman's recent speeches saying that force alone talks in international affairs when the enemy is ruthless and unprincipled, it does look as if expansion of the war in Korea is a likely step.

The Communist radio suspects that something is in the wind. It has declared that new amphibious landings by the UN forces are in prospect. It has said that the UN forces also are planning to use atomic weapons. Maybe that's a "fishing expedition"—an effort to find out what the allies are up to. But there are not many moves left. If the UN forces do have atomic weapons, they'll find public opinion in America demanding that they be used and the situation clarified. If they haven't any such weapons, then a step-up in the use of heavy artillery and conventional bombing are the alternatives.

In any case, the American people have not been prepared for an endless war and another winter for more than 300,000 American boys in and around Korea with no present sign that any other nation is going to help on the "rotation" plan by providing any substantial number of replacements. It is by far the most delicate problem before the government today, and a climax of some kind may be expected in the whole Korean picture before another month has passed.

The Old Second Guesser

You Can't Take It With You

"You can't take it with you," say the wiseacres.

I guess they are right with the taxes nowadays and those in prospect, so you might as well spend it while you have it, and the dollars will buy something. That's what my friend, Charles Francis Coe, thought the other night when he gave a sumptuous spread at the Park Lane, attended by the sports of the town, actors, wits, editors, writers, and yours truly.

Mr. Coe, a former author, is now a prominent lawyer in Florida and publisher and editor of both the newspapers in West Palm Beach—a versatile fellow, a splendid companion, and a genial host. To his cronies, he is known as Socker for, years ago, he served a hitch in the United States Navy where he made quite a record as a boxer, winning the middleweight championship.

The affair was lively from the start. Roland Young, the Thespian, told a success story about how stewards on trans-Atlantic liners are trained to meet any situation without being nonplussed. He illustrated the tale by acting out the parts of the various characters which showed he is a talented wit. A couple of other fellows came up with some old stories which wouldn't be funny if new, and got a few polite guffaws. Ring Lardner used to have a formula to shut off these narrators. When a guy would ask him if he had heard the one about the female alligators, he would reply.

"Yes." Sometimes it worked.

The host is a fascinating raconteur and with some persuasion reported on the time Leon Errol, the comedian with the rubber legs, and he visited Charles G. Dawes when he was ambassador to England. Mr. Errol played the part of the second butler with some success and to the consternation of the more dignified British guests. When his identity was disclosed, Ramsay MacDonald, then Prime Minister, engaged him in conversation about the theater.

"If I like a show," said the statesman enthusiastically, "I often go to see it eight or ten times."

"When I don't get it the second trip, to hell with it," replied the comedian.

"Socker, tell them the story of how you won the middleweight championship of the Navy," suggested Roy Howard, the newspaper publisher.

Rather reluctantly our host agreed.

"There was a sailor named Veesock, his square moniker, who was going to box me for the title, and I figured I could beat him without too much trouble. Our pay ran only something like $29 a month, so a lot of my friends, hoping to pick up a little extra cash, I found, had bet he could last eight rounds with me.

"'Let him stay,' one of them urged. 'Think of my wife and kid.' I gave him a nod, and everybody and his brother began to put up their money on the same proposition.

"My opponent took sick, and the bout was called off about a week before the date. I quit training and ate a lot of mangoes and other junk not nourishing for a boxer, including some medicine the ship's doctor gave me which was an allopathic dose. Then Veesock suddenly got better, and the Admiral announced the fight was on. A big crowd gathered, including officers in their whites and some wives, even.

"By the end of the second round, I had cramps so bad I knew I couldn't last the eight and had to get away from there promptly. When the bell rang for round 3, I walked out and hit Mr. Veesock on the whiskers and down he went for the count. I certainly lost a lot of pals in the U. S. Navy who never understood nor would they believe my explanation."

This is not reported in Socker's picturesque style, or with all the gruesome details, but it still seems to be worth telling, letting the reader use his imagination.

Yes, a newspaperman leads an interesting life.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK.—Nobody has to be told at this time about the work that USO Camp Shows has done, over the last eight or nine years, to keep American soldiers from going out of their minds with boredom and depression. However, it's possible that a lot of people think that the organization folded its tent and stole away when World War II ended. It is a pleasure to report today that it's still going strong at the old stand in the East Forties, and that it has more than a dozen units—a unit usually being a dancing team, an accordionist, a ventriloquist and a singer, or six to eight such performers—either overseas or on the way.

I had a long talk today with a slim, good-looking blonde named Sunny Dale, who's just on the verge of heading across the big drink to Korea with a unit. She's a straight girl, or stooge, for a comedian named Frank Conville, and I wanted to talk to her because she spent most of the last war entertaining troops at Saipan, Iwo Jima, in Japan, Germany, and just about everywhere else that Mars was rearing its ugly head.

I wanted to know why she was going back. Maybe she just needed the job. I didn't know. Maybe she'd been spoiled by those soldier audiences. They have said that a performer can just wiggle her finger and the grateful GIs laugh.

Miss Dale eyed herself in her hand mirror, flecked away a bit of powder base, and thought for a moment. "Well I guess because it is satisfying," she said, "—but more than that, it's the only thing important that I can think of for me to do.

"Everybody agrees it's important. So I do it. It isn't any good to talk about it and do it a year from now. I do it now. I can always work for the general public."

Well, we talked like that for a while, and when we were through, I was all set to cast Sunny in my movie—the one I'm always going to make—as the showgirl with a heart of gold. Because, funny thing, she is. I asked her if she had any close calls, near the front lines, in the last war. "Sure," she said, grinning, "but they weren't important. Unless you're killed, it isn't important."

* * *

Lunch this afternoon with Kim Hunter, who was called Janet Cole when she was a Detroit schoolgirl before David O. Selznick made a movie actress and loused up her nice real name, was a departure from the ordinary because Miss Hunter brought along her six-year-old daughter, Kathy.

Miss Hunter, a divorcee, lives in a comfortable little apartment hotel in East 49th Street with Kathy—just the two of them—and they make, as we used to say in fourth term, a pretty hot-looking pair. Both are extremely handsome and both are nicely behaved. While I talked with Kim, for example, Kathy chewed placidly and mediatatively on a pawn from a chess set she had just been given.

I asked Miss Hunter if there were many great problems attached to raising a young daughter all by herself, and she said she couldn't really tell because hers was a special case.

"When you're an actress in that situation," she said, "the problems are much bigger. However, we made out fine. When I was appearing last winter with Claude Rains in "Darkness and Noon," I don't think Kathy missed a matinee backstage with me. She wore sneakers, you see, and hardly made a noise, to bother anyone.

"Later today, for instance, I have to read for a part in a new play, and the best thing to do with Kathy is take her with me. It works out fine."

Because Miss Hunter, bless her soul, is a transplanted professional New Yorker—like some of the rest of us, she thinks there's no place else on earth—she defends the raising of Kathy in the city as being perfectly sound. I defend it with her, too.

You should see some of those "poor, starved, sunlight-hungry" city kids down in the Washington Square playground. They're healthy as oxen and smarter than a blacksnake whip. "The only thing," Kim said, "is that she can't run outside and play. And while that's a big item, the city has its compensations."

You will soon see Miss Hunter on the screen in the virtually perfect movie, "A Streetcar Named Desire," and it is hard to see how her performance in that one can be improved upon.

When you will see Miss Hunter after that, I cannot say. She is, as they say in the trade, at liberty, and shopping around for a good new play. It is likely that before she accepts any new part, however, that the junior half of the firm will have to pass judgment on it.

Many disfiguring irregularities yield to medical or surgical skill. Here's treatment for varicose veins.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

It is your duty to yourself and to those around you to be as attractive as you can. When any disfiguring change takes place in your physique, seek competent advice on its correction quickly. Delay may only make it more difficult to cure—and your health and comfort may be irrevocably diminished, along with your appearance.

A case in point is this letter I received from Atlanta: "I am troubled by varicose veins. They look swollen, blue and awful under my stockings. What can I do about them?"

Aid for Varicose Veins

There's a problem that any family doctor can do much to allay. Varicose veins are easily treated if handled in time. A simple operation will cut off and close the ailing veins so that they shrink to invisibility. An alternate treatment consists of a series of painless injections which do not incapacitate you at all during the period in which the veins are being reduced.

In the interim, there are several cover-ups that will greatly lessen varicose disfigurements. Unless the veins are very prominent, leg make-up or the new hand cosmetics can be worn under the stockings and will do a fine bit of camouflaging. Be sure the shade you select exactly matches the skin on your legs and then apply three coats, allowing each coat to dry before applying the next.

If the veins are conspicuously distended, hide them with flesh colored skin patches, which you can make out of moleskin. It is available at the drug store. Cut a patch that is a mere fraction larger than a discolored area and press it firmly over the spot. Although these patches are detectable at close range, they will escape any notice unless you direct attention to them.

Also, elastic hose are available in flesh color to be worn under nylons, which hide the culprits and help allay the uncomfortable swelling of the feet and ankles that is part of the affliction.

As with all beauty hazards, prevention is the best cure. To avoid varicose veins or to prevent additional ones, do not stand or sit for long, extended periods. Avoid too tight foundations, pinching shoes, and constricting round garters. Regular walks and systematic exercise (with your doctor's permission) are excellent preventatives—as well as terrific leg shapers!

B-P Women Hear Talk By Lucile Roeder

"You've often heard it said, 'Never underestimate the power of a woman," was one of the opening remarks of Mrs. Lucile Roeder's speech on "Full Partnership for the Year Ahead," at a recent meeting of Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, "but we are failing to do what can be done and should be done," she added.

She particularly stressed that one of women's greatest privileges is the right to vote, but that more need to use that privilege. Discussing the solution of this problem, Mrs. Roeder urged increasing educational opportunities so as to be able to vote intelligently, reducing ignorance and bringing out the young people. She commented favorably on the work of the Homemakers clubs under Miss Maude Bean, throughout the county, in that the women found that they "could get up on their feet and give a worthwhile report."

The speaker also commented on the fact that while "women did a lot of leg work during any election" they were ignored when any jobs were being passed around. Mrs. Roeder discussed women in politics and the need for women to learn what is needed and work for better conditions in government.

Mrs. Roeder and Miss Olive Simpson were chairmen of the Public Affairs Committee which handled the program. Other members on the committee are Mrs. Helen Clay Johnson, Mrs. Elizabeth Philson and Miss Anna McGraw, Miss Grace Maxwell, Miss Geraldine and Miss Orpha-Bonita Pritchard.

The next meeting will be held at Frostburg State Teachers College on October 8. The program will center around "Maryland Land Week." Mrs. Alma Durst and Mrs. Elizabeth Mollis are chairmen and Mrs. Roberta McFarland, Miss Mary White and Miss Verna Wills are members of the ways and means committee handling the program.

License Board Delays Decision In "Circle" Case

A hearing was held by the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County yesterday at the Court House for the operators of Circle Inn.

Following testimony of two inspectors for the board and statements by William C. Walsh, attorney for the defendants, the board withheld a decision pending study of the testimony.

Operators of the inn were charged with failure to have bottles and glasses removed from tables at the 1 a. m. deadline on August 26. Sales of intoxicants can be made until midnight with the removal of all bottles and glasses from the bar and tables required by 1 a. m.

William T. Porter, of Frostburg, one of the inspectors, told the board when he entered the inn about 1:30 a. m. on August 26 he did not see any violations in the bar room at the front of the inn but that four glasses of beer were on a table just inside the partition which separates the bar room from the dance floor.

His testimony to the effect that a man walked out of the dance section into the bar room with a bottle of whisky in his coat pocket was stricken out on the objection of Walsh. The board sustained the objection with the comment that the man who had the bottle of whiskey was violating the law and that the owners of the inn had warned him not to open the bottle on the premises.

Walsh, in his opening statement, said the operators of the inn were desirous of making sure no violations or possible violations could be made in the future by having the beer license transferred to the Circle Inn drive-in restaurant, which is located across a driveway from the inn.

The attorney also pointed out that the inn operators had not been convicted of any violations since they had been in charge during the last 22 months and that no complaints had been received by the board on the manner in which it was operated.

Meanwhile, Harold E. Naughton, attorney for the operators of Midway Inn, which had its beer license revoked by the board two weeks ago, said that plans to appeal the decision have been dropped and the license surrendered to the board.

Will Admitted To Probate Here

The will of Mrs. Georgia Kephart Mellinger, this city, who died May 14, 1949, was admitted to probate in Orphans Court.

Court attaches remarked that the will was one of the most brief ever filed here. The document contained only four lines and the necessary signatures of the principals and witnesses.

Warren Mellinger, 312 Mt. View Drive, husband of the deceased, obtained letters of administration on the estate. He was named the sole beneficiary.

Suit Is Settled Out Of Court

An out-of-court settlement has resulted in the dismissal of a $30,000 damage suit of Mrs. Stella Hanlin, Lonaconing, against Dr. Thomas E. Bess, Keyser, W. Va., in federal court at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Attorney Edward J. Ryan, this city, attorney for the plaintiff, informed Judge William E. Baker Monday afternoon a settlement had been reached. Judge Baker dismissed the case.

Mrs. Hanlin, according to Ryan, was riding in a car operated by her husband, Pete Hanlin, May 15, 1950, when a car owned by Dr. Bess and driven by William O'Conner, now in the armed forces, failed to make a curve and crashed into the Hanlin machine. No process was served on O'Conner and he did not appear.

Mrs. Hanlin testified she has to wear a brace on her back and will be required to do so for the remainder of her life, cannot do her housework or work at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company where she was employed.

The case was dismissed before cross examination by Dr. Bess' counsel, Attorney Decatur H. Rodgers, Jr., Martinsburg. Ryan was assisted by Clarence E. Martin, Martinsburg.

Willison Named Liquor Inspector

Edward R. Willison, of Baltimore Pike, yesterday was named a part time inspector for the Board of License Commissioners of Allegany County.

He succeeds Donald W. Young, this city, who resigned.

Willison, a veteran of World War II, is well known as a local taxicab operator. His stand is in front of the Court House.

Demos Named On Committees

About a score of members of Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland are expected to attend the 1951 convention of the Young Democratic Clubs of America opening today at the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, according to Miss Gene H. Miller, of Cumberland and Annapolis, national committeewoman for Maryland.

Marylanders have already received recognition in the form of important committee assignments, Miss Miller said. These include Richard E. Lankford, Annapolis, credentials committee; Joseph D. Tydings, Havre de Grace, rules committee; James C. Morton, Jr., Annapolis, permanent organization committee, and Miss Miller, resolutions committee.

In addition, Mr. Morton, as president of the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland, Mr. Tydings, as national committeeman, and Miss Miller, as national committeewoman, will represent the Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland on the committee of national organization.

The convention will open today with meetings of national officers and regional directors as well as several committee sessions and continue through Saturday.

Elks To Initiate Class Tonight

A class of 19 candidates will be initiated into Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, tonight honoring the district deputy grand exalted ruler, E. J. DeMoss, Towson, who will make his official visit.

Included in the class are D. L. McIntyre, Dr. Alex M. Sloan, Paul J. Stein, Jr., F. H. Mattingly, W. H. Bowden, Joseph E. Mackert, E. Carl Kight, William F. Baker, William C. Day, Jr., Harry E. Fraley, Robert E. Pence, Robert C. Workman, H. F. Hartman, H. E. Douglass, Benjamin Hughes, Jr., E. J. Monaghan, James E. Mellon, S. Edward Hutson and C. H. Middendorf, Jr.

Following the session, a buffet luncheon will be served, according to Exalted Ruler George A. Caswell.

The lodge is observing National Newspaper Week and Caswell in behalf of the organization yesterday lauded the work of the Cumberland Evening Times, Cumberland Sunday Times and the Cumberland News.

Pointing out that a free press is part of the foundation of American Freedom, Caswell noted the many civic enterprises in which the papers here play a large part.

He said the Grand Lodge and its subordinate groups are pledged to uphold the freedom of the press.

O'Conor Will Give Report During "Whistle Stop" Tour

BALTIMORE— (AP) —Senator O'Conor (D-Md) announced yesterday he soon will embark on a "whistle stop" tour of Maryland, reporting to the people what he and Congress have been doing.

The Senator didn't say anything about it in his announcement, but he is expected to run for re-election next year. He is rounding out his first six-year term in the Senate.

The county-by-county tour is to start as soon as the present session of Congress adjourns. Most of its leaders are hopeful that will be sometime late this month.

O'Conor said he plans to address civic and business groups, veterans organizations, labor unions, and school groups.

Beyond that, he hopes to conduct "man-on-the-street" interviews in every section he visits, asking what people think about current problems, national and international.

In his speeches, he plans to explain the reasons behind his votes on major legislation while he has been a senator—on military preparedness, the Communist menace, financial policies, social legislation and veterans programs, universal military training, merchant marine problems, farm legislation, and labor laws.

O'Conor was elected in 1946 by the slim margin of 1,600 votes over D. John Markey, Walkersville Republican. Since then, Maryland has elected a Republican to its other seat in the U. S. Senate. John Marshall Butler won in a landslide last year over Millard E. Tydings, who had served many years and was a nationally prominent Democrat.

One of the things Tydings blames for his defeat was that Congress remained in session most of last year and he had to stay in Washington so much he didn't get a chance to campaign. Only in the last few weeks did he tour the state intensively.

Markey has indicated he will seek the Republican nomination again next year. Several other Republicans have made campaign gestures.

State Crop Conditions Generally Good

COLLEGE PARK.—(AP)—The numerous showers throughout Maryland last week helped farmers to some extent, but the rainfall was too light to give the soil the moisture it needs for fall plowing and germination of fall-planted crops.

There was a bright side to the dry weather, Maryland's cooperative crop reporters found. Conditions were perfect for rounding out the harvest of a generally fine crop year. Tobacco in the curing barns, for example, was in excellent condition.

It was the final weekly crop report of the year for the Farm Extension Service at the University of Maryland, the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the Weather Bureau.

Most of the fighting in the "War of 1812" took place in 1813 and 1814.

Churchill Wants To Head Another British Coalition

LIVERPOOL, England, Oct. 2 (AP)—Winston Churchill tonight guardedly promised to revive Britain's wartime coalition government in order to fight through world dangers and economic crises if his Conservatives win the national election Oct. 25.

Greeted by a tumultous ovation from thousands who threw flowers and raised his old "V for Victory" sign, the 76-year-old Churchill clearly indicated in his first election speech that he wants to head a "broadly based" cabinet of Conservatives, socialists and liberals.

"This will be no vindictive triumph for Tories over socialists," he pledges, "no dull exclusion of liberal and independent forces, but rather a period of healing and revival."

"What we need is a period of steady, stable administration by a broadly based government wielding the national power and content to serve the nation's interest rather than give party satisfaction.

"What is required is a government with the power to carry on a tolerant, non-partisan, non-doctrinaire system of policy for a considerable time.

"I ask for a substantial and solid majority to bring an end to this period of unavoidable but mischievious party strife, to let the nation get on with its work with the least political interference and to promote the greatest measure of agreement among ourselves."

His address before a party rally of 6,000 in Liverpool Stadium caught the British people by surprise. There has not been the least hint that Prime Minister Attlee's Labor Party would react with favor to a bid to serve in a cabinet under Conservative leadership.

Princess, Duke Rush Preparations For Trip

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP) — Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh rushed preparations tonight for their trip to Canada, delayed by anxiety over the condition of King George VI. He is gaining strength after a lung operation.

It was announced that the princess, heiress presumptive to the throne, and her husband will start their flight to Montreal at 12:30 a. m. Monday (6:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time Sunday).

Confidence prevailed at Buckingham Palace that there would be no further postpnoement of their journey, which originally was to have been started by sea Sept. 25.

Bricker Assails Truman Order

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) today denounced President Truman's clampdown on some types of government news as a "gag order" and an insult to Congress and the nation's press.

In a speech to the Senate, Bricker declared:

"A free people will demand the repeal of this disgusting iron curtain order of the President.

"The sweeping nature of this executive order suggests that Mr. Truman is more concerned with suppressing information relative to corruption, disloyalty and the general incompetence which is the trade mark of his administration."

Mr. Truman issued the controversial order a week ago, promptly arousing widespread protests from members of Congress, editors and others on the ground that it constituted an invasion of this country's age-old tradition of freedom of the press.

The order authorizes more than 60 federal agencies to withhold information from the public when deemed necessary for national security. The Defense and State Departments have had such authority all along.

Mr. Truman said in issuing the order that it contained no element of censorship, either direct or implied. He also declared it should not be used to hamper the free flow of news to the public.

With protests mounting on Capitol Hill, the White House said yesterday Mr. Truman has no intention of withdrawing the order.

Maryland May Be Asked To Issue Diplomatic Tags

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Maryland and Virginia may be asked to issue diplomatic auto tags to foreign diplomats.

The District of Columbia commissioners refused today to grant diplomatic tags to diplomats living in Virginia or Maryland suburbs.

It acted on recommendation of George Keneipp, Washington traffic director, who said it would be preferable for the two states to issue the tags. Such tags carry diplomatic immunity from traffic regulations.

Keneipp said he will suggest to the State Department that it request the states to issue diplomatic tags.

German Ex-Soldiers Organization Warned

BONN, Germany, Oct. 2 (AP)—The West German government today warned the new and powerful German ex-soldiers organization not to split the nation by meddling in politics.

At the same time it was officially announced that the government would ask parliament to vote funds for maintenance of destitute relatives of the plotters who unsuccessfully attempted to kill Hitler on July 20, 1944.

Both statements were made by a government spokesman after today's cabinet meeting. The cabinet, in its warning to the ex-soldiers, named no names but the reference to the July 20 plot made it clear they were aiming at recent attempts by ex-generals to brand the plotters as traitors.

Unwilling Cover Girl Asks Court For $5,000 Damages

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Pretty, blonde Mary O'Keefe of Baltimore asked the Court of Appeals for $5,000 today because her photograph was used on the front cover of a resort town magazine without her consent.

Her appeal was heard as Maryland's high court reconvened for a new term.

Miss O'Keefe, 19, said she posed for the bathing suit picture during the summer of 1950 on the beach at Ocean City, Maryland's only ocean resort.

Shortly afterward she and her family were "greatly mortified" when a copy of the picture appeared on the front cover of "The Visitor," a magazine which publicizes the attractions of Ocean City.

Attorneys for Miss O'Keefe said she "graciously consented" to have her picture snapped when she was "approached by a person purporting to be an amateur photographer," who asked permission to take her picture "in the pursuit of his hobby."

The attorneys contend, however, Miss O'Keefe's right of privacy was violated when the picture was published without her consent.

Rain, Wind Cause Florida Damage

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP)—Torrential rain and 60-mile winds caused widespread but minor damage in South Florida today as a tropical storm swept across the state from the Gulf of Mexico.

Heaviest winds were felt in Miami where sustained gales of 50 miles an hour and occasional gusts reaching 60 ripped awnings, sank about 50 small boats, broke a few windowpanes, sent palm fronds flying and bounced coconuts along streets.

Heavier damage occurred in the rich Lake Okeechobee region where more than 10 inches of rain in 24 hours flooded 7,000 acres of tomato and bean fields, causing losses tentatively estimated at $1,000,000.

CHRISTENING IS HOWLING SUCCESS—Lucie Desiree Arnaz, the 10-week-old daughter of Actress Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, doesn't seem the least bit happy about having been baptized at Our Lady of the Valley Church in Canoga Park, near Hollywood. Neither was she impressed by her first appearance before the camera.

Truman Salutes Hull On Birthday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)— Cordell Hull quietly observed his 80th birthday today, saluted by President Truman as "the father of the United Nations."

The former secretary of state and Nobel peace prize winner remained in his home at the Wardman Park Hotel. Physicians at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, where he recently had a physical checkup, said he is in good health.

Hull resigned as secretary of state in 1944 after 11 years in the job. The next year he was a delegate to the San Francisco conference establishing the United Nations. Previously, he served long tems in both houses of Congress.

La. Primaries Open To Negroes

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2 (AP)—Louisiana's Democratic primaries were thrown open to Negroes today —for the first time legally since reconstruction days — but slammed shut to Communists.

The State Central Democratic Committee, the party policy-making body in Louisiana, took the action.

The committee's resolution revised language of the committee's rules and added a new section.

The revision, dealing with qualifications of voters and candidates, struck out a phrase, "he shall be a white person," and substitute, "he shall be registered as a member of the Democratic Party."

The new section bars Communists.

Who ASKED you?

Who asked you to pay for electricity used by people you never even heard of, a hundred or a thousand miles away?

Nobody! But you do help pay the bills for hundreds of thousands of favored people and hundreds of privileged businesses using electricity from certain federal power systems. Your taxes helped build those systems. Your taxes are used to subsidize service to their customers.

Who asked you to foot the bill so that this country could have socialized electricity?

Nobody! Yet, there are 72 federally owned power systems already in operation, under construction, or authorized at a total cost of over 10 billion dollars—and hundreds more are planned at a total cost of about 60 billion dollars. That's your money that's financing socialism!

Who asked you for permission to keep on building expensive socialistic power systems when every tax dollar and every pound of critical material is needed for defense?

Nobody! But the backers of socialized power are planning to use more of your tax money to build costly electric lines that actually duplicate facilities of business-managed companies! Why? To put the government further into useless and killing competition with business-managed companies.

Who asked you whether you have enough electric power or not?

Nobody! The "planners" who favor socialized electricity speak vaguely of a "power shortage." Yet, the business-managed companies have more than doubled this nation's power supply since Pearl Harbor. And they've got a lot more coming!

County Board Approves Bond For Treasurer

Bond of $100,000 for James W. Bishop, this city, who was named by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to the post of county treasurer, was approved by the board yesterday.

Bishop will serve the unexpired term of Frederick C. "Buck" Dreyer, who died last week.

The board yesterday also ordered that the books of the county treasurer be audited for July, August and September prior to Bishop taking over his duties.

No action was taken on a letter received from John L. Nixon, postmaster at Oldtown, concerning the condition of two county roads which are used for rural mail routes.

In his letter Nixon stated Ruoy Road and Cresap Mill Road are in bad condition. He said that the Post Office Department wishes a report on 30 days on whether or not the requested repairs have been made or will be made.

J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of county roads, told the board that he has inspected the roads in question and found them in the "best condition they have been in during the past 10 years."

Jesse Wharton complained about the condition of a bridge across a small stream in the Murley's Branch section. In his letter he stated he ran off the bridge with his truck due to its bad state of repair. The matter was referred to Chapman.

School For Church Leaders Begins

Eleven churches are represented at the seventh annual standard leadership training school sponsored by the Cumberland Ministerial Association which opened yesterday at Grace Methodist Church.

A total of 30 is enrolled from Grace Methodist, Trinity Methodist, Centre Street Methodist, Park Place Methodist, Emmanual Methodist, Melvin Methodist, Central Methodist and Frostburg Methodist; Zion Evengelical and Reformed, St. John's Lutheran and Living Stone Church of the Brethren churches.

Rev. Allen B. L. Fisher, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, is in charge. Rev. Arthur Scrogum, pastor of Living Stone Church, is president of the Ministerial Association.

Classes will be held tonight and next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights from 7 to 9 p. m. Any one wishing to enroll may still do so, Mr. Scrogum said.

Eighteenth Century ladies of quality often decorated their high coiffures with fruit, including cherries, strawberries and pears.

County Farm, Orchard Crops Termed Average

Farm and orchards production in Allegany County during the current season has been about average, with some crops being more plentiful and others not so good, according to Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent.

The corn is slightly less than the 130,000 bushels averaged from 3,300 acres last year, McHenry said. He also said corn lacks quality and weight and the yield has not matured properly.

Wheat was about average. Last year 2,000 acres were harvested with an average between 18 and 20 bushels per acre, McHenry pointed out.

It was an off-season for truck and garden crops with sweet corn nothing like normal. There was a good early tomato crop but the late crop resulted in smaller fruit due to the dry weather.

Hay was good except for June and July when there were frequent showers which prevented curing the forage. There was some mold. There are about 9,000 acres of hay pastures in the county with normal yield being one ton per acre. This year the yield was one and one-fourth tons.

It was a poor season for late potatoes due to the dry weather of August and September. Seeding this fall will not be hampered if rain comes within the next week or so. It will not be too late for winter wheat, which is mostly sowed in October. It is too late for good barley prospects, McHenry said.

New seeding of grass is better than expected, with McHenry explaining that grasses developed good root systems during the wet weather earlier this past summer. A good rain would invigorate the grasses much easier than one would believe possible, he added.

The peach crop this year was good although the fruit inclined to be smaller than normal. There was not much brown rot, which made for better quality.

Orchardists are finished harvesting Grimes and Jonathan apples and other early varieties. They are picking Delicious and Staymans. The harvest season for apples is about one week advanced over last year. About 195,000 bushels will be harvested in this county.

Three Divorces Granted In Court

Three divorce decrees were granted yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Bessie Elizabeth Miller was given a divorce from William Bertwell Miller. Otie E. Harper was granted a decree divorcing her from Isaac Harper. Willard John DeVore received a divorce from Frances Lee DeVore.

Teacher Pay To Be Studied

BALTIMORE — (AP) — A special subcommittee goes before the Legislative Council today with its proposals for solving Maryland's teacher-pay problem. It is expected to recommend a salary boost.

Headed by State Senator Goldstein (D-Calvert), the committee spent several weeks traveling about the state and sounding out teachers, education officials and parent-teacher groups on the question.

Most agreed that the state should provide some increase, at least $300 a year.

Governor McKeldin vetoed a similar proposal after it was passed by the General Assembly early this year. He has argued that teachers' salaries are the responsibility of the political subdivisions. Since then, about half the counties have gone ahead on their own and increased the salaries.

Goldstein's committee was named to study the question of what effect this would have on the state's general education pattern. Other members of the group are State Senator Kimble (R-Allegany) and Speaker of the House Luber (D-Balto 5th).

For women in the late 30's, the probability of a multiple birth is about 17 in 1,000.

Heroes' Graves To Be Marked

Grave markers and headstones of area servicemen killed in the Far East since hostilities broke out June 25, 1950, will be inscribed with the word "Korea."

Announcement was made yesterday by the Department of Defense in keeping with a directive from President Truman.

Use of the word "Korea" will satisfy official requirements and limitations, and at the same time permit the Department of Defense to comply with requests of next of kin in connection with inscription recognition of cause as well as place of death.

The directive was made retroactive to permit addition of the Korean designation on markers of American dead previously buried.

National cemetery regulations prescribe that the inscription on government headstones may contain the name, date of birth and death and abbreviations of military awards held, a religious emblem and "the war in which service was rendered."

Maps made during the Middle Ages showed Paradise on earth. It was included at the top of the map and usually contained a picture of the Garden of Eden.

Study Of Atomic Nucleus Yielding New Discoveries

NEW YORK, (INS)—A prominent physicist reports that study of the atomic nucleus is yielding constant new discoveries, but said further work has to be accomplished before a comprehensive nuclear theory can be formulated.

Dr. James Rainwater, executive director of Columbia University's Nevis Cyclotron Laboratories, made his statement in a report on the first year's work at the laboratories. They are sponsored jointly by Columbia, the Office of Naval Research and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Rainwater said that scientists are finding the atomic nucleus more complicated the more they probe its mysteries.

His report disclosed that the bulk of experimental work with the 385,000,000 electron volt cyclotron—one of the world's most powerful—is concentrated on the meson, the latest nuclear particle to be identified.

Dr. Rainwater said:

"Theoretical physicists are today 'looking over the shoulder' of the experimenters . . .

"The hope of all nuclear physicists is to find a mathematical formulation in which the constants of nature—the complex properties of nuclear components—will drop out, leaving a simple relationship to account for nuclear forces.

"But realization of that hope is not even in sight, and probably will not be until a great deal more is learned through experiment."

In addition to the meson, Rainwater said studies of other atomic particles, such as the proton and neutron, are in progress.

Among experiments conducted at Nevis to determine the "constants of nature" necessary in the framing of a comprehensive theory was one believed to be the first study ever made of the negative "pi meson" in flight.

The experiment places the lifetime of that type of meson at slightly under three hundred millionths of a second.

Beams of free mesons, which are the sub-atomic particles believed responsible for holding in check the force of atomic fission, are among the chief tools used at Nevis laboratories for meson researches, Rainwater said.

Such a beam, he added, was first produced by the scientists at Nevis a year ago.

The existence of the meson was first affirmed in 1935 by the Japanese Physicist Hideki Yukawa, now at Columbia and associated with the development of theoretical implications of the Nevis experiments.

Dr. Yukawa won the Nobel Prize in physics in 1949 for his meson theory.

No Billboards To Be Erected On New Road

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission said yesterday principal outdoor advertising companies have agreed not to erect any of their big billboards on a new Stretch of U. S. 40 in Western Maryland.

Chairman Russell H. McCain of the roads commission announced the agreement. It was reached after officials of the department and representatives of the advertising concerns survey the new highway last week.

The agreement covers five miles of the seven-mile Sideling Hill Mountain relocation project.

A half mile at the foot of Sideling Hill's western slope and a mile and a half at the extreme east end of the project were not covered by the agreement. The parties decided some commercial development in these areas is inevitable because they lie so close to the old road.

The commission does not have the power to prohibit billboards erected outside actual highway rights-of-way. Permits are required for signs within 500 feet of highways, but a permit may be denied only if the sign would limit a driver's vision or otherwise be a traffic hazard.

The relocation lies in the extreme western tip of Washington county on the trans-continental highway.

Under a $2,443,000 project started two years ago, the steep and winding roadway has been replaced by new highway that has easy grades, long straight sections, and sweeping curves. A third traffic lane is provided for slow traffic climbing the hills.

The project is almost completed and traffic already is using part of it. A mile on the summit still is being built.

New Traffic Light Arrives

A new traffic light to replace one destroyed about two months ago at the corner of North Mechanic and Baltimore Streets by a tractor-trailer arrived at police headquarters Monday.

Recently, a light at Market and Mechanic Streets was moved to the "main stem" intersection.

Police said the new signaling device was placed in operation yesterday at the Market Street corner.

Chemicals Made From Germ Juice Aid Treatment Of War Wounded

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Chemicals made from the juice of germs are aiding the treatment of Korean war wounds, an Army doctor reports.

Col. August W. Spitler of the Army's Walter Reed Hospital described the "first Army use" of a recently-developed powder produced from liquid "enzymes" given off by streptococcus germs when they are grown in the laboratory.

Spitler told the District of Columbia Medical Society's annual scientifice assembly that the dissolvable powder provides a new aid in the clearing of blood clots, dead tissue and pus from war wounds. The powder itself is free of any infectious properties.

Describing 50 war casualties treated at Walter Reed, he said they were treated either with the germ-produced enzyms or with another enzyme derived from beef pancreas. The latter enzyme is similar to a digestion chemical occuring in the human body.

(Enzymes are chemical "catalysts" which promote another chemical reaction without themselves being altered.)

Spitler said both types of enzyme products, by helping clear wounds of unwanted "debris," have these capabilities:

(1) Shortening the period for making wounds ready for further surgery, such as skin grafting; (2) quickening the healing of certain stubborn amputation stumps, sometimes eliminating the need for secondary surgery; and (3) enhancing the action of certain germ-fighting drugs like penicillin.

He said the substances offered particular value as aids in treating wounds which persist for several weeks after the original injury or which were either not amenable to surgery immediately or in which surgery had been delayed for other reasons.

The germ-produced enzymes are called "streptokinase" and "streptodornase," and they are used in combination. Spitler said they have no adverse affects on normal tissue.

Dr. William S. Tillett of New York University College of Medicine, a pioneer in the use of the these substances, described research demonstrating the specific action of each in clearing blood clot and other "debris" from wounds.

He also described their effective use in treating bullet wounds, large ulcers of soft tissue and chronic infections following surgical operations.

Dodgers Overpower Giants To Deadlock Playoff Series

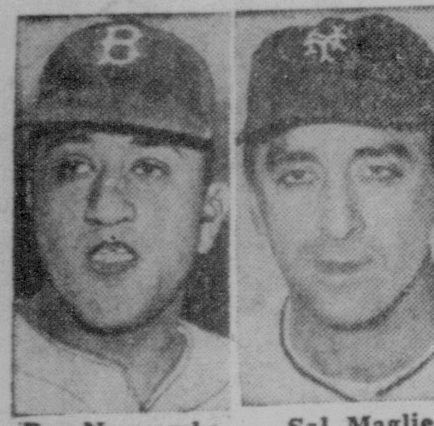
Labine Brilliant In Clutch; Winners Hit Four Homeruns

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Brooklyn't redoubtable Dodgers, a single defeat from extinction and supposedly licked to a frazzle, came off the floor today to hammer the New York Giants into submission, 10 to 0, and carry the playoff for the National League flag down to the final desperate gasp at the Polo Grounds tomorrow.



Don Newcombe Sal Maglie

While Clem Labine, 25-year-old crew cut* rookie from Woonsocket, R. I., was carving his initials on the Giants wrecking crew, Jackie Robinson and his fellow sluggers tore into three second-line Giant pitchers for 13 ringing blows, including four home runs, to snap a victory string that had reached eight straights.

Blast Four Homers

Labine, who rejoined the Dodgers late in July from St. Paul, was a picture of poise as he mowed the Durochermen down methodically through the gloomy, rainy afternoon. He yielded only six hits in gaining his fifth win against one defeat for the season. The Giants only twice came close to scoring on the kid with the crackling curve.

What the Dodgers did to Sheldon Jones, Al Spencer and Al Corwin was a brutal thing. Robinson, Gil Hodges, Andy Pafko and Al (Rube) Walker, the Flock's substitute backstop, all belted homers. Walker's went clean over the right field stands with two out in the ninth inning to close out the slaughter.

Robinson, a somewhat sad figure in Brooklyn's 3-1 defeat in yesterday's first playoff game, also bored two singles into the outfield grass, and it was his second safety which knocked Jones, the Giants' starter, out of the one-sided contest. Walker, playing for the crippled Roy Campanella, also pitched in with a brace of singles preceding his mighty blast. Every Dodger except Carl Furillo scored at least once during the demoralizing assault. ... .

Newcombe vs. Maglie

It shapes up tomorrow as a burning battle between two of the game's finest righthanders, Sal Maglie, winner of 23 victories, for the Giants, against big Don Newcombe, who notched 20 during the regular campaign. Neither pilot had much choice but to come in with his big one. Preacher Roe, who pitched 22 victories during the season, has not had his required rest.

Giants' supporters among the crowd of 38,609 saw a ray of hope for their heroes when, with the Dodgers already five runs to the good, a drizzling rain brought out the infield canvass and interrupted the game for 41 minutes. There was just a chance, they reasoned, that the blazing Labine would cool off somewhat during the long wait.

But all the enforced idleness did to Labine was make him anxious to get it over. In the final four frames, after play was resumed, exactly two Giants reached first base—both on walks. Neither got any further as the rookie smoked them across. Only two of the last 14 Giants got the ball out of the infield.

Up to the time of the rain, the Giants had been threatening their young tormentor. They stranded two runners in the second after Bobby Thomson had doubled down the left line—the only extra baser off Labine—and Willie Mays had followed with an infield hit.

Thomson Strikes Out

In the third, with the Dodgers leading only 2-0 on the strength of Robinson's two-run homer in the opening chapter, the home club loaded the sacks with two away, bringing up the dangerous Thomson. A hit at that juncture might have changed the course of the game.

The Flying Scot worked Labine to the full count as the crowd chanted for a rally. Then the kid, taking a chance, loosed a sweeping curve that missed the dish by several inches—and Thomson fished for it. He went down swinging, and after that the Giants were a beaten ball club.

Their last real threat came in the fourth when, after two were out, Spencer and Stanky put together singles. Alvin Dark drove one hard at Billy Cox at third to close it out. Not another Giant was to reach second base.

League To Meet

A meeting of the Allegany County Shuffleboard League will be held Thursday at 8:30 p. m. at the Goodfellowship Club. All teams are urged to have a representative present as schedules will be distributed and first half franchise fees will be posted.

Grantsville High's booters gained a tie for second place in the Garrett County Soccer League yesterday by downing Friendsville 4-0 at Grantsville.

Oakland was tied in the final 15 seconds by Kitzmiller when Sharpless connected with a penalty kick that knotted the score at 2-2 in the other loop tilt yesterday at Kitzmiller. The tie dropped Oakland into the second place deadlock with Grantsville.

Maryland Has Best Southern Loop Offense

Bill Brehany Tops Passing Leaders

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—A six-touchdown rout of Washington and Lee's defending champions last Saturday shoved Maryland's powerful Terps in front of all Southern Conference schools in three statistical departments.

Team figures released here today showed the team that Coach Jim Tatum calls his greatest at Maryland—and the team that is ranked ninth in the nation in this week's AP poll—is in front in the total yardage, rushing yardage and rushing defense departments.

The Terps rolled up a total of 498 yards, 395 on the ground, and held W. & L. to a mere 29 yards rushing. It was Maryland's first game of the season.

Clemson is second to Maryland in total offense and rushing offense, while North Carolina ranks second in rushing defense.

Total defense leader is Wake Forest, which held North Carolina State to 146 yards. West Virginia ranks second with 160.5 yards allowed.

Virginia Military Institute, with individual conference leaders in passer Bill Brehany and receivers Neal Petree and Jay Grumbling, tops the conference in passing offense with an average yardage of 153 in its three contests. Wake Forest is second.

In the passing defense department, Wake Forest stands on top with a 55-yard average, followed by Furman. Maryland's three punts carried an average distance of 51.7 yards to top this department with W. & L. in second place.

Dressen Says Jones Threw "Spit Balls"

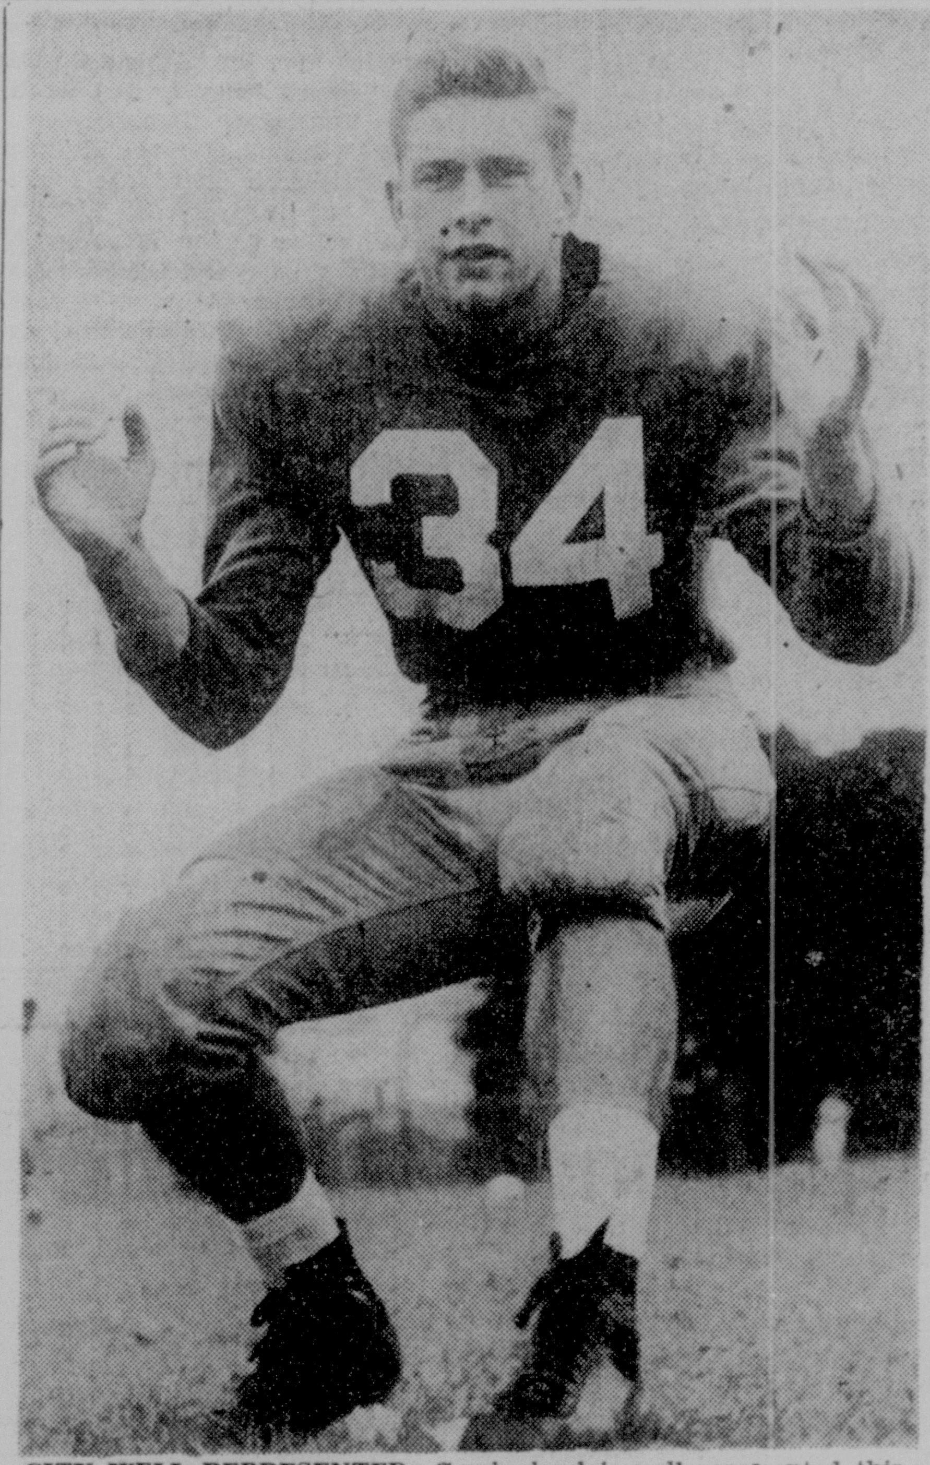
NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Manager Charley Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers accused Sheldon Jones, the Giants' starting pitcher, of throwing "spit balls" today in the playoff game at the Polo Grounds, won by the Dodgers, 10-0.

"Jones would wet his fingers and not dry them off," Dressen said. "I told Goetz about it but he said it was only a spinner."

There was no further protests. Jones was replaced in the third inning by George Spencer. Jones could not be reached immediately for comment on Dressen's charges.

Hill Prince Given 133 Pounds To Carry

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP) — Hill Prince, the Virginia galloper which picked up 128 pounds last Saturday and easily won the New York Handicap, was assigned 133 pounds today for the $25,000-added Manhattan Handicap Saturday at Belmont Park. Handicapper John B. Campbell loaded five more pounds on C. T. Chenery's star four-year-old for the Manhattan, being run at a mile and one half.



CITY WELL REPRESENTED—Cumberland is well represented this year on the University of Maryland football team. John Alderton (above) is one of five Cumberlanders on the Terps varsity this season. Others are Lynn Beightol, Charley Lattimer, Don Decker and Bill Ruehl. Alderton, former Fort Hill grid and basketball player, is regarded as one of the finest defensive ends in the Southern Conference. He's 20 years old, 6-foot-1 tall, tips the beam at 175 and is a junior. Last year he played nearly every minute of defense in each game and resumed the pace last week against W&L. Maryland plays George Washington U. Saturday at 2 p. m. at College Park.

Virginia Back Said Eligible

Wade Rules On Palumbo Case

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—Southern Conference Commissioner Wallace Wade ruled today that Joe Palumbo, star guard for the University of Virginia football team, is eligible to play for the Cavaliers against conference teams.

Wade's ruling was made known to Gus Tebell, the U. Va. athletic director. Wade said Palumbo's eligibility has been challenged by one Southern Conference college but he would not say which college it was.

The challenge, Wade said, was based on the fact that Palumbo participated in athletics at Greenbrier Military School at Greenbrier, W. Va., before entering the university.

The Southern Conference regards Greenbrier as a junior college. Under the conference rules, transfers from junior colleges must wait a year before competing in varsity athletics at the school to which they transfer.

Palumbo entered the university in 1948, and played on the Cavalier freshman team that autumn. He played on the varsity in 1949 and 1950 and this season is captain of the Virginia team.

Wade told Tebell via phone today that the conference's executive committee had studied the matter of Palumbo's eligibility and had decided he is eligible to play against conference teams, nine of whom are on the Virginia schedule. The university is not a member of the conference.

Hickory Nut Crop Poor For Squirrels

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Squirrels storing up hickory nuts in this area are in for an awful surprise next winter.

Only about one in 20 of the nuts is good, says Harry Beckley. He picked up a bag full and cracked nearly two dozen before he found one with a kernel.

As a result, Beckley thinks squirrels may migrate 25 miles or more to find food when the snow flies.

He blames the dry weather for the shriveled meat he found inside the shells. Some were entirly barren.

Beckley made his casual nut survey in the woods around Clear Spring, Big Spring, Millstone and Pectonville.

White Sox Sign Negro Hurler

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today signed a 21-year-old Negro pitching star from the Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American League for their Colorado Springs club in the Class A Western League.

He is Leander (Schoolboy) Tugerson, right-hander who won 16 and lost 6, striking out 117, for the Clowns last season.

State Squirrel Season To Open Friday, Oct. 5

$585 In Fines Paid For Game Violations

Squirrel season opens in all counties in Maryland Friday with the exception of Garrett County which opens its season Oct. 10, Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke said last night, and approximately five or six thousand hunters are expected to be in the fields in Allegany County, judging from hunting licenses which have been sold here, he added.

Squirrel hunting is expected to be better this year, Minke continued, although many hunters have expressed concern over the season because of the heavy drought during the past several months.

Danger of forest fires is especially prevalent at this time, Minke noted, and all precautions are being taken to provide a successful season for hunter, although many has expressed the view that the season should not be opened until there is a heavy rainfall. The State Game Commission has taken the matter under advisement, Minke went on.

Fines totaling $585 for violation of game laws in Region No. 1, which comprises Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, have been paid during the past month, Minke revealed.

One hunter was committed to Oakland jail for 60 days for default of $100 fine when charged with having deer meat in his possession during the closed season.

Illegal deer killing is still the greatest problem of game wardens, Minke stated, with the squirrel hunter next in line. Because of the Maryland law which permits hunters to hunt unprotected game all during the year, it is difficult to catch the man who hunts illegally, Minke remarked. Maryland is still one of the few states which give hunters the privilege of hunting certain species of wildlife at any time during the year, he continued.

Only about 10 per cent of all violations are ever apprehended the game warden ventured.

Passes Mark Made By Charley Justice

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—When Johnny Bright rushed and passed his way to 242 yards while Drake was beating Bradley University last Saturday night he established a new collegiate football record.

The Drake back, collegiate total offense and rushing leader for 1951 with 727 and 444 yards, respectively, has travelled 5,077 yards since taking over the bulk of his team's plunging and passing chores in 1949.

The 5,077 yards in two and a fraction seasons tops the record of 4,871 hung up by Charlie Justice in four seasons at North Carolina, 1946 through 1949.

Statistics released today by the NCAA service bureau show Gene Rossi of Cincinnati and Harry Geldien, Wyoming tailback, closest to Bright in total offense for the year. Rossi has picked up 578 yards and Geldien 542.

San Francisco's Ollie Matson, 205-pound fullback, is runner-up to Bright in the early-season rushing figures with 359 yards in two games.

Kentucky's highly touted Vito (Babe) Parilli leads the passers with 48 completions, three good for touchdowns. He was fourth among the tossers last year with 114 successful aerials, good for a record of 23 touchdowns.

Tom Dublinski of Utah has completed 39 aerials for second place back of Parilli. Rossi holds down third with 36. Dublinski and Rossi each have passed for six touchdowns for leadership in that department of play.

Notes Threaten Holmes Family

Accused Of Favoring Giants For Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(INS)—Manager Tommy Holmes, of the Boston Braves, revealed today that for the last four days he has been receiving letters threatening his family because the Braves beat the Dodgers three out of four games last week.

The 33-year-old native of Brooklyn said:

"Letters and telegrams from cranks is one thing, but when they threaten your family that's something else."

He said he prefers not to turn the letters over to the police.

Holmes, who lives in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn with his wife and two children, said he also is perturbed because he has been accused in letters of favoring the Giants. While most of the mail has come from Brooklyn, he also received letters from New York and New England points.

The Braves' three victories in four starts against the Dodgers at Boston in the next to the last series of the season enabled the Giants eventually to force the current playoff with the Dodgers.

Jockey Burr Is Suspended

Rides Five Winners At Rockingham Park

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 2 (AP)—Charlie Burr, the nation's leading jockey today booted home five winners at Rockingham Park after being suspended for 10 days for rough riding —the suspension to take effect tomorrow.

Burr rode the first three winners on the card and then came from far back aboard Larry Ellis to capture the featured $2,600 Jackson Purse as the three-year-old gelding covered the six furlongs in 1:10 to equal the track record. He also won the seventh race.

Burr boosted his winners to 266 for the season with still 122 to go before breaking the record held jointly by three other jockeys.

Burr's suspension — effective tomorrow—was announced shortly before today's first race, which he promptly won astride Lord Grall. Then he rode Sunshade and Sigh Green to victories in the next two races.

The track stewards voted to sit down Burr on charges he "failed to give other horses room going to the first turn" in yesterday's seventh race when he rode Irving Gushen's favored Stock Exchange to victory.

While no foul was formally declared, the stewards voted to suspend Burr from Oct. 3 through Oct. 13 for rough riding.

Burr, has ridden 22 winners in the first eight days of the Rockingham meeting and is a favorite of New England racing fans because of his daring tactics.

Solon Praises Baseball Honesty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Rep. Kearns (R-Pa) paid tribute to the honesty of organized baseball in the House today.

Noting the dead-heat finish in the National League between Brooklyn and the New York Giants, and the winnig finish put on by Casey Stengel's Yankees, Kearns said credit for all-out effort also goes to the managers and players of the other teams in both leagues.

Noting scandals in other fields of sports, Kearns said the performances of baseball players "certainly have proved we do have honesty in sports in the United States."

Conference Will Feature Talk On Piano Classes

Program Will Start Saturday

One of the highlights of the unusual Piano Educators Conference sponsored by the Allegany County Board of Education, which will be conducted Saturday and next Monday at West Side School, will be a discussion on "Piano Classes in Our Schools."

Aden G. Lewis, director of piano instruction in Allegany County schools, will be chairman of this program, which will begin at 1:40 p. m. Saturday.

Each participant will talk on one phase of the question in a three-minute report. This program is planned especially for school people, as administrative problems will receive chief discussion.

Participants will include Edith MacMannis, elementary class piano instructor; Grace Swanson, elementary special music teacher; Lois Stine, junior high music teacher; Dorothy Willison, senior high music teacher; Anne Tennant, elementary principal; Marguerite Richards, private piano teacher; Mrs. Mary Lord, parent; Robert Moreland, piano technician, and Don Razey, instrumental teacher.

Dr. Raymond Burrows, Teachers College, Columbia University, will be consultant through both days of the conference.

The public is invited to all sessions. Among those expected to attend are piano teachers and pupils, interested parents and college students, from as far away as Penn State College, and the public.

Flintstone Firemen To Take Training

Members of Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company will start through a 17-week basic training conference October 21.

Chief Palmer Howsare said the course will be taught by William A. Wilson, Midland, of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

same," replied Mrs. Green, "from 12 to 14 inches from the ground."

I hinted at the way the teen-agers draped themselves in blue jeans in this country and asked if Paris had such characters. "No," she said, "I did not see one teen-ager at any of the fashion shows or on the street while in Paris."

Mrs. Green, who attended the openings of the fall and winter fashions in Paris, explained that most of the women's fashions in this country come from Paris but are not exaggerated. Most of the styles from Paris have to be adapted to our customs.

"One amazing fact about Parisian clothes is that they cost so little in this country compared to France," she said. "For instance, a dress costing $600 in Paris, may be bought here for only about $25."

Mrs. Green, whose real name is Mrs. Irwin Frankel, understands her work and has a background to uphold her reputation as a fashion coordinator.

Born and reared in New York, she was fashion for the "Women's Wear Daily" for 12 years, and later for "Parents Magazine" for 12 years.

Mrs. Green also was fashion editor of the teen-age magazine, "Calling All Girls," under the name of Nancy Pepper. In addition, she syndicated a newspaper column called "Tricks for Teens."

Versatile Mrs. Green is also author of the book, "Teen Age Blues." She had her own radio show for nine years, a program called "Calling All Girls' Clubs of the Air." The show was a mother and daughter program, with her teen-age daughter, Nancy Franklin. Her daughter, Nancy, is now playing on Broadway in "The Rose Tatoo" and is seen in the television version of "One Man's Family."

Since her visit in Paris, Mrs. Green has been touring the nation introducing the new fall and winter fashions. She has just returned from Flint, Mich., Nebraska, Lancaster, Pa., and Georgia.

Centenary WSCS Names Year Project

The WSCS of Centenary Church announced the result of the building fund contest and the observance of the Week of Prayer at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Earl Growden.

The Week of Prayer is being observed at Centenary Church October 28.

Announcement was made of a bake sale the society will hold at Coyle's Furniture Store, 45 Baltimore Street, Saturday at 10 a. m. Mrs. Annie Hardinger read a round robin letter from Colleen Gilmore, missionary in India, telling of the various friends in the mission work. Another rummage sale is planned for the middle of the month.

The Spiritual Life program was conducted by Mrs. George Yeargan, chairman. The topic for the service was "The Earth Is the Lord," and included singing of "This Is My Father's World," "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and an article based on First John, fourth chapter. The service concluded with prayer.

For the next meeting, at the home of Mrs. John Wentling, October 26, two district officers, Mrs. E. F. Phillips and Mrs. R. J. Reuschlein, will be guests.

Concluding the meeting an old-fashioned spelling bee was conducted by Miss Nyna Fey, with Mrs. Selma Gillum and Mrs. Mertie Gillum, captains. Mrs. Annie Wilhelm was co-hostess with Mrs. Growden.

Guests present were Mrs. Mabel Faust, Mrs. Robert Heavner and Mrs. Wilhelm. Auxiliary Police Termed Ready For Any Emergency

Auxiliary police of this city are ready for any emergency, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn reported yesterday.

The Cumberland Auxiliary Police, he said, are far ahead of other Civil Defense organizations of the city because the unit has retained the organization built up during World War II days.

The department has 156 active members, including 50 men in uniform, Flynn said, and the number could be increased to 300 within a few weeks if the need arose.

All of the auxiliary policemen took first aid courses during World War II and have completed refresher courses during recent months to meet the threat of atomic warfare.

Warm praise for the organization was also expressed by Arthur B. Gibson, city Civil Defense director.

"We are very proud of our Auxiliary Police organization which has kept together since World War II days," Gibson said.

The unit, he added, has been developing in efficiency through the years.

He added that several men have applied for membership in the body and that the applications were forwarded to Chief Flynn.

Why Risk It?

You can never be sure how long it will be before some burglar or hold-up man will decide you are ripe for picking. When that time comes what insurance protection will you have? The time to discuss insurance against theft is NOW. Delay may be mighty risky.

Fire Truck Fund Drive Planned In Piedmont

Citizens Asked To Aid Project

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—A drive to raise funds for the balance on repairs of the Tri-Towns Fire Truck of Piedmont, which was badly damaged in a wreck on the Westernport-Luke Road October 31, 1948, will begin this week.

The total cost of repairs amounted to $9,065. The work was done by the American LaFrance Foamite Corporation, where the truck was purchased. So far, $6,165 has been paid on that bill, leaving a balance of about $2,900.

At a meeting Monday afternoon of Mayor Allan Hill and the City Council, it was ordered that the City Clerk send letters to all property owners and other citizens of the community.

The circular letter will explain to them the need of these donations to pay off this indebtedness.

Persons may make their checks payable to the Tri-Town Fire Truck Fund and can leave donations at the office of the City Clerk or give it to the mayor or any member of the council.

To Sell Buttons

The Fire Truck will be parked near the corner of Ashfield Street next week, Fire Prevention Week. Members of the Tri-Towns Fire Company will sell booster buttons and receive donations toward the indebtedness on the truck.

A complaint was presented of the Billy Trucking Company running over the pavement of Mrs. E. A. See, Paxton Street, damaging the pavement.

The City Clerk was instructed to write to the trucking company advising them of the condition. The city will suggest that a smaller truck be sent here.

Councilman Joseph Mayburn moved that the city employees cut the trees and foliage on the Piedmont side of the Potomac River, which was ordered by the council.

Speeding Is Reported

Councilman Mervin High called attention to complaints of speeding on East Hampshire Street. It is a narrow street, and parking on one side makes it hazardous. The street is a State Highway, with 25 mile speed limit.

Mayor Hill stated he would ask state police to take it up with the State Roads Commission, suggesting that a 15 mile an hour sign be used.

Councilman Norman Baughman stated that a stop sign was needed at the corner of Gordon and Fairview Street.

It was ordered that $1,768 be paid on the new chlorination system which has arrived. When it is installed the other $443 will be paid.

Mayor Hill read a letter from the State Board of Health, Civil Defense and Water Works meeting to be held in Charleston, Oct. 4-5 and suggesting they send a representative to it. The theme of the meeting will be "Selected problems of Civil Defense in Water Works."

Joseph Eger, water superintendent of the city was ordered to attend the meeting.

It was ordered that a new top shirt be purchased for each police officer.

The order has grown in a few years to more than 1,500 chapters, embracing a membership of over 2,000,000 young men between the ages of 14 and 21.

Thursday evening a firemen's parade will be held.

The annual queen's ball will be held Thursday evening as will a teen-age dance for younger festival visitors. Square dancing and mountain music also will be featured and a number of band concerts will be held.

The grand feature parade will be held Friday afternoon with more than 30 bands and other musical units in the mile-long procession. Among them will be the Air Force Drum and Bugle Corps with its featured baton twirler, Pfc. Maurice Wilcox, a four-time world's champion. Scores of beautiful floats have been built.

Friday morning, woodsmen from West Virginia's forest areas will again compete for the state championship in sawing and chopping. Fly and plug casters will via for state honors and the Knights of the South Branch Valley will again present a riding tournament, among other features.

Saturday will be devoted to forest tours and other events, including a coon drag race and foxhound bench show.

Sports-minded visitors will be entertained by two football games. Friday night, Elkins High School and Roosevelt-Wilson High of Clarksburg will compete and on Saturday afternoon Davis and Elkins College will meet Fairmont State College.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

Jean Simmons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2 (INS)—After three long years I finally have some definite news to tell you on Jan Lustig's book, "Young Bess"—and what news!

Jean Simmons is set for "Young Bess," with her ever lovin' husband, handsome Stewart Granger, as her leading man. That comes right from Dore Schary.

And very interesting is the news that Charles Laughton, whose "Private Life Of Henry VIII" won a 1933 Academy Award, will again play young Bess' pa, the much married Henry.

The story, telling the young life of Queen Elizabeth before she got in the habit of chopping off heads, and court intrigue, is a very sweet story. Miss Lustig and Arthur Wimperes have written the screenplay and the date for "Young Bess" to go is next June—England, of course.

The French glamor girl, Corinne Calvet, and her husband, John Bromfield, are back from eight weeks in her native Paree, London, and the French Riviera.

Says Corinne with that accent which always fascinates me, "American bathing suits are the thing on the Riviera. You don't see those revealing Bikinis anymore. I'm glad because I always thought they were ugly."

As soon as Corinne arrived home she checked with her boss, Hal Wall who told her she was to play ailor Beware" with Martin and Lewis. She sings a French song — and, well, she is a happy girl.

My younger readers won't remember, but their dads will, when petite redhaired Bessie McCoy shocked Broadwayites by appearing in a scene in the musical comedy, "The Three Twins," wearing pink chiffon pajamas. It was the first time a woman appeared in public so garbed and it won Bessie the name "Yama Yama Girl" because of the song she sang.

Now the King brothers have a script based on Bessie McCoy's life and, naturally, the hero of the film is Richard Harding Davis, distinguished war correspondent and novelist who married the gay ninety belle.

The King boys have bought the right to Bessie's life from her daughter, Hope Davis. When it goes before the cameras you'll see Marilyn Maxwell playing the Yama Yama Girl.

Some of the interior of the famous old Vanderbilt mansion in New York, which was built by Cornelius Vanderbilt II in 1880, has been sold to 20th Century-Fox for motion picture sets.

William Shiffrin, the Hollywood agent, has arranged for the sale of the fabulous Louis XVI carved oak paneling from the grand ballroom. These panels, which were carved in France, are very beautiful.

After her husband's death, when the house was torn down, Mrs. Vanderbilt could not bear to part with the panels and she paid warehouse storage fees on them for years before they passed on to other hands when she died.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Bing's anniversary gift to Dixie was nine beautiful custom made gowns. That's a gift any gal would appreciate.

Irene Dunne postcards from Stockholm that she's doing a broadcast there. She says she can't speak Swedish so she's going to sing "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes." Well, that ain't bad.

Fernando Lamas, who kisses Lana Turner 25 times in the movie "The Merry Widow" says 25 has always been his lucky number.

Such a nice dinner Margaret Ettinger gave honoring Isabella Taves and Dan Mich, editor of McCall's magazine. The James Masons, Joan Bennett and Walter Wanger were among those invited to meet the Miches.

Brod Crawford lost 18 pounds while he was on a personal appearance tour with Columbia's picture, "The Mob," but he says he's never felt better, which is probably true. Most of us weigh too much.

Paul Lazlo has completely redone the interior of the former home of Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck. It's now occupied by Jerry Ohrbach who bought it from them.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

We're Masters At Advertising, Children At Propaganda

Last week in the Alsop column, Stewart Alsop, writing from Paris, eiterated what we should all now now—but don't. The Russian ropaganda line—the Russians want othing but peace—has bitten into he minds of Europeans far more eeply than we believe possible. It's a great word, an over-powering slogan and a radiant hope the Russians have got hold of — peace. The fact that we Americans don't believe a word of it doesn't do much to countermand it in the minds of people overseas.

John Crosby

What are we doing to counteract it? The other night, the NBC television network with a great how of pride unveiled for the first ime anywhere in America a State Department official documentary film called "In Defense of Peace," ne of our own propaganda efforts, which has been shown to 40,000,000 eople in 71 countries. If this is the est we can do in the propaganda ne, we ought to save our money.

* * *

"In Defense of Peace" is little more than a collection of newsreel hots, and I'll bet there isn't a single one you haven't seen at least 15 imes. The Russians fighting in the uburbs of Berlin. The great motion picture portraits at Yalta—Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin—smiling, triumphant, and—in the light f subsequent events—a little futile. On and on it went—the German urrender in the schoolhouse, the lag being raised at Iwo, MacArthur on the Missouri ("Let us ray that peace be now restored to he world and that God will preerve it always."), the birth of the United Nations at San Francisco—reat scenes, all of them.

But also familiar ones and ones hat mean different things to different people all over the world. They were knit together by a narraion which was as factual as a Latin extbook and about as inspiring. You gathered that these things had ccurred—Is there anyone around who doesn't know that?—and that we had had some part in them. That's about all.

But it is in the aftermath of war, hat period when the Russians and he free world ceased to be friends nd became enemies, wherein our message to the rest of the world—if we have one—should lie. Well, the film showed innumerable shots of reat shipboard cranes lifting those oxes into the holds of ships (the Marshall Plan), of tractors happily un by French farmers, of piles of rain unloaded in Greece. We howed how our vastly wealthy ountry blew up its warplanes, beat its cannon into ploughshares and then beat the ploughshares back into cannon again. It was a demonstration of our native opulence and productive abundance sufficiently impressive to embitter a Balkan peasant against those rich Americans for decades to come.

* * *

This is propaganda? For whom—the Russians or us? When I was in Rome a man in the Italian Foreign Ministry told my traveling companion, Les Midgley, foreign editor of "Look," something I've never quite forgotten: "We Italians deeply appreciate everything America has done for us since the war. We know very well that without your tremendous Marshall Plan there would have been nothing here but anarchy. But sometimes we wonder why you don't come forth with something like Wilson's 14 points or the Atlantic Charter, something men can have faith in. And they didn't cost one cent."

In other words we are exporting everything except ideas, which require nothing more elaborate than a pencil and paper. (And a brain. And a conviction). The Russians have very effectively labeled us as warmongers all over the world. We retaliate by showing films showing 40,000,000 people overseas how many tanks, planes and guns we are producing. This is reassuring to us and possibly to the heads of foreign states and foreign armies. But hardly to the people who have clutched to their breasts the word that Russia has made its own—peace.

* * *

A basket of grain is a very effective bit of propaganda when someone hands it to you—but that's the task of the Marshall Plan, not of the Voice of America which produced this film. A picture of a basket of grain won't do anything for a hungry man except make him hungrier. Propaganda is the dissemination of ideas—preferably the dissemination of single overpowering idea. The Russians have embraced "peace" so effectively we'll never get it away from them (at least in the minds of most Europeans). But we've got a word of our own, "freedom" — "something," as the Italian remarked, "men can have faith in"—and the Russians will never get that one away from us.

If we could become in the minds of the outside world the exponents of freedom, if we could show them how free men live, if we could, in short, take over freedom as the Russians have taken over peace, we'd be in the propaganda business. As it is, we're just sending out stale newsreels.

IF YOU could only tell for sure just what a wily declarer is preparing to do, you would obviously be a more successful defender. Here's a little tip that may guide you in certain cases when the declarer deliberately gives up a trick to you. If he is known to be skillful at squeeze plays, perhaps he is trying to get the necessary timing for one. Look over the dummy and consider the bidding. That may enable you to spot what return would destroy communication between his two hands, which is vital to the execution of his squeeze.

Pass	4 NT	Pass	5 ♥
Pass	6 NT

South's strong 2-No Trumps on his second turn could not mislead North too much in view of the original pass. His later Blackwooding was justified by North's powerful jump in diamonds. He got to dangerous heights, however, and would have had plenty of trouble if West had opened the heart K, perhaps the best lead against a slam. But West handed him a gift trick with the club 5 lead, which the J won.

This enables South to count eleven consecutive tricks, if diamonds would break—six in diamonds, three in clubs and one in each major. That left him no likely play except a squeeze. To obtain timing for it, he had to give up a trick along the way, so decided to do it at once, with the spade 2 to the 10, which East won with the J. East now hoped South would finesse diamonds on the first round and give him the setter with the Q. To encourage that, he returned the spade 4 to the singleton A.

That was right up South's alley. He next scored the club A and K, then five diamonds. As he led the sixth diamond, dummy held the heart 3 and club 8 and South the spade 9 and heart A-J. West had been obliged to hold the club Q as protection against the dummy's 8, and the heart K-Q, and East retained the spade Q and heart 9-7. West was the one squeezed by the last diamond, on which South threw the spade 9 after East tossed a heart. If West had thrown his club Q, the 8 and the heart A would have given South the last two tricks. So he tossed the heart Q. The 3 to the A then dropped the K and made the J good.

Notice how impossible that play would have been if East had sensed it when in and had led a heart.

Adv. N-Sept. 13-20-27 — Oct. 4.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is for the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, to procure a Decree for a Divorce "A VINCULO MATRIMONII" from the Defendant, Estevan Anta, a Non-Resident of the State of Maryland, and to obtain custody of her infant Daughter, Elaine Anta.

The Bill states that on or about the 7th day of August, 1935, the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, was married to the Defendant, Estevan Anta, and lived with him in Canton, Ohio, where one child, namely, Elaine Anta, was born. That about September 15, 1942 her husband, Estevan Anta, deserted and abandoned her and she and her daughter were compelled to return to her parent's home in Luke, Maryland. That the separation and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for over eight (8) years, and is deliberate and final, and that the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. That her husband, the Defendant, is a Non-Resident of the State of Maryland, and is not a member of the Armed Forces, and that the Plaintiff, Anita Anta, has supported and maintained her infant child, Elaine Anta, for the past eight years.

It is thereupon this 2nd day of October, 1951, ordered by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Allegany County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 3rd day of November, 1951, give notice to the said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 19th day of November, next, to show cause, if any he has, why a Decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Does anyone "live alone and like it"?

Answer: Yes, though a great many people—especially women—who are forced to live alone are lonely and unhappy. These are largely women in whom the desire for a home and children is in conflict with fear or hostility toward men, leaving them emotionally deadlocked. It is possible, however, for a woman—or a man—to become "self-sufficient" enough so that there is no wish for close companionship with anyone else, and marriage would mean an unbearable loss of "privacy." The skepticism with which married women usually greet a single woman's statement that she is "an old maid from choice" may conceal unconscious envy of her "independence."

Are working mothers "under pressure"?

Answer: As a rule, Yes, writes Jennie Mohr in Smith College Studies of Social Work. Most mothers who work outside their homes do so because they need—or think they need—the money they earn. And the problems that grow out of having to manage their homes at long range create emotional pressure even though they do not wish to admit it. The resulting strain affects the mutual relationships of all members of the family, though there are mothers who work to escape just these relationships. Miss Mohr does not refer to childless mothers or the mothers of grown children, who may need more outlets for their energies than housekeeping provides.

Do mental patients "need an audience"?

Answer: Very much so, and not merely out of vanity or a desire to "show off." The sense of rejection by one's parents, and especially one's mother with which a large share of mental illness starts is continued in adult life in the patient's feeling that no one is interested in him or cares to hear what he has to say.

The first step toward recovery may, therefore, be to find a person who will really listen to him, and the doctor who "doesn't have time to listen" misses an important opportunity to help. No other form of psychotherapy can replace giving the patient a real chance to "talk himself out."

'51 Chest Drive Gets Underway With Dinner

Full Cooperation Is Asked Of Public

How individual and company solicitations can be improved in the 1951 Community Chest and United Defense (USO) Drive was the topic of a panel discussion at the "kick-off" dinner last night at Central YMCA.

Charles S. Catherman, Jr., chairman of publicity for the drive, was moderator.

In answering the best means of getting results and contributions in the drive, Edmund S. Burke, chairman for Advance Gifts, said enthusiasm on the part of workers was the prime factor.

He cited the need of additional funds due to increased cost of operating the various agencies, and also noted that the United Defense Drive is included this year. He told the workers to answer any and all questions of contributors, or if unable, to contact Chest headquarters. He added that nothing succeeds as does hard work.

John F. Chisholmn, member of the Budget Committee, told the audience of the splendid cooperation and work of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in furthering the drive. He commented on how to conduct a company campaign and cited the company responsibility in assuring success.

The 1951 budget was outlined by Chairman Arthur B. Gibson. In showing the need for the goal of $105,159.48, Gibson said the increase over last year was necessitated by increased demands of Chest organizations. He remarked on instances of aid given by the Red Feather agencies and told how the budget committee considered all angles of the 1951 requests.

Chest Is Qualified

Judge George Henderson, state chairman of the United Defense Fund drive, spoke on the need for funds to carry on the program for the soldier away from home.

He said the Community Chest Drive was well organized, qualified and capable of handling the added load this year.

He said it should be added incentive for contributors, since such a large number of county men and women are in the service.

County Chairman Harry G. Shupe of the United Defense Fund Drive said that men fighting in Korea are "pretty much forgotten men." He said the need must be stressed to keep the morale of those men up by contributing to the fund. He noted that thus far over 1,800 county residents have joined in the present conflict, with many leaving for induction. He told the assembly he anticipated a successful campaign which would "go over the top."

Care For Home Needs

William H. Buchholtz, city finance commissioner, joined in the panel discussion and explained why not all agencies of Cumberland are included in the present drive. He said some of the agencies are beneficiaries of endowments, churches, gifts and other contributions.

Others, he said, are under a national charter and can't participate in the drive. He asked Cumberlanders to "take care of the home needs," and stressed full cooperation of the citizens.

Earl C. Robertson, president of the Comunity Chest, stressed the need of funds for the United Defense Fund and asked the soldiers be given a "home away from home." In citing other phases of the Red Feather agencies and their work he reminded Cumberlanders it is "better to build boys than mend men."

He said American youth should have every opportunity in this land of plenty. The time and energy of each individual is necessary, Robertson added, in alleviating the plight of poverty-stricken people.

Ort Gives Views

Prior to closing the panel discussion Louis J. Ort, who spoke on "What the Community Chest-USO Means," said the people of this country should deem it a privilege to aid the underprivileged.

Such activity as the Community Chest Drive, he added, is not fostered by a government such as Russia's.

He urged Chest workers to put their heart into the coming campaign and to assure bringing relief to those who benefit by the contributions. He said spiritual as well as material results would be felt. Ort asked that every contributor give a little more to aid in the success of this year's goal.

Following the discussion a question and answer period was held by Moderator Catherman.

Invocation for last night's "kick-off" dinner was by Rev. William Randolph Keefe, Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church. A community sing was part of the program and the assembly, led by Harry B. Jamison, sang "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "I Want A Girl." Perry Rosenmarkle was at the piano.

The dinner, which was well attended, was served by the YMCA Auxiliary. The first report of the Chest Drive will be given Friday at a 12:15 luncheon in Central YMCA.

The Weather

Everyone will agree that yesterday was certainly a wonderful day although the "return of summer" was rather warm and uncomfortable. Winter wardrobes were forgotten momentarily as the mercury rose during the afternoon. The high as recorded yesterday by the official weather station at Constitution Park was 92 degrees, one of the warmest October days here since 1927. The low was 52 and at 8 p. m. the temperature was 71. Humidity at 6 o'clock was 49 per cent. Forecast for today is continued fair.

Ground Observation Corps Test Alerts Planned Soon

Allegany County representatives have been warned that all Ground Observation Corps posts and filter centers in 19 states of the northeast region of the country will be subjected to a series of test alerts in the near future.

Major General Frederic H. Smith, Jr., commanding general of Eastern Air Defense Force, Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N. Y., said the alerts are designed to "test the speed with which our volunteer Ground Observation Corps program can be mobilized in the event of a real emergency."

No one but EADF will know the dates and times for the alerts, the first of which will be held "very soon."

"No aircraft will be used in this first test," General Smith said. "It will be entirely a telephone check. We won't ask volunteer observers to man their posts. We merely want to determine adequacy of our communications system so that we will get an accurate idea of how long it would take to get our Ground Observation Corps program operational if the need should arise."

In announcing the tests, General Smith said "we have a real air defense problem. The threat, too, is real. The Soviets have the atomic bomb and the Soviets have the aircraft which could deliver an atomic attack on our vital targets on one-way missions or missions involving aerial refueling."

Charles G. Smith, 640 Hill Top Drive, is the county supervisor for Ground Observer Corps, according to county Civil Defense Director William G. Barger.

Smith is working closely with each of the six posts in the county to assure its readiness as these alerts are scheduled.

The posts and their operators are Amcelle, E. M. McKenzie, Cresaptown; Cumberland, Howard R. Zarger, 804 Bedford Street; Frostburg, William E. Toms, 133 West Main Street; Flintstone, Josiah E. Mullenax; Oldtown, Noah S. Carder, and Pekin, Leonard Johnson.

Flood Worker Hurt In Cave-in

A local flood control worker escaped possible death yesterday when the wall of a ditch he was digging collapsed and partially buried him.

Memorial Hospital attaches said 38-year-old Stanley Wilfong, 115 Harrison Street, was admitted to the hospital at 5:30 p. m. for X-rays and observation.

They said Wilfong complained of pains in the back, but that he was in "good" condition.

Wilfong's fellow workmen said he was digging at the bottom of an eight-foot-deep ditch at Bedford and North Mechanic streets when one wall gave way without warning and buried him chest-deep in clay.

Companions pulled him out and summoned an ambulance. They said it took about eight minutes to free him.

Wilfong is employed by Earl and Son, subcontractors with George and Lynch for the present phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project.

Summer Pays Return Visit

Summer returned to Cumberland yesterday as the thermometer climbed past the 90-degrees mark to establish a near record for October.

Robert G. Golden, official weather observer, said the temperature at Constitution Park reached 92 degrees yesterday. Low reading for the day was 52.

Golden said records indicate that yesterday was about as hot as an October day as has been noted in this city since 1927.

There have been 11 October days since 1912, Golden said, with temperatures of 90 degrees or higher.

All of the early readings were taken at City Hall, where temperatures are normally from two to three degrees below Constitution Park.

In 1927, the termometer reached 95 on October 1 and 93 the next day. In 1941, October 4 and 6 temperatures were 94, 92 and 94.

Golden Jubilee To Be Marked By Carpenters Local

Anniversary, Building Committees Named

Carpenters Local 1024 (AFL) this week named a standing committee to plan for the 50th anniversary of the local next spring.

A second committee was named by the local to make plans for building or buying a home for the union.

F. Patrick Allender, business agent, was named chairman of the Golden Jubilee Committee. Other members are J. E. Mullenax, D. R. Scharf, J. J. Eirich, Lewis Twigg and Ralph Porter.

Event Set March 10

The celebration has been tentatively scheduled for Monday, March 10, 1952, the day on which the local was formed in this city half a century ago.

Allender said additional members will be added to the committee as plans for the celebration progress.

Mullenax was named chairman of the Building Committee. He will be assisted by Louis Firlie, P. R. Wright, Eirich and Allender.

The committee was instructed to investigate the possibilities for either building a new structure or purchasing a building which could be remodeled for a storeroom and headquarters.

May Select Site

The group will be in charge of picking a tentative site and securing plans if construction of a new building is recommended.

For a number of years, Local 1024 has been occupying part of the Allegany Trades Hall on Frederick Street as its headquarters.

Allender, who is first vice president of the Maryland State Carpenters Council, was elected a member of the Executive Board of the West Virginia State Council in St. Albans last week.

The Cumberland local has jurisdiction over Allegany and Garrett Counties in Maryland and in eight Eastern Panhandle counties in West Virginia.

Grand Jury Still Busy In Second Day

Hears Testimony Of 25 Witnesses

Yesterday, in the second day of the October term of the Allegany County Circuit Court, the grand jury continued with a busy day.

More than 25 witnesses were questioned yesterday with six persons being holdovers from Monday's session. The grand jury reviewed about 12 cases before recessing until 9:15 a. m. this morning.

About 4 p. m. yesterday, about five or six witnesses had not yet testified and two cases were yet to be heard. It was close to 5 p. m. before the jury recessed.

Normally, the grand jury finishes all of its activities about 3 p. m. and most of the time not more than 20 witnesses are questioned in a single day.

About 20 more witnesses are scheduled to be questioned today. Sheriff Edward R. Muir said the number summoned to appear before the grand jury this week is now up to 96. He stated that more are expected later.

Julian G. Patrick, chief chemist of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at Luke, is foreman of the grand jury.

On Monday, October 15, at 9:15 a. m., the petit jurors will report for criminal trials.

Sgt. Biehn Will End Army Service Here This Fall

Master Sgt. Clarence Biehn, veteran Cumberland Army and Air Force recruiter, applied for his retirement in Martinsburg, W. Va. Monday.

He said he passed his retirement physicals with flying colors.

The event climaxed 30 years, three months and seven days of service in the United States Army.

Sgt. Biehn's retirement date, to be set by the Adjutant General's Office, is expected to be effective between November and December.

The genial recruiter has spent nearly 25 years of his Army career in this city.

Drought Causes Drop In Flow Of Potomac Here

Low Level Seen During October

The long dry spell in this area caused the flow of the Potomac River here to drop to its lowest point since 1946, officials of the Geological Survey reported yesterday.

Flow of the stream on Sunday was 88 cubic feet a second, the lowest flow on record since September, 1946.

The lowest mark on record was set in 1938, when the flow dropped to 38 cubic feet a second.

In a review of the outlook of meteorological and runoff conditions of the North Branch of the Potomac at and above Cumberland, the Geological Survey said:

September Stream Flow

The mean daily flow of the North Branch Potomac River at Cumberland during September was 130 cubic feet per second, 35 per cent of normal flow.

The daily flow varied from 88 cubic feet per second on September 30 to 321 cubic feet per second on September 8. The flow at the end of the month was 88 cubic feet per second.

Operation of the Savage River Dam caused an average increase of 5 cubic feet per second, or 4 per cent of the flow in the North Branch of the Potomac at Cumberland.

The total precipitation at Cumberland as reported by the Weather Bureau, was 1.22 inches, or about 1.47 inches below normal. The average daily temperatures was about 67.08 degrees, which was about 1.08 degrees above normal.

Outlook For October

Under normal conditions of rainfall the average runoff at North Branch Potomac River at Cumberland is expected to be about 39 per cent of normal, or 160 cubic feet per second this month.

Under adverse conditions of little or no rainfall, the flow is expected to be about 12 per cent of normal, or 51 cubic feet per second.

UCT Plans 50th Anniversary

The advance celebration of the 50th anniversary of the United Commercial Travelers is scheduled at a meeting of the group Saturday, according to Martin L. Johnson, Sr., senior counselor.

Johnson said yesterday members at Saturday's meeting will complete arrangements for the formal celebration, scheduled for the first Saturday in December.

A large attendance is expected for the meeting Saturday, Johnson said. Also at the meeting, candidates for membership in the United Commercial Travelers will be initiated. After the meeting refreshments will be served.

A speaker is scheduled to be present at the next meeting of the group on the first Saturday of November, November 3. He is L. E. Flowers, Charleston, W. Va., grand counselor. The group also plans to have one member of the Supreme Council from Columbus, Ohio, attend this meeting.

Attending this Saturday's meeting will be H. C. Elder, grand page of the Grand Council. The Grand Council is comprised of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky and the District of Columbia.

Mrs. Green has just returned from a month's visit in Paris where she attended the opening of the fall and winter fashions. She is now touring the country introducing new Paris creations. The new styles were introduced at the show here last night and were exhibited worn by Rosenbaum's girl models. Some of the dresses shown at the show cost about $600 in Paris but may be bought by American women for about $25.

Male Attends Fashion Show; Finds Skirt Lengths Same

By LARRY GRECO
News Staff Writer

Attending a fashion for the first time is quite an experience—especially if you are a male.

While at yesterday's show, presented at Rosenbaum Brothers' Department Store, I was amazed at the preparation that goes into an event of this kind.

Conducting the fashion show was Mrs. Betty Green, fashion co-ordinator for Independent Retailers' Syndicate, New York, the buying office that services Rosenbaum.

Mrs. Green, a petite and attractive lady who has just returned from a month's visit in Paris, busily went about directing the models and attendants.

The fashion show was constructed around a plot presenting a newspaper editor as the hero. During the events, including the introduction of the latest creations from Paris, the editor is convinced that fashions make news.

Wondering how all this fitted into the pattern for fashioning women's wear, I asked Mrs. Green about some of the trends in the women's world, such as the old and the new look, the plunging neckline and the famous Bikini bathing suit.

She underlined five current trends in ladies' wear. First, she said, is the wider skirts trend with stiffened crinoline petticoats.

Another trend is the high waistline effect in the empire manner, Mrs. Green explained. She went on with another fashion which is taking hold in the United States—big sleeves with fullness from the shoulder to the elbow.

In colors, the trend seems to be all shades of blue, especially peacock.

Wondering if we males were to be given another emotional shock like the "New Look," that hid the dimpled knee, I asked about skirt lengths and whether they were to go up or down.

"Skirt lengths will remain the

County Schools Plan Student Council Group

Meeting At Beall Scheduled Nov. 6

Students of six high schools met yesterday at Fort Hill High School to map plans for a new county-wide organization of student councils.

Purpose of the group will be to provide better integration of student council activities and to promote inter-school co-operation.

Formation of the new organization was begun at the close of the 1950-51 school term.

Schools To Name Officers

Delegates to yesterday's meeting decided to let each of four represented schools elect county officers.

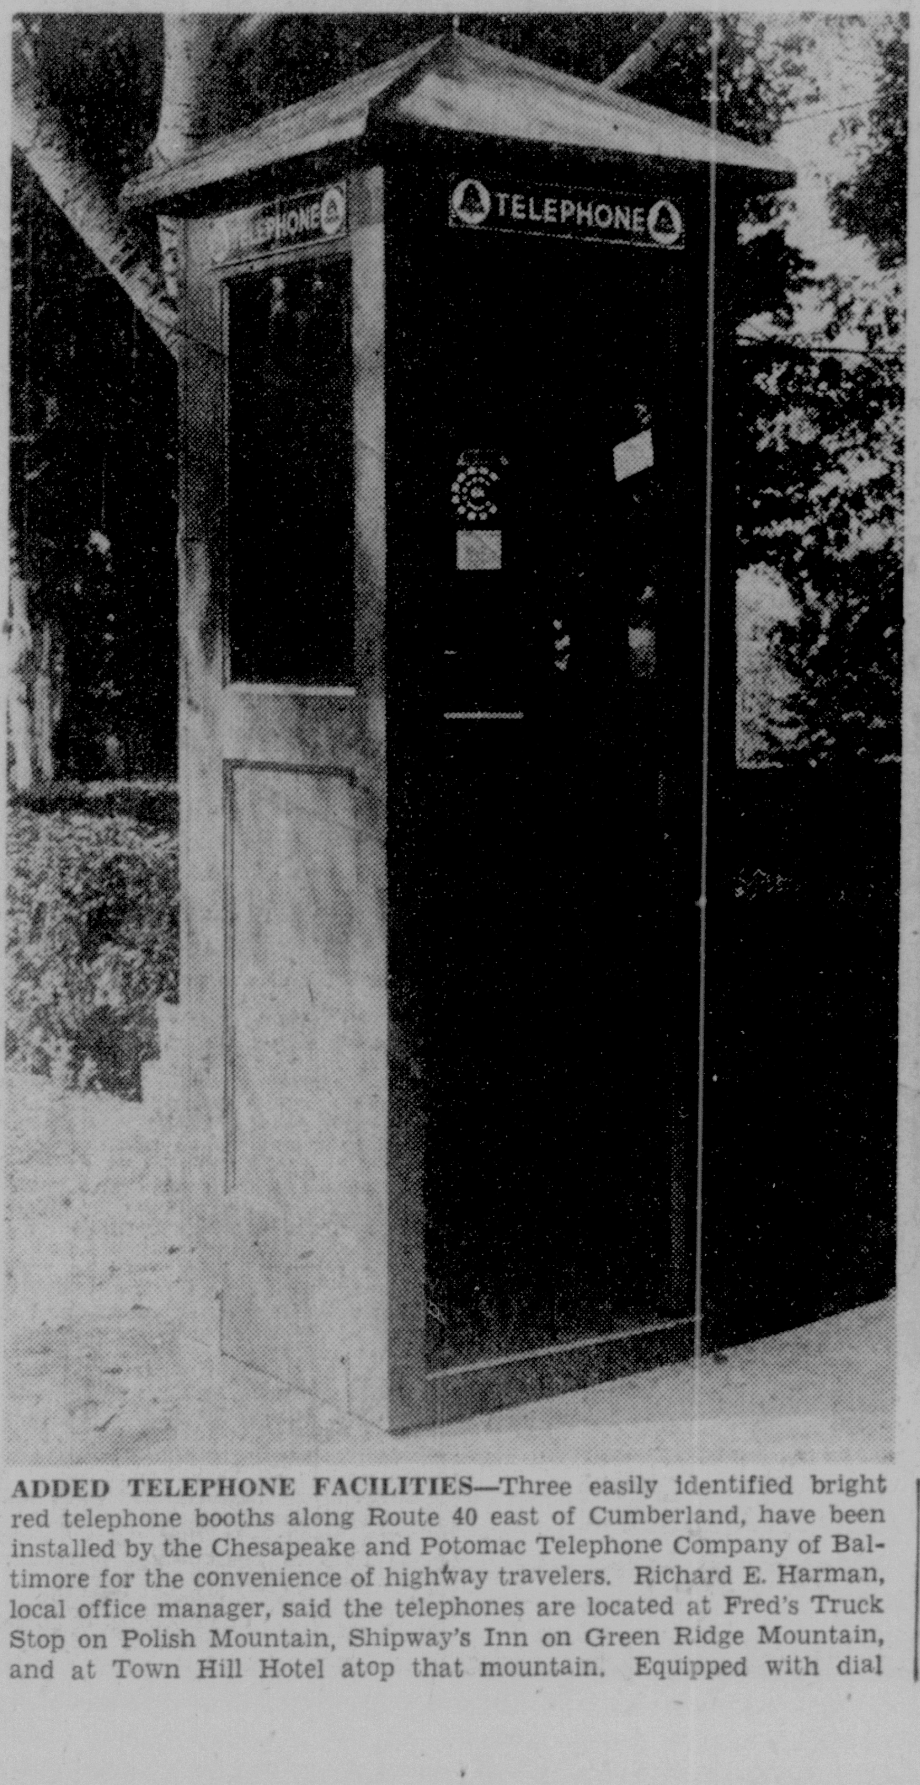
Beall High School, Frostburg, will elect the president of the federation from its student body. Barton High will elect the vice president, Bruce High of Westernport, the corresponding secretary, and Fort Hill, the recording secretary.

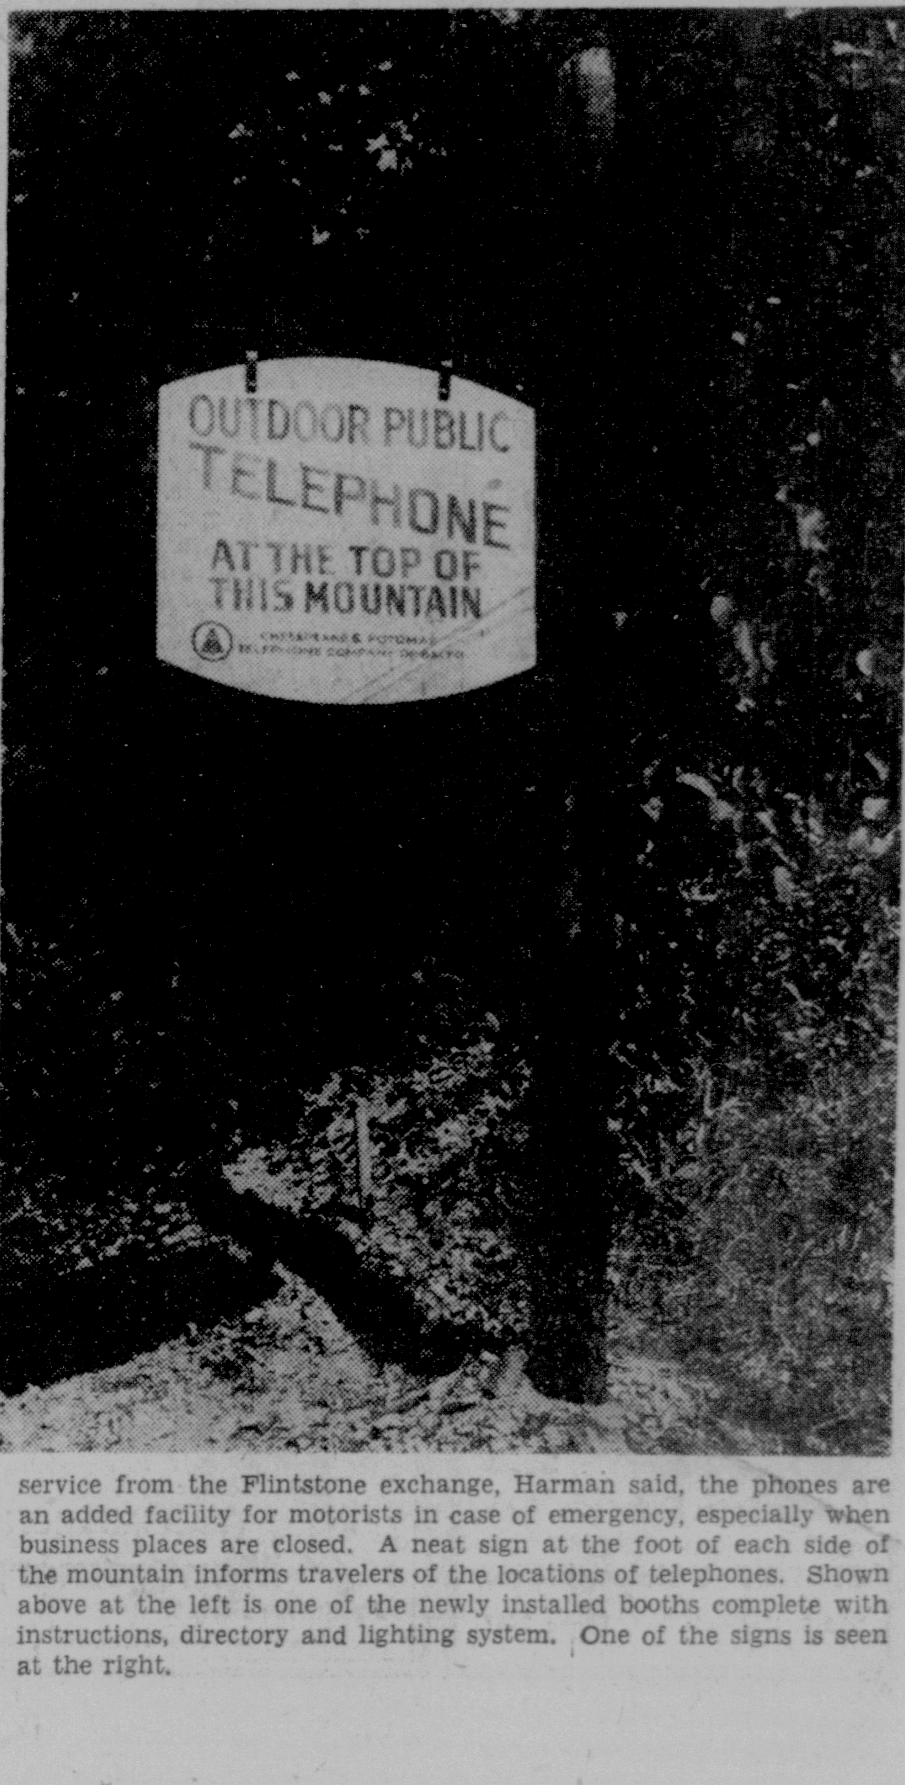
Miss Nancy Hamilton, public relations officer for the Fort Hill Student Council, said the county group will send minutes of its meetings to all county high schools with invitations to join the federation.

To Discuss Constitution

At its next meeting, November 6, at 1:20 p. m. at Beall High School, the county group wil discuss proposals for a constitution to be presented by the new officers.

The group decided yesterday to take action to curb Halloween vandalism. Suggestions included parties, parades and other extra-curricular school activities.





ADDED TELEPHONE FACILITIES—Three easily identified bright red telephone booths along Route 40 east of Cumberland, have been installed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore for the convenience of highway travelers. Richard E. Harman, local office manager, said the telephones are located at Fred's Truck Stop on Polish Mountain, Shipway's Inn on Green Ridge Mountain, and at Town Hill Hotel atop that mountain. Equipped with dial service from the Flintstone exchange, Harman said, the phones are an added facility for motorists in case of emergency, especially when business places are closed. A neat sign at the foot of each side of the mountain informs travelers of the locations of telephones. Shown above at the left is one of the newly installed booths complete with instructions, directory and lighting system. One of the signs is seen at the right.

Forty And Eight Begins Plans For Mardi Gras

Colorful Mummers Parade Is Slated

Plans for the 1951 Halloween celebration were formulated last night by Cumberland Voiture 164, Forty and Eight.

The colorful mummers parade slated as the climax of the event is expected to be a mile and a half long, officials said.

Although the usual prizes will be offered for costumed parties and individuals in the line of march, the committee has voted to eliminate the customary prizes for bands and floats.

No invitations will be sent out to organizations, according to Thomas F. Conlon, acting chairman for the Mardi Gras event.

All units wishing to take part in the parade will be welcomed, Conlon said, and should mail notification cards to Box 1316, Cumberland.

Top emphasis in the parade will be placed on Halloween costumed entrants, the 40 & 8 said.

The parade will form October 31 at 7 p. m. at the State Armory and march off at 8 p. m.

The route of march will be up Union Street to George Street, to Baltimore Street, to Centre Street, to Market Street, to Mechanic Street, to Baltimore to George Street, where the parade will disband.

Conlon said committees for the Halloween celebration will be named in the near future.

NLRB Orders Bargaining Vote At Optical Firm

Clarifies Status Of White-Haines Workers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered a collective bargaining election to determine if the AFL Pittsburgh Optical Workers Union shall represent production employes at the Cumberland, Md., plant of the White-Haines Optical Company.

As part of the order, the Board ruled two employes whose status was questioned are production workers and a third is not.

No date for the election was set, but it must be prior to October 28.

When the union petitioned for the election it asked the NLRB to declare that Carl Van Ausdale, Betty Kiser and Marion McCoy are production workers and should be included in the bargaining unit. The company protested, declaring they were part of the office clerical force.

The NLRB examiner found Van Ausdale selects component parts of eye glasses and routes them to the finishing shop for processing. The examiner ruled he is a production employe because he spends most of his time in the finishing shop with the production employes and has no connection with the office force.

Betty Kiser was put in the production category when the examiner found she spends most of her time washing and cleaning glasses and packing them for mailing.

Marion McCoy, the examiner found, is engaged principally in office and clerical functions. Besides, the examiner said, she is the wife of the branch manager and because of her close relationship with management should not be included in the bargaining unit.

Appeals Court Airs Local Case

The Court of Appeals yesterday began hearing the appeal of the Consolidation Coal Company from a Circuit Court decision which awarded a Frostburg miner a pension.

In his original claim, the late William J. Dugan, then 72, said he had been exposed to silica dust during 49 years of employment with Consolidation.

He applied for compensation when he was found to be suffering from silicosis in 1943.

The company's attorneys say the claim should be disallowed because Dugan did not notify his employer of his disease within the time specified by law.

The State Industrial Accident Commission, however, ordered the coal company to pay Dugan a weekly $20 pension. The company appealed in Circuit Court here, but the court backed up the Accident Commission's order.

Dugan had died since the original ruling, and the company in its appeal named his widow, Mrs. Ida May Dugan, in his place.
